PRICES OF FOOD TAKE BIG DROP

Meat, Butter, Eggs and Potatoes Fall in Markets—Butter Off Six Cents

MARKETS VERY UNCERTAIN

Reduction in the price not only of meat, but of other staple food articles, has been so decided and so unvarying since the beginning of the month that it appears as though living were going to be something like comfortable.

Big reductions in the prices of butter, flour and potatoes were made yesterday by a chain of stores. Butter is selling six cents a pound less than at the beginning of the month, and there has been a decline in the price of eggs varying from two to four cents a dozen in the same period.

On June 2 a certain brand of butter was offered at sixty-six cents a pound. On June 5 and 9 it was selling for sixty-five cents; June 12, sixty-three, and yesterday the price was sixty cents. Another brand which was selling at sixty-three cents a pound on June 2 has steadily declined until yesterday it was advertised at fifty-seven cents. Eggs which at the beginning of the month cost fifty-five cents dropped to fifty on June 9, and were offered yesterday at fifty-four, showing a slight stiffening during the last few days, but failing to regain the former high level. Another brand of eggs offered in some stores has declined steadily from fifty-one cents at the first of the month to forty-nine cents yesterday.

A decided drop in flour became evident yesterday, when a twelve-pound bag which a short time ago sold at from eight-nine to ninety cents was offered at seventy-nine cents. New potatoes which had become a familiar article at thirty cents a quarter peck dropped to seventeen cents.

Whether the decline would continue or whether there will be a stiffening of the market no one would venture to say. The unusual drop seems to have been the working out of large forces throughout the country, whose results and the causes of whose operations could not be accurately determined or foreseen.

LISTING ALL RADICALS

Police Lining Up "Red" Element to Keep Check on Movements

This city is one of the important links in an interwoven municipal defence against radicalism which William J. Flynn, head of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice, is perfecting.

The city radical detection force under Lieutenant Andy Emanuel is making a census of the radicals now in Philadelphia, and from time to time these men and women will be checked up. In this manner the authorities at all times will have a roster of persons who might be concerned in bomb outrages.

Whenever such person is put under arrest for a serious offense the full Bertillon description and any other important data possible to get will be forwarded to the other cities in the radical chain. In this manner it is hoped to connect the suspects with other cases, and if one prosecution fails another might succeed.

Maurice R. Speiser, assistant district attorney, was the Philadelphia lawyer to whom Charles Recht, attorney for the New York "Reds," who came here to defend Chester radicals, applied for an introduction to Chester officials, it has been learned. Mr. Speiser says Recht came to him with a formal letter of introduction from a friend in New York and that he merely did introduce him as an act of courtesy.

TO DISCUSS LEAGUE

Bar Association to Meet at Bedford Springs Next Week

The league of nations, military tribunals of justice, enemy-property problems and many other topics will be discussed at the twenty-fifth annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Bar Association, which will be held at Bedford Springs next week.

The first meeting will be on Tuesday morning and the sessions will end with a banquet on Thursday night. Lieutenant Colonel Samuel T. Ansell, formerly brigadier general and acting judge advocate of the United States army, will read a paper on Thursday morning on "The Administration of Military Justice." Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer will discuss "Enemy Property in the United States" at the Wednesday night session, and former Senator Albert J. Beveridge, of Indiana, will speak on "Nation or League" on Tuesday night.

BRIDGE PLANS, PLEASE

Building of Span to Camden Believed Assured—$2,000,000 on Hand

Samuel French, vice chairman of the New Jersey Interstate Bridge and Tunnel Commission, is pleased with the definite information from Harrisburg that plans have been perfected that will enable work on the Delaware river bridge to be started during the present year.

Two million dollars is already on hand for the project for the next two years, and the building of the bridge now seems to be an actuality.

Mr. French said "it will be necessary, of course, to work out a tremendous mass of detail and to get the preliminary business into shape, for it is a tremendous undertaking, involving many intricate problems of engineering skill and experience. The best possible engineers in the country will be secured and necessary steps taken to assure the best possible results in the quickest possible time.

"We in New Jersey all feel that in the ultimate consummation of the plans for the bridge too much credit cannot be given United States Senator Walter E. Edge, who, as governor, did so much to place the project upon a practicable working basis."

OPPOSE SOFT DRINK TAX

Druggists Will Attempt to Bring Prices of Sodas Down

While the price of hard drinks is going up, the Pennsylvania druggist will endeavor to bring the price of soft drinks down. According to the pharmacists, the so-called luxury tax on ice cream and soda fountain drinks is unfair in view of the approaching dry season. A vigorous protest against the tax will be lodged at the annual convention of the druggists at Buena Vista Springs, Pa., on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

A protest will also be entered against the granting of patents for chemical substances to inventors of foreign nations at the expense of local inventors and scientists.

MAYOR NAMES BOARD TO CUT LIVING COSTS

Six Men Selected to Bring Farmer in Direct Touch With Consuming Public

M'LAUGHLIN IS CHAIRMAN

Mayor Smith has appointed a commission of six members to devise means to reduce the high cost of living by bringing the farmer into more direct contact with the consuming public.

The men named to study this question are Joseph S. MacLaughlin, director of supplies; W. F. Therkildson, seed expert; T. Corwin Starkey, president of the Bustleton Vegetable Growers' Association; George T. Sale, real estate operator, and E. S. Armstrong and E. T. Butterworth, commission merchants. This is the same committee which several months ago made a report to the Mayor on the subject of retail food markets, and the data given him by them was submitted to Councils.

Councils' finance committee acting upon his recommendation on Wednesday authorized the appointment of this commission. The Mayor then made use of the body already informally appointed by him. He said he would give them a "free hand" in studying the question, and that any action to be taken by him on municipal markets or any other phase of the food question would be based entirely on the advice of this commission.

"Whether permanent or temporary markets are to be established or whatever is to be done," said the Mayor, "will depend upon these men, in whose ability I have complete confidence. I did not appoint them so that I could tell them what to do. I want them to tell me what to do.

"I took this action with the sole view of reducing the cost of food for the people of Philadelphia. I had always hoped to accomplish this, and if it cannot be done in my administration, I hope my successor will be able to do it.

"At present the municipality has no voice in the marketing question, a problem which is vital to every man, woman and child.

Sues When Paint Kills Cow

Doylestown, Pa., June 20.—Charles H. Headley, a Fallsington farmer, has sued Fred H. Ewald, a contractor, to recover $150 damages for a cow which Headley says died from poisoning caused by licking the fresh paint off millwork for the Fallsington school, left by the defendant in the pasture adjoining the schoolhouse.

The cut featured above shows 1632 Chestnut Street, the retail shop of H. D. Dougherty & Co., Inc., prominent makers of "Faultless Bedding" and "Faultless English Down Furniture," whose extensive plant at 17th and Indiana Avenue, equipped with the most modern and scientific machinery, turns out products known and appreciated the world over. Founded in 1885, by H. D. Dougherty, the business under his capable and inspired direction increased so rapidly that it outgrew several factories before the building of the present one. Through all the years Mr. Dougherty has given his best to his work, and the foundation of his success has been the standard "Faultless" which he adopted: "Faultless Bedding," and faultless upright and honorable business principles.

Deborah Boaah

DO NOT imagine because the H. D. Dougherty Co., 1632 Chestnut Street, specializes in "Faultless Bedding" that there is nothing else to be bought in this shop. Besides making extraordinarily well-constructed and comfortable hair mattresses and box springs, they also turn out the most luxurious English Down Furniture, stuffed with fluffy down instead of hair. Then there are mahogany, or painted bedsteads and day-beds, in great varieties to match any scheme of decoration. Wheel chairs and other contrivances for invalids. The softest and coziest blankets, and comforts, covered with beautiful silks, satins or chintzes. Counterpanes, and dreams of lamps and lamp shades, and a very large Baby Department, where anything that is needed in baby furniture may be found.

WANDER through the Summer Rug Department of Fritz & La Rue, 1124 Chestnut Street, before you purchase elsewhere, and see the variety they have gathered. The prettiest colors and designs imaginable, in cotton, fiber, grass and linen. Yes, Linen Rugs, though you would never guess it if you were not told. They are extremely durable, come in ten different solid colors (grays, blues, black, browns, tans, old rose), can be made any length, and any width up to 12 ft., and are distinctive and cool in appearance. The very opposite of these plain, quiet rugs are the "Rainbow Rugs," in which the prismatic hues have been blended as cleverly as when Nature herself paints the sky—with this difference, that in the man-made "Rainbows," there is a choice of predominating color.

NEEDLESS to say that going-away time is also packing-away time for solid silver, few women caring to bother with it in summer homes, where doors and windows stand open night and day. To replace it they get Plated Ware, not trashy, inartistic stuff, but beautiful, refined sets from Bailey, Banks & Biddle Co., every piece of the finest and heaviest quality plate, which will last years, and done in many famous patterns. Forks, knives, and spoons for daily use may have been bought already, but there are dozens of larger pieces in Sheffield plate, which can be added to the collection, or given as presents. Tea sets, meat platters, trays, fruit bowls, compotiers, pudding, asparagus and planked shad dishes, and vegetable dishes whose covers may be converted into an extra dish.

PLUMS, peaches, apricots, cantaloupes and cherries are some of the luscious early summer fruits now to be had at Henry R. Hallowell & Son's, Broad below Chestnut Street. The Plums, just arriving from California, are the red variety, sweet and juicy. Georgia Peaches continue improving, and the delightful "Hiley Belle," the first white freestone peach of the season, has appeared. The California Apricots need no introduction, being the same as those carried other years; the very finest. The famous Imperial Valley Cantaloupes always run true to their reputation for delicious flavor, and the handsome mammoth Bing and Royal Anne California Cherries never fail to attract. Need any one want for fruits when these can be delivered, or shipped anywhere by Parcel Post, special delivery?

THE MAN who is seeking new experience and sensations, and who has never worn a Genuine Palm Beach Suit, had better join the great army of the sanely dressed the next warm day, and see what a distinct and pleasant surprise awaits him when he dons one of these clever summer suits. Instead of feeling done out and irritable, a positive feeling of exhilaration and contentment will pervade his system, for to slip into a light, cool, comfortable Palm Beach Suit, especially if he has always worn woolen garments in hot weather, will immediately change his outlook on life. And no end of these tropical-weight Coat-and-Trouser Suits of Palm Beach Cloth, Summer Worsteds, Breeze-weve, Aerpore, Mohair, and Linen, are being sold at Jacob Reed's Sons, 1424-26 Chestnut Street.

PRESERVING and canning time has come around once more, and all the valuable lessons learned when war made food preservation imperative, will again be put into practice. More than one household discovered the economy of putting up their own fruits and vegetables, and are returning to the House Furnishing Store of J. Franklin Miller, 1612 Chestnut Street, for their equipment. Everything needed is there; Canners, round or oblong, holding seven jars; wide-mouth jars, with glass or zinc tops; Duplex Forks, for lifting jars from hot water; Jar Wrenches; Jar Racks, which fit the bottom of a container or ordinary washboiler; Kold Pack Preservers, and last, but by no means least, exceptionally good Rubber Jar Rings, which do not crack nor break, and will stand hours of boiling.

TALK about crowds! Really, an anthill is a vacant lot compared to Oppenheim, Collins & Co., 12th and Chestnut Streets, last Tuesday. The women fairly swarmed over the shop; all the old customers who had been eagerly waiting for their re-opening, and hosts of new ones who had been attracted by the advertised sale, were there, taking advantage of the unusual opportunity of securing something for next to nothing. Did I squeeze in? You may be sure I did, and came away ladened with packages, but not before I had circumnavigated the place, and observed one more evidence of the loyalty to Oppenheim, Collins & Co.—that is that all of the former employes were back at their accustomed posts, cheerfully greeting old patrons, none having been lured away to other shops.

ON THE piers at the seashore, and at the parks in the suburbs, it is the concerts that attract the people, many of whom have gone miles to hear good music, patiently submitting to being jostled and elbowed by promiscuous crowds, when, if they had a New Edison Phonograph at home, they could comfortably hear the same selections played, or sung, even better, by artists of international fame, for these remarkable instruments (sold by N. Stetson & Co., 1111 Chestnut Street), with their marvelous tone-producing mechanism, actually re-create the "divine spark," which differentiates the genius from the ordinary being. The discs, too, being capable of containing long compositions, admit of perfect re-creations of forms of classical music not attempted on many other phonographs.

CHURCHES TO PROBE INDUSTRIAL PROBLEMS

Commission of the Protestant Bodies Organizes Campaign. Will Start Work Next Week

An investigation of the industrial situation in this country will be made by a commission of prominent churchmen, representing all the Protestant bodies, under the auspices of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America. The commission organized for work in New York last week.

The Rev. Dr. Samuel Zane Batten, head of the Baptist Commission on Social Service, will take an active part in the investigation.

"The commission will examine into the question of wages and the causes of industrial unrest and social discontent," Doctor Batten said yesterday.

In August Doctor Batten will go to London with a committee of sixty church leaders of the United States and Canada to study the industrial situation in England.

The Americans will attend the World Conference on Brotherhood which will be held in London early in September. The question of land tenure in this country will be studied by the Baptist Commission on Social Service.

"We appear to be confronted by land monopoly," Doctor Batten said. "There is a tendency on the part of big investors to buy up large tracts of land and squeeze out the small farmer. This means the building up of a system of absentee landlordism."

Mormons to Be Protected

Juarez, June 20.—Following an official protest by American Consul Dow to General Gonzales in the name of the American State Department, against the lack of military protection being furnished Americans and their property in the north, General Gonzales announced he had ordered a column of cavalry to Casas Grandes, near the Mormon colonies.
