FOES TERM LEAGUE WORLD VOTING TRUST

Covenant Has No Place in Treaty of Peace, Organized Opponents Declare

ASK THOROUGH REVISION

Washington, June 16.—Immediately following the publication in the United States of the text of the proposed peace treaty containing the league of nations covenant, the League for the Preservation of American Independence, which is opposing the covenant, announced its new declaration of principles.

ASK THOROUGH REVISION

The new declaration of principles follows in part: "We insist that all attempts to interweave the league of nations covenant with the treaty of peace should be resisted; that the early return of our boys should be made possible by prompt action upon the treaty; and that the proposed covenant of the league of nations, as a separate proposition, should be considered by the Senate with due deliberation by Senate floor."

ASK THOROUGH REVISION

"The people of the United States must do some independent thinking on this subject or forfeit their right to call this government a democracy. 'I know it took a mistake,' she said, and then became unconscious. With tears glistening in his eyes, the boy explained the shooting today as he sat snuggled up in a corner of a cell at the Thirty-second street and Woodland avenue police station.

ASK THOROUGH REVISION

"I was sure that my mother, father and sister were all in bed. I didn't want to awaken any of them because I was afraid they would be hurt. I quietly got the rifle and walked to the head of the stairs on the second floor. 'Then I waited a few moments. The noise got louder and then I saw some one come out of the parlor door. It was just sort of a shadow in the dark. That's a burglar I thought and I fired into the darkness. Then I heard my sister's scream. 'I dropped the rifle and ran to her. I did not know what to do. Then my father and mother awoke and they came running down. 'Then the ambulance came. Just after it left the police came to the house and they took me here. I hope poor Marie is better. She knows I didn't mean it.'"

ASK THOROUGH REVISION

By the light of a street lamp he saw a dark form moving toward the parlor door. The boy shot and fired. A second later he was startled to hear his sister scream as she fell to the floor. The shot aroused other members of the household. Miss Borgmesser was found on the floor with a bullet wound in her left breast. Members of the family did their best to alleviate the suffering of Miss Borgmesser and summoned the ambulance of the Presbyterian Hospital. Miss Borgmesser remained up late for another sister who was returning home from New York.

BRYN MAWR STUDENT SHOT IN MISTAKE BY BROTHER

West Philadelphia Boy's Tragic Error Seriously Wounds Sister and Leaves Involuntary Assailant Heartbroken

Seventeen-year-old Otto Borgmesser, of 5502 Wyalusing avenue, shot his sister, Marie, aged twenty-three, late last night at their home, mistaking her for a burglar.

Miss Borgmesser is in a serious condition at the Presbyterian Hospital. She is a student at Bryn Mawr College and a graduate of a special course at the University of Pennsylvania.

The boy was held in $1500 bail this morning by Magistrate Haveris to await the result of his sister's injuries.

Heartbroken with grief over her loss, the lad told the police that numerous robberies had been committed in the neighborhood of his home, and he was constantly on the watch for burglars.

Shortly after he had retired last night he heard a noise downstairs as though some one was stealthily walking along the hallway. Grabbing a rifle of twenty-two calibre he walked to the head of the stairs and peered through the darkness. He feared that if he turned on the light the burglar would fire and kill him.

Hears Sister's Scream. By the light of a street lamp he saw a dark form moving toward the parlor door. The boy shot and fired. A second later he was startled to hear his sister scream as she fell to the floor. The shot aroused other members of the household.

Miss Borgmesser was found on the floor with a bullet wound in her left breast. Members of the family did their best to alleviate the suffering of Miss Borgmesser and summoned the ambulance of the Presbyterian Hospital. Miss Borgmesser remained up late for another sister who was returning home from New York.

The boy asked his sister's forgiveness. "I know it took a mistake," she said, and then became unconscious. With tears glistening in his eyes, the boy explained the shooting today as he sat snuggled up in a corner of a cell at the Thirty-second street and Woodland avenue police station.

"I was sure that my mother, father and sister were all in bed. I didn't want to awaken any of them because I was afraid they would be hurt. She knows I didn't mean it.'"

Won Muhr Scholarship. Miss Borgmesser graduated from the Girls' Normal School in 1914 and won the Simon Muhr scholarship that year. She graduated from the University in 1917.

KRUSEN ASKS SCOUTS TO AID IN SANE 4TH

Director Says Boys and Girls of Organization Can Set an Example for Others

Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts are called on by Director Krusen, of the Department of Health and Charities, to set an example to the other children of the city for a safe and sane Fourth of July.

Pointing out that patriotism is not measured by the number of injuries suffered on that day, Director Krusen brands as dangerous the use by children of explosives, toy pistols, fire balloons, sparklers, roman candles, snakes and other illuminating fireworks. Continuing, he says:

"More especially this year, the year of victory, with its rejuvenated spirit of independence and freedom of the world, there may be a tendency to return to the thoughtless, childish and frivolous display of patriotism by the use of explosives. Let us anticipate with sound mind and judgment the awful catastrophes which might result, especially among the children of our future citizens. For one moment relax the stringency of our laws against the use of dangerous explosives. One need only recall the past to remind us of the burned fingers, the mangled faces, the loss of eyes, the loss of limbs, the deaths from tetanus and the loss of income little girls by burns caused by exploding roman candles and sparklers. By all means let us use good discretion in the celebration of this Fourth. Surely there are many ways of expressing the spirit of patriotism and our joy of victory without the use of dangerous fireworks."

FALL INJURES BRIDEGROOM

Husband of Week Pitches Out of Tree—Now in Hospital

William Robinson, nineteen years old, fell and was badly injured while picking cherries for his fifteen-year-old bride near their home at Bryn Mawr yesterday.

Robinson, who has been married a week, was standing on a cherry tree and he fell to the ground. He was taken to Bryn Mawr Hospital.

A week ago Robinson, who is nineteen, and his wife, who was Miss Evelyn Smith, of Adams and Memphis streets, outwitted her relatives and were married at midnight by Squire Buckland, of Bryn Mawr, after the bride made a fast trip in his automobile to Media, where he awaited a clerk to get a marriage license for them.

On Thursday Mrs. Robinson was arrested by the Lower Merion police on a request of the Philadelphia police, and when the girl's father and uncle arrived a few hours later they failed to produce a warrant. The police sent the girl home to her husband.

PROBE DEATH OF CAPTAIN

Police Believe R. C. Scull Was Victim of Accidental Shot

Investigation of the death of Captain R. C. Scull, found yesterday at Port Richmond, with a bullet in his head, led the police to the conviction today that he was the victim of the accidental discharge of his own weapon.

Mrs. Frances Scull, widow of the dead man, who was master of a river barge, still insists he was murdered by holdup men. But of $80 Captain Scull was said to have had on his person, only $20 was found on the body.

Scull, seventy-one years old, was a well-known character along the Delaware river front. He was captain of the Emmy Patterson, a river barge.

GERMAN TOWER SENT HERE

Portable Device for Observation to Be Studied at Frankford Arsenal

A German military observation tower of unique design is being sent to the Frankford arsenal for study by experts, according to word from Washington.

Composed principally of steel tubing about eighteen inches in diameter, the tower has a height of ninety feet when fully extended, but telescopes into a section which is easily carried on an army truck. The observer, protected by a shield, sits comfortably at the base and views the country through a series of lenses and mirrors.

BOY WILL CYCLE TO GARY

Youth of 15 Starts 900-Mile Trip on Wheel to Visit Uncle

Clad in a Boy Scout uniform, carrying maps and camp kit, Frederick Dawson, fifteen years old, of 5710 Addison street, started on his bicycle to Gary, Ind., a 900-mile trip. He expects to dodge the large towns enroute and to camp by the roadside at night. Taking his time, he expects to make the trip in fourteen days. He will visit his uncle and aunt in Gary, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Gaston.

"Young Dawson has been making trips on his bicycle since he was ten years old. He has made three trips to Washington, D. C. and others to Easton, Pa., and Allentown, Pa. He is a student at the Haddon Heights high school.

MAN HELD AS BIGAMIST

Confronted by Wife No. 1 and Evidence of Wife No. 2—Held in Jail

Confronted by wife No. 1 and the marriage papers which made him husband to wife No. 2, George P. Moore, twenty-six years old, of Audubon, New Jersey, was this morning held in $500 bail for a further hearing on a bigamy charge.

He is already under bail, charged with embezzling a considerable sum from his former employer, Charles Zimmerman, hardware dealer, 431 Market street, Camden.

Private Detective Porter appeared at the hearing today, and told Magistrate Neff of having traced Moore to his New Jersey domicile, where lives wife No. 2, formerly Elizabeth Schneider. Wife No. 1, formerly Madeline Heals, who lives with her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Heals, at 516 North Thirty-third street, was at the hearing, while the Rev. P. Henry Dipple, of Zion Reformed Church, Third street, and Horace P. Moore, endeavoring to identify Moore as the man he had married to Miss Schneider.

Falling in this, he was able, however, to produce his marriage records, showing that he had performed the ceremony in November, 1918. Moore is said to have maintained two wives and spent money freely on a twenty-one dollar a week salary.

THREE GERMANS DEPORTED

Gloucester Sends Men to Charleston for Expulsion from United States

The Bureau of Immigration, Gloucester, today sent three Germans to Charleston, S. C., to be deported tomorrow on the steamship which will carry many prominent Germans and alien enemies back to the Fatherland on an excursion arranged by the United States government.

One of the three will be Herman Marmor, sixty years old, a Hebrew, who was the steward on the German steamship Raetica when it was interned at Philadelphia in 1914 when the war started. He was taken into custody in April, 1917, soon after this country entered the war, and he has since been at the detention house in Gloucester.

Several times he was allowed to attend Jewish festivals in Philadelphia and was well taken care of by the Jewish people.

CAN HANDLE VACATIONISTS

Railroad Administration Officials Confident of Facilities

Washington, June 16.—(By A. P.)—Railroad administration officials said today they believed it would be possible to provide equipment for a large number of holiday travelers in the next few weeks, despite the great homeward movement of overseas troops.

The greatest point of congestion will be around New York and Newport News, but in other parts of the country the railroad administration expects to be able to take care of all vacation travelers.

SUNDAY BALL GAME INTERRUPTS SERMON

Pastor Says He Had to Chase Boys Away Before Service Could Be Completed

A boys' baseball game played last in front of the Logan Reformed Church was taken as an example of "terrible conditions" existing in Philadelphia on Sunday in an address made today before the Ministers' Association of the Reformed Church meeting at Fifteenth and Race streets.

The Rev. Maurice Samson, pastor of the church, said he was interrupted by the shouts of the boys while he was preaching, and that he had to go to the street and chase them away before he could finish the service. "Open Sunday" in the parks has encouraged the playing of sports on Sunday all over the city, he said.

A paper on "Giving God His Share" was read at the meeting by the Rev. F. W. Teske, pastor of the North Wales Reformed Church.

Officers elected by the association were: President, the Rev. A. P. Frantz; vice president, the Rev. W. E. Lampe, and secretary and treasurer, the Rev. W. E. Garret. Today's meeting was the last for the season. The next will be held September 15.

Sports were in full swing in Fairmount Park yesterday.

WIFE DESERTERS, BEWARE!

Wide-Awake Camden Sleuth Caught Three During Last Week. Beware, all you wife deserters, for there is a nemesis in Camden who will catch you if you don't watch out!

Detective Milton Stanley, who is attached to Prosecutor Wolverson's office, is the aforesaid nemesis, and his rating in that class is A-1. During the latter part of last week he succeeded in landing three alleged wife deserters in a chase which took him over New York state and Pennsylvania.

The men were Frederick Banser, thirty-eight years old, who left a wife and two children at 600 North Sixth street, Camden; William B. Howell, twenty-four years old, who deserted his wife and one child at Haddonfield, and Howard Hillman, twenty-one years old, who left his wife and a crippled child at Gloucester.

On Thursday Stanley went to Newburg, where Banser was supposed to be staying, and found that he had gone to Halden. He went to Halden, arrested the man there. The following day he went to New York city and located Howell. He then went to Albany to obtain official sanction for his manhunt, and returned with his prisoners to Burlington. From there he crossed the river by launch and arrested Hillman, who was a Bristol.

The men are now being held at the Camden county jail awaiting a hearing on the charge of wife desertion.
