

SARAPUL CAPTURED BY ADVANCING REDS

Important Town Wrested From Admiral Kolchak's Forces by Russian Radicals

GERMANS AID BOLSHEVIKI

By the Associated Press
London, June 6.—The Bolsheviki have recaptured Sarapul, on the Kama river, southwest of Perm, which is one of the important towns taken by Admiral Kolchak's forces in their spring advance, a Bolsheviki wireless message claims. The dispatch also asserts that the Bolsheviki are continuing to advance in this region.

Stockholm, June 6.—(By A. P.)—German forces on the Estonian front are said to be aiding the Bolsheviki in an official statement issued at Estonian headquarters. The statement reads:

"There was violent fighting on the Gatchina front throughout Tuesday, and the battle was renewed Wednesday. On the southern front the German landwehr, instead of pushing the enemy back from Riga, is trying by all means to advance to our line."

The movements of three cavalry detachments are specified in connection with the German action in the report.

Omsk, June 6.—(By A. P.)—The Siberian Zenvostovs are, with the exception of two or three in the far-eastern section of the country, in harmony with the Omsk government.

Summarizing the relief work undertaken by the government, M. Popolov, minister of the interior, says that 1,000,000 rubles have been sent to Ufa, 6,000,000 each of Perm and Ekaterinburg and 5,000,000 to Irkutsk. A fund of 6,000,000 rubles will be placed at the disposal of the Zenvostovs to fight epidemics, and it is further planned to spend 20,000,000 more on general relief when the country is freed from the Bolsheviki.

Recruiting for the army is progressing well. The minister of war reports that at the town of Atchinsk, near Perm, which was recently taken from the Bolsheviki, 2870 men out of 3100 reported for duty. In the Krasnoyarsk district, where there are several Bolsheviki centers, 93 per cent of the men eligible for the service have responded, he says.

If the Omsk government succeeds in clearing Russia of the Bolsheviki this year it will be barely able to meet the demands for grain to supply the people, according to M. Petrov, minister of agriculture. It is proposed to use the surplus of wheat in Siberia to meet the deficit in European Russia.

BERLIN ENVOYS HAVE "TROPICAL MADNESS"

Feel Like Geese in Cage Before Being Slaughtered, Says German

Berlin, May 23.—(Correspondence of Associated Press.)—Fearful nervousness and depression which manifest themselves in toothache, rheumatism, various other ailments and in sleeplessness are afflicting the German delegates at Versailles, according to the correspondent of the Berlin Gazette, and which he whimsically terms "tropical madness." That is an ailment known to French foreign legionaries as "cafard."

The first to be affected was a surgeon, who fell ill with a raging toothache and intense nervousness. Then a councillor attached to the delegation caught the strange malady, and insisted on having a gramophone play during conferences he attended. He wanted American records principally.

Many members of the delegation began to suffer pains in the back and joints; others from colic and the majority from headaches and sleeplessness.

"The food," the correspondent says, "is getting on every one's nerves. They all feel like geese in a cage before being slaughtered. It is the wire enclosure that makes every one wild."

BULGARIA "MAY EAT ITS CAKE AND HAVE IT TOO"

Heinz's Sale of $3,000,000 Worth of American Foodstuffs to Balkan Kingdom in Reality a Trade of Commodities

By Mail to the Evening Public Leader
Constantinople, April 25.—Howard Heinz, former federal food administrator for Pennsylvania and now director of the American Food Mission to Southeastern Europe, returned yesterday from a visit to Bulgaria. While in Sofia he negotiated for the sale to Bulgaria of more than $3,000,000 worth of American foodstuffs receiving in return gold to the value of $3,000,000. In an interview at the American embassy Mr. Heinz said:

"Since the signing of the armistice, Bulgaria, like Germany has been eagerly clamoring for food from abroad as a means of preventing uprisings and general disorder among her people, and also like Germany, has been shut off as an enemy nation from all participation in the allied world relief.

"The needs of Bulgaria were relatively less than those of Germany because its population is chiefly engaged in agriculture rather than industrial pursuits, and accordingly, the purchase of food from outside sources constitutes a less formidable problem. It has been a problem, nevertheless, with a sadly depreciated currency as the country's chief financial resource, a very inadequate reserve of gold in the national treasury and no exports during the last four years through which to establish a basis of foreign credit.

"To relieve these straits, America was the only market to which Bulgaria could come for her food purchases, but with money exchange subject to wide fluctuation even among the most stable of European currencies, the only purchasing medium that is regarded safe in America is the good American dollar or its equivalent in gold.

Bulgaria's Dilemma
"Thus, Bulgaria has been beset with many difficulties. On the one hand, a starving and restless people, on the other, no credit abroad and a currency at home that would lose much of its already low purchasing power if the little gold reserve behind it was still further depleted. For many weeks she has struggled between the two horns of her dilemma making futile efforts to accomplish some kind of a deal that might save her from a threatened revolution and at the same time save her small hoard of hard cash. Finally matters appeared to have reached a point of near desperation, whereupon it seemed advisable to discontinue further negotiations with the Bulgarian Government by correspondence and undertake the securing of a final settlement one way or the other by personal visit.

"Having arrived at this conclusion I left Constantinople for Sofia, proceeding through European Turkey to Adrianople. On my way through this northern section of Turkey I observed much land under cultivation, mostly in small patches, but apparently productive, and many sheep scattered over the countryside, but on the second day in Bulgaria I was immediately impressed by a marked superiority of conditions in the fertile valleys of that country with its peasantry of sturdy toilers and its many droves of cattle and hogs as well as sheep. Given fair conditions it is safe to say that neither Turkey nor Bulgaria will be in a starving condition after the present season.

Umbrella Priced at $30
"Arriving at Sofia at the close of the second day I made a brief evening tour of inspection, during which I noticed that the people seemed active and in good spirits and the cafes well filled, but chiefly by men only. The shops, however, were virtually empty of goods of all kinds, and prices, so far as my inquiry went, were extremely high. For example I was asked to pay for a cheap umbrella to protect me from the rain that was falling, the equivalent of thirty American dollars, and decided it was cheaper to take a slight wetting.

"The following morning I started out on the object of my visit, beginning first with an audience with King Boris at the palace to be followed by interviews with Prime Minister and Minister of War Liancheff, the latter being the person with whom my negotiations were actually carried on.

Sale of Food Quickly Effected
"Necessity knows no law, especially when that necessity arises from hunger, and our negotiations, once well under way, proceeded rapidly to the conclusion of an agreement by which we were to receive in French and English gold coin the equivalent of three million dollars, which gold has since been paid over.

"We are not taking this gold away from the Bulgarians entirely or as a payment for a given quantity of American flour, but are holding it as a pledge against ultimate payment for the flour in dollars in New York, upon receipt of which payment their gold will go back to their treasury. In the meantime to facilitate this payment of dollars in New York we are permitting them to export to America on our returning flour ships their valuable accumulation of rose oil, of which Bulgaria is the chief producing country, medicinal opium, etc., so it seems likely that if all goes well, the Bulgarians may in a sense, "eat their cake and have it too."

Boris a Democratic Ruler
"I found King Boris an earnest young man of about twenty-five, who impressed me as being broad, democratic and having a sincere desire for the welfare of his people. He discussed with entire frankness the political and economic situation of his country, and I

ADVERTISMENT
Seen in Chestnut St. Shops
The firm of Jacob Reed's Sons, whose shop at 1424-26 Chestnut street appears above, has long been identified with the commercial activities of Philadelphia. Founded in 1824 by Jacob Reed at 246 Market street, the sons later built up a successful General Clothing business at 916-22 Chestnut street. Then, in 1897, foreseeing the westward trend of the shopping district, they leased 1412 Chestnut street, remaining there eight years, until the erection of their present handsome edifice. The aim of the house has always been to raise the standard of merchandise, to have the latest fashions, to give the best qualities, service and satisfaction to patrons, and the high esteem in which they are held is evidence of their success.

CUSTOM decrees that Commencement Day, a most important event in the life of the sweet girl graduate or the stalwart youth, be fittingly commemorated by remembrance articles at Bailey, Banks & Biddle Company there are hosts of appropriate articles, you will agree that watches make the most "timely" gifts. Wrist watches for men, which have withstood the baptism of fire "over there" and of criticism over here, are great favorites, with their famous Patek Philippe movements and khaki or leather straps. Like those for women, they come round, barrel, hexagon or octagon, but there the similarity ends, for Milady finishes hers off more elegantly, some delicately enameled, others studded with diamonds, the smallest being not much larger than a glistening dewdrop.

THINGS, as a rule, don't just happen; there is a law of cause and effect which operates constantly. If a firm like Jacob Reed's Sons, 1424-26 Chestnut street, is selling to more people than ever (as they are), and securing a larger volume of business than ever (as they also are), there must be a tangible reason for their success, and it is not far to seek. Long ago they adopted the "Quality" basis as the standard of their garments, and for years have been urging the buying of value when purchasing clothing, instead of only buying price. Now they are reaping their reward, for men realize that "bargain" clothes are the most expensive in the long run, and that true economy consists in securing clothes that will give most satisfaction in service and appearance.

IF THERE is one being more than another in the world for whom things must be the dearest it is for the baby. The greatest care and interest are taken in the choice of pieces of furniture for its personal use, but often parents experience much difficulty in carrying out their individual ideas in the matter of finish, as it is one thing to buy a Bassinet, or Baby Basket, and another to have it properly trimmed to order. In the Baby Department of the H. D. Dougherty Company, 1632 Chestnut street, they make a specialty of this work and turn out exquisite creations. Cribs, too, with or without all accessories, are there; also wicker Dressers, Wardrobes, Chairs, Bath Tubs, Kiddie Koops, Carioles, Scales and sundry other baby necessities, in the latest models.

DE LUXE Grass Rugs! Isn't that a good name for cool floor coverings for summer? Perhaps it is one of the reasons for their tremendous popularity at Fritz & La Rue's, 1124 Chestnut street, the other undoubtedly being the good taste exercised by this firm in the selection of their stock, something not always found elsewhere. These particular De Luxe Rugs, suitable for any part of the house, have just enough color to help brighten up the room, a colored warp running through the ground, with a harmonizing conventional border of the same or contrasting shades. The grays have a touch of old rose; the Chinese blues are blended with brown; the mulberries and old blues mostly get their effects by different tones of the same colors, and all come in many sizes.

"RARE things please us, so they get a greater relish for the earliest fruits of the season." How well the man who wrote that knew human nature can be judged by the constant demand at Henry R. Hallowell & Son's, Broad below Chestnut street, for the latest fruits, and the luscious Cantaloupes are being offered. Slightly pink in color and of a wonderful flavor, they come from the Imperial Valley, California, where the climate is ideally adapted to cantaloupe growing, the dry, sandy soil and warm nights combining to make them extra delicious. California Cherries, too, beautiful, glossy and tempting, are growing bigger and better and bigger and bigger, and will soon reach their maximum size. Georgia Peaches are doing the same, and are improving with each shipment.

away from the interview with a feeling that once the present crisis is passed and peace settled, the future of Bulgaria will be fuller of promises under the new regime than it ever could have been with a continuance of the throne of his father, the last incumbent, now in exile in Germany.

"The men of Bulgaria are a substantial-looking lot, and hard workers, and, like the Bulgarian women, are lovers of bright colors in dress, which makes any native group picturesque in the extreme. The people are essentially democratic in spirit, and while Bulgaria has been a warlike nation, it is now clearly a nation tired of war and ready to welcome a permanent guaranteed peace and a return to industry even though peace may bring with it some territorial losses and other humiliations."

Berlin, June 6.—(By A. P.)—Herr Levine, editor of the Red Flag, of Munich, and one of the leaders in the Communist uprising in Bavaria, was executed at midnight Wednesday, according to the Abendzeitung, of Augsburg.

1000 VETERANS JOIN WINNIPEG POLICEMEN

Minor Clashes Increase After Constables Are Sworn In. Fourth Week of Strike

NEWSPAPERS WIN FREEDOM

By the Associated Press
Winnipeg, June 6.—Strengthening of Winnipeg's police force by 1000 war veterans as special constables caused an increase during the night in minor disturbances and personal encounters, but no unusual demonstrations occurred. Conciliation efforts were virtually at a standstill as the general strike today entered its fourth week.

Members of the veterans' associations here who are opposed to the general strike have been gathering strength in their counter-demonstrations, and hundreds of them volunteered to give Mayor Charles E. Gray assistance in maintaining order.

The stand taken by newspapers at Vancouver in their refusal to permit censorship of strike news by the typographical union won for the newspapers today when the union, receded from its action.

Two days ago the union rejected the call to join the sympathetic strike and the men remained at work, but informed the publishers they would not set up any news on the strike which they deemed unfair. Any newspaper refusing to abide by the decision was to be left without a staff of compositors.
