Nancy Wynne Chats About Pretty Blue Costume -- Interesting Doings at Opening of Navy Yard to Visitors June 28—Philadelphian to Marry Southerner

THERE'S no doubt about it, Isabel Page has the costume, or maybe it's the appearance; anyhow it's ideal for hot weather. I saw her on one of those awful sultry days, and she looked delightfully cool and neat. She had on a dark blue voile, made very simply, with wide tucks in the skirt, and white organdie sash wi'h long ends. The col-lar and cuffs were of tucked ruffling, and she had the most attractive little hat of dark blue georgette, turned up on one side and down on the other, to hold two brown and blue quills.

She wasn't half so cool as she looked. for she was fanning herself inadequately with a handkerchief that she took from her bag of blue brocaded silk and velvet; but she certainly did look attractive. She has blue eyes, you know, and the most delightfully wavy hair of a bright "old gold" shade.

WELL, have you heard about the excitement down at the navy yard on the 28th? That's a week from Sat-urday and you must be sure to keep it open, because it's the first and only time that the yard has been opened to visitors since the war and there will be Il kinds of things going on. It's called Navy Relief Day." - Just as you get Inside the yard you come to the adjoining places of Mrs. Arthur Burneston Owens, wife of Major Owens, U. S. M. ... and Mrs. Frank E. Evans, wife of Lieutenant Colonel Evans, also U. S. M. C., and on their combined lawns there will be the marine corps booth, where souvenirs of the marine corps and all kinds of interesting things, including some stunning recruiting posters, will be sold—and, incidentally. you pay a tiny bit extra for a poster, Colonel Evans will autograph it. Then there's to be dancing every where you turn, on the ships, at the K, of C., at the Y. M. C. A. recreation hall and in every available space. Imagine dancing on the deck of a ship once again! And the Nevada, which is one of the largest ships we have, will be there then, and will have dancing on her-you always speak of a ship as her, don't you? but it sort of makes me squirm to say dancing on her." poor thing!

Well, of course, you want to know who's interested. There are marine, navy and civilian people, among them Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Owens, course, and Mrs. Owens's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. Chandler Barnard, Major and Mrs. A. J. Drexel Biddle, Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. Hamilton Disston South, General and Mrs. Eli K. Cole, Major and Mrs. Robert L. Denig, Captain and Mrs. Clarence Kempff, Captain and Mrs. George B. Landenberger, Captain and Mrs. Moulton K. Things have been happening down at that day, too, because there's so much going on. There will be trick flying, things for the youngsters. I'll probably tell you more about who's interested in what later.

The other officers of the Navy Relief are Mrs. L. W. T.
