

CLASH AT OPENING OF PALMER PROBE

Senator Walsh Tells Ex-Attorney General Lewis, of N. Y., He Garbled Law

CAN'T RELY ON STATEMENTS

Sale of Plant by Former Alien Property Custodian Under Committee's Scrutiny

By the Associated Press Washington, June 20.—Public inquiry into charges made against Attorney General Palmer in connection with his administration of the Alien Property Custodian's office opened before the Senate judiciary subcommittee today with a clash between Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, and former Attorney General Merton E. Lewis, of New York, regarding statements as to the right of the custodian to sell alien property.

Mr. Lewis testified last week at an executive session of the committee, which is considering Mr. Palmer's nomination, and Senator Walsh contended he had neglected to give the committee a full statement as to the law regarding sale of property.

"It was my purpose," Mr. Lewis said, "to make a statement in correction of my statement last week and to apologize for the fact that entirely unintentionally I had left an impression on the committee which at that time was my understanding of the law."

Senator Overman, Democrat, of North Carolina, asked in view of his service as attorney general of New York, Mr. Lewis did not think it improper to quote only part of the act. Mr. Lewis explained he came into the case hurriedly without full opportunity to examine the statutes.

"As for myself," said Senator Walsh, "I accept unreservedly your statement. You will realize, however, that we will scarcely be able to rely hereafter on anything you may say."

Mr. Lewis appeared as counsel for Harvey T. Andrews, of the Bosch Magneto Company, whose plant at Springfield, Mass., was seized and sold by the alien property custodian. He read into the record a number of newspaper articles to show that the price of magneto stock on the New York stock exchange advanced from 65 last January to 104 on June 14.

SALVADOR JUDGE KILLED

Bomb Sent to Him Explodes When Box Is Unlocked

San Salvador, June 20.—(By A. P.)—An infernal machine sent to Dr. Manuel Trejo Castillo, civil judge of Santa Ana, in western Salvador, today caused the death of the judge and serious injury to a servant. The explosive was contained in a small box provided with a lock and key. The fatal explosion occurred when the box was opened. The report of the explosion was heard throughout the city.

ADMIRAL BENSON BACK

Chief of Operations Arrives at New York on Battleship

New York, June 20.—(By A. P.)—Admiral William S. Benson, chief of operations of the United States navy, arrived here from Brest today on the battleship Arkansas. Twenty-five casual army officers also returned on the warship.

DR. PESSOA LANDS AT NEW YORK TODAY

Officials Welcome Brazil's President-Elect as Guest of Nation

New York, June 20.—(By A. P.)—The steamship Imperator, bringing Dr. Epitacio Pessoa, president-elect of Brazil, was approaching Ambrose Channel lightship at noon today, according to wireless advices, and was expected to dock here shortly after 3 o'clock. An official welcoming delegation from Washington, headed by Breckinridge Long, third assistant secretary of state, is in New York to receive the distinguished South American as the nation's guest.

The Brazilian warship Sao Paulo is in the harbor and a dinner in Doctor Pessoa's honor will be given aboard the vessel tonight. A special train will take the president-elect and his party to Washington tomorrow.

Doctor Pessoa left France on the French cruiser Jeanne D'Arc, but was transferred to the Imperator at sea when the warship became disabled.

ALCOCK GETS REWARD

He and Brown Receive Flight Prize at Dinner Attended by Americans

London, June 20.—(By A. P.)—Captain John Alcock and Lieutenant Arthur W. Brown, the aviators who made the first nonstop flight from North America to Ireland, were entertained at a luncheon at the Hotel Savoy today by the Daily Mail, at which the transatlantic prizes of £10,000 offered by the newspaper, was presented to the aviators.

Those attending the dinner included American Ambassador Davis, Colonel Pierce, representing the American army; an admiral; Winston Spencer Churchill, secretary for war; the Earl of Reading, former ambassador to the United States; other members of the British cabinet; representatives of the British army; Major General Sykes and the lord mayors of London and Manchester.

Harry G. Hawker and Lieutenant Commander Grieve, who failed in their attempt at a nonstop flight across the Atlantic, also were present.

RED CROSS AIDS SLOVAKS

Thirty-one Cripples to Get Artificial Limbs in New York

New York, June 20.—(By A. P.)—The long journey of 100 crippled Czech-Slovak soldiers from Siberia, where they fought against the Bolsheviks, to their native land, where they will join their families, was interrupted here today by the American Red Cross, which agreed to help the Czech-Slovak national alliance take care of the men in this city until thirty-one of them can be fitted with artificial limbs. An institute where limbs are made has been given a rush order to work day and night, so as not to delay the soldiers here longer than three weeks.

One Elevator, One Kiss, One Jail

Michael Martin, an elevator operator in a Market street hotel, was held in $800 bail today by Magistrate McEleary, to answer the charge of having forcibly kissed a girl who was riding in the elevator. Miss Emma Sagen was the complainant. She said she could not escape the man's attack and waited until she reached the first floor before she screamed. Patrolman O'Neill arrested Martin, who said he lived at Twelfth and Spruce streets.

LARGEST OLD BOOK STORE IN AMERICA

LIBRARIES PURCHASED There's a story between the covers of the thousands of volumes at Leary's—stories that are not written on the pages. Old books consort here with late publications. Perhaps you can find that very one you've been wanting for years. Anyway, there's a good chance that we have it on our shelves—and at only a fraction of its original cost.

RAILROADS' SHARE IN WAR IS PRAISED

Met Every Burden Placed Upon Them, Says H. H. Aishton in Address

DANIELS WILL BE HEARD

Atlantic City, June 20.—Greetings of the federal railway administration to the first convention of the mechanical sections of the American Railroad Association, a wartime development, were delivered yesterday by R. H. Aishton, regional director for the Northwest and president-elect of the American Railroad Association; William T. Tyler, director of the division of operations of the administration; Prof. J. C. Cunningham, his assistant, and T. C. Powell, director of the division of capital expenditure.

There was a great deal of confidence and no hint of pessimism in the messages brought to the convention by the federal transportation leaders. Every reference to the not conspicuous but very important part of the men of the shops and the lines played in the winning of the war on this side of the Atlantic evoked hours of applause.

"Government control of the railroads, as you know, is almost universally condemned by the public," President-elect Aishton said in his address. "But if the public could be here with us today and could see what a magnificent meeting you folks are having here, I think they would say that government control, at least, has given you the largest, and, I think, one of the most enthusiastic meetings you have ever had."

"We have been through strenuous times. It is true we did not get into the war until 1917, but previous to that for two or three years we had given all the assistance we could to the Allies in an indirect way through our transportation machine."

"I think it is the general verdict of everybody in Washington, at least of the real people of the United States, that if there was one class of men in the United States who met successfully every burden placed upon them, it was the men who kept the lines open from the Atlantic to the Pacific."

Mr. Aishton was made the head of the merged railroading bodies of the country at a meeting of the executive committee of the American Railroad Association at the Marlborough-Blenheim. Secretary of the Navy Daniels is to bespeak the congratulations of both the Navy and War Departments at a big meeting tomorrow night, at which Colonel Henry W. Hodge, who was assistant chief-engineer of the American forces in France, also will speak. An invitation has been extended to General Atterbury.
