

Youngsters Off to Season's Opening of Red Bank : Glimpses From Paris and Epsom Downs

HO, FOR THE DISTANT SHORES OF RED BANK! Young guests of the Sanitarium Association off on the opening excursion of the season on the good craft Johnny.

ON THE steamship Johnny passenger list, bound for the land of merry-go-round, swimming pool, games and lots of milk at Red Bank. Every day the Lizzie and Johnny carry boys and girls down the river to the Sanitarium Association's excursion grounds.

CAUGHT IN mid-air. One of the contestants in the international tennis championship, held in Paris, snapped by the camera going after a high one.

FRENCH YOUNGSTERS enjoying their morning in the Bois. In the attire of children, Paris, too, sets the fashion.

HIGH OVER the roofs of London Sexton Blake, hero and intrepid detective, threads his way on slender wires until he "tracks the criminal to his lair"—in the latest English movie thriller, "Further Exploits of Sexton Blake."

DURING THE great races at Epsom Downs on Derby Day this enterprising barber did a flourishing business shaving people "tween races" on the course.

FINISH OF the great Victory Derby. The great classic at Epsom Downs was won by Lord Glanely's Grand Parade. In the view Grand Parade is snatching the victory from Major W. Astor's Buchan, as the horses speeded for the finish.
