Yachtsmen and Motorists Are Promising Surprises for Festival of Fun

NEW AMUSEMENTS OPENED

Henry H. Ottens Will Build Fishing Pier in North Section of Resort

Wildwood, N. J., June 11. On Memorial Day people literally swarmed here and though a rush was anticipated such a great throng of humanity was unexpected. However, all were amply provided for and apparently enjoyed themselves. On Saturday and Sunday following crowds on the boardwalk, surf and strand resembled those of a day in midsummer.

As the exercises were held on the beach near Maple avenue, hundreds lined the boardwalk while an enormous crowd circled to the scene of the celebration, watching the crowning of the May queen, Elizabeth Myers, a tiny tot, the beautiful daughter of Principal Myers, of the Wildwood High school, the Maypole dance, the dancing, the launching of the floral boat and the firing of the salute.

Following the beach ceremony the veterans of the three wars, escorted by the Wildwood City Band, marched to the Casino auditorium, where the exercises of the day were concluded. Palmer M. Weyer, local attorney and president of the Board of Trade, presided. He opened the exercises by requesting all to sing America. Next followed a prayer by the Rev. A. Q. Bailey, then Colonel Ryan, of Post 64, G. A. R., read an address, "The Last of the G. A. R."

This autobiographical, historical and prophetic document was afterward lauded by Gifford Pinchot. Way then presented Senator W. H. Bright, of this city, and he gracefully, pleasingly and reverentially introduced the Rev. Dr. Gifford Pinchot. The speaker began his address with a glowing tribute to Colonel Ryan and the other veterans present and said in part:

"The great fact about the war is that it has reduced privileges and enlarged human rights. It may or it may not have made the world safer for democracy. But this one thing it has done: It has lifted human welfare to a higher level in the minds of men and has reduced property and privileges to lower levels than they ever occupied before."

What the war has accomplished in this respect the human race must never lose. The ceremonies closed with a prayer by the Rev. Dr. Fisher. J. B. Wright, of the Reading Hotel, entertained the Wildwood City Band while the Civil War veterans were given a dinner at the Raymond Hotel.

Crowds Besiege Rhoads Amusement Although the ocean pier, theatres, dancings and shops were well patronized hundreds swarmed around Rhoads' amusements. This wonderful new $200,000 amusement center was formally opened on Memorial Day. The latest addition to Wildwood's numerous attractions was besieged with patronage. It occupies 80,000 square feet of beach front in the Blaker section, between the ocean and the ocean and included a Jack Rabbit, so named because of the double hops in the straightaway. The many patrons hilariously expressed appreciation of the thrilling sensations enjoyed while in it—many showed their appreciation by taking another trip of almost a mile of thrills. The cars are large and easy to ride in, having a new style "under friction grip," insuring comfort and safety. The framework of this amusement is sixty-six feet high and required in its construction half a million feet of lumber, 1236 pilings and 28,000 nuts and bolts.

The Olde Mill was another point of attraction. It is the most elaborately constructed one in the country. The channel, in which the gondolas glide, is 1500 feet long, with three large scene sheds showing a nymph and mermaid scene and a Japanese and Egyptian scene on the Nile. Every four minutes 15,000 gallons of water pass over the wheel. The scenes cover 1500 yards of canvas and were painted by the best scenic artists in America. The setting surrounding the Olde Mill represents an ancient English village.

The whip, gaily illuminated with 400 lights and made still more attractive by a fine orchestral organ, was heavily patronized and thoroughly enjoyed by the many onlookers. It occupies the space at the corner, where the walk turns southward opposite Blaker & Hunt's Theatre on the site where for years the Japanese auction store stood. The sailors and motorists took delight in proving their marksmanship at the shooting gallery. Many of these rifle experts picked off an entire string of ducks as they glided through the tank of water. The merry-go-rounds on the ocean end of the block, elaborately and brilliantly illuminated with 1600 lights, were a haven of joy for the kiddies. The fifty-four animals, thirty-six of which

This great center of attraction, with its elaborate Roman arch gateway and its 5000 electric lights, allures one to it. There is no wonder it was the center of enjoyment for pleasure seekers over the holidays and it is bound to be the entire season.

Clubs Planning Sports Local yachtsmen and fishermen are planning a festival of sport for the summer visitors. The nature of these treats are for the present withheld, because surprises are best enjoyed when divulged immediately preceding their occurrence.

The Wildwood Yacht and Automobile Club, among the leaders for planning to give a real enjoyable sport of the surprise variety, has a number of things under way that will assure a harvest of fun to its membership and friends. Recently it held an election of officers in the Casino Pier, with the following result: Thomas Garmon, Jr., of Philadelphia, assistant cashier of the Federal Reserve bank, was elected commodore; William Griffith, vice commodore; William S. Darnell, an attorney of Camden, rear commodore; Postmaster George N. Smith, of Wildwood, treasurer. The following members were elected trustees for three years: George N. Smith, Thomas Garmon, Jr., and C. L. Turner. Trustees for two years, M. D. Schweizer, ex-Senator P. P. Baker, Mayor of the Crest, and William Griffith. Trustees for one year, J. Pitban Tatem, solicitor, of North Wildwood; William S. Darnell and Ralph Whitley.

The Wildwood Yacht Club will also elect its new officers for the coming year. Henry H. Ottens, one of its most active members, declares there will be something doing at this club all summer. The snapper dinner and card parties given here are popular and always well attended. Among the fishermen great times are looked for at the Crest Pier; the membership is increasing because the fishing is good at this pier, and because there are always a dozen or a score of expert fishermen on the job to advise the novice in the sport.

For a long time it has been rumored that Henry H. Ottens will build a fishing pier in the North Wildwood section; this rumor will soon be a reality.
