10

Evening Public Tedger THE EVENING TELEGRAPH PUBLIC LEDGER COMPANY

CYRUS H. K. CURTIS, Parsinest Charles H. Ludington, Vice President; John C. Martin, Secretary and Tressurer: Philip S. Collins, John B. Williams, John J. Spurgeon, Directors EDITORIAL BOARD:

CTRUS H. K. CURTIS, Chairman DAVID E. SMILEY Editor

JOHN C. MARTIN General Business Manage-
 Published daily at PUBLIC LEPGER Building. Independence Square, Philadelphia, ATLASTIC CITY
 Press-Union Building

 ATLASTIC CITY
 Press-Union Building

 SEW YORK
 200 Metropolitan Tower

 DETROIT
 701 Ford Building

 ST. Lotus
 1005 Fullering Building

 Guides
 1302 Tribuse Building

NEWS BUREAUS: N.E. Cor. Pennolvania Ave. and 14th St. N.E. Cor. Pennolvania Ave. and 14th St. New York Burkau. The San Hullding London Burkau. London Times

CONDOR BUTHAL BUTHACTIPTION TERMS The EVENING LINGUE Is served to sub-scriber; in Philadelphia and surrounding towns at the rate of twelve (12) conits per week payable to the carrier. By mail to points outside of Philadelphia, in the United States Canada, or United States iso-sensions, postage free, fifty (50) cents per month. Six (40) dollars per year, payable in advance. To all foreign countries one [81] dollar per month.

Notice-Subscribers wishing address changed must give old as well as new address.

BELL, 1000 TALNUT KEYSTONE, MAIN 3000

Address all communications to Evening Public Ledger, Independence Square, Philadelphia.

Member of the Associated Press THE ASSOCIATED PRESS is exclufively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise evedited in this poper, and also the local news published therein.

All rights of republication of special dispatches herein are also reserved.

Philadelphia, Saturday, July 5, 1918

THE EVENT AT TOLEDO

TN THE days when the shahs of Persia were taken seriously a shah visiting London in state was formally invited to sit in the royal inclosure to witness the Derby. He wasn't a nice shah, even as shahs go. His manners were a trial to sensitive people who met him. And he refused flatly to spend any time viewing a horse race.

"I am aware," said he, "that if two horses are driven side by side with equal energy in a straight line for a given distance one will, in all probability, be abl to go a little faster than the other. beg to assure you that I care nothing about which horse is foremost in such an odd experiment."

Were the Americans who endured the dust of travel and slept on hotel floors and subsisted on stale sandwiches and soda pop in order that they might witness the Willard-Dempsey fight wiser than this shah of Persia or were they less wise? Was it curiosity or a leve of elemental combat or the mob instinct that drew them to Toledo? If they knew they would tell and a great mystery would be solved.

Women have ventured to prizefights, but they didn't like what they saw. So the ring is the one field of American sport that never has enlisted feminine interest or support. This may be because women, unless they happen to be in love, never do anything that cannot be explained upon grounds more or less logical.

SEX EQUALITY

THERE was a ball game in Ardmore this week that, on the face of it, knocked spots out of the alleged equality of the sexes.

A team of girls beat a team of men by a score of 43 to 5.

But wait!

important theme that death overtook her. The winner of the Distinguished Service Medal for war services was an embodiment of the best that is in the fine spirit of Americanism, and her aloofness from the follies committed by suffrage workers such as Jeanette Rankin, and even Jane Addams during and after the struggle, stamps her as a patriot of the soundest and most unimpeachable type. Despite her birth in Newcastle-on Tyne, her years of consistent service to iberalism and sane substantial progress proclaim her, regardless of sex, as one of the notable Americans.

NEEDLESS FRENCH TREATY STAINS THE LEAGUE PACT

Covenant is Jeepardized Under Shadow of a New Triple Alliance With Dangerous Balance of Power

Possibilities F NECROMANCY could endow treaties with personalities and were the wand of enchantment waved today over the George Washington, en route for our shores, the most sacrosanct section of Mr. Wilson's luggage would be the scene of a terrific convulsion. What the French alliance would have to say of the league of nations and vice versa is conceivable as equaling the acrimony of a senatorial lebate.

Diplomatic papers more contradictory of each other it would be difficult to imagine. If one document is good, then the other is bad. Only by the most fantastic processes of argument can approbation of both of them produce even a semblance of harmony.

It is asserted that the President will wek to prove them reconcilable and to plead for the acceptance of each of these ashing pacts before the Senate and the nation. The task is spiritually more formidable than any which confronted him at the Peace Conference. For then his purpose was, in the main, animated by ideals which the bulk of mankind unques tionably sought to have recognized.

The present problem suggests an unwholesome mixture of lofty aims with either questionable expediency or pernicious illusion. If both treaties should be favored, then the soul of the other one will assuredly go soaring off into oblivion. Fortunately for the American people. the star chamber secrecy which prevailed at times at Paris and in spite of protests, ended with the argival of the moment of fateful decision." The lid is off. The Senate within a very few days will possess the true copy of the Versailles treaty, already signed by the foe. In that momentous pact is contained the most elaborate and pretentious panacea for the belligerency of nations that has ever been devised. But side by side with the covenant, which commends itself to minds unwarped by reactionary prejudice or political spleen as the most tangible instrument available for preserving peace, will be presented a plan of internal alliance which is either an impotent echo or else a stain of dark suspicion upon the ship. On the surface, the special pledge to France is merely an affirmation of the obvious. By its terms the United States is obligated to furnish prompt armed aid if the stipulations of the Versailles treaty concerning the left bank of the Rhine are violated by Germany.

whole scheme of international partner-

But as it is unthinkable that America. The men were required to bat and having contributed its potent share tocatch with their left hands if they were | ward winning the war, should be indifferent to enforcement of its solemn treaty terms, in what way can iteration add to less than five dollars additional for the their force? An agreement which is considered hinding by the parties involved needs no directly or indirectly. They cannot be appendix for effective emphasis. The avoided. It was an incredible waste of simultaneous employment of two taxicabs is useless to the time-pressed traveler bent on catching his train. To French emotionalism, cruelly inflamed by the war shambles, has been ascribed the inspiration of the triplealliance proposal which Georges Clemeanceau made to Britain and America. Such sentiments by a gallant nation which bore the brunt of the five years agony command the full measure of American sympathy and understanding France is our friend and we are hers in an intensity of degree which has few parallels in history. A second wantor outrage against her would not be tolerated for a moment by this country, and particularly when America is formally enlisted in the league of nations.

tous system of the balance of power allegiance which Clemenceau refused to renounce even during the most exalted moments of the Paris convocation. Mr. Wilson, on the other hand, was equally outspoken. "If the future," he declared at Manchester, "had nothing for us but a new attempt to keep the world at the right poise by a balance of power, the United States would take no interest in it, because she refuses to join any combination of power which is not a combination of al! of us." In other words, America, with her justifiable antipathy to foreign entangling alliances, can consistently enter into no partnership save the all-embracing one of the league of nations. It is passionately to be hoped that the co-operative obligations imposed upon each subscriber to the covenant will insure to the world a new era of peace The plan is pre-eminently worth an honest trial. Its whole essential spirit is discredited by any undertaking binding three of the participants to special performances.

If the league is what Mr. Wilson and other undent advocates have declared it to be, the new triple alliance is an absurdity. If the league is too frail to stand upon its own merits it should be rejected. It takes a chronic alarmist or a spiteful politician to credit this possibility just as it takes the most irrational optimist sincerely to justify harmonization of the two mutually uncongenial documents which the George Washington is shipping westward.

There is a chance that a feeling for expediency and the desire to speed the peace prompted the President to be the bearer and ostensible champion of the French treaty. If so the opportunity of the American people to make a tremendous decision is very vital. The engue covenant is an inspiration and a hopeful augury at least of better times. The internal agreement besmirches it. Unless all sense of consistency is suddenly lost the joint acceptance of these disparate documents is unimaginable. CONVICTED UNDER OLD LAW

PHE Delaware county jury which has convicted three radicals, charged with conducting an unlawful meeting in Chester on April 27, apparently discovered that the old laws against inciting to violence were adequate to reach men acused of such crimes. Evidence was offered to prove that the accused had planned a May day demonstration to secure the release of Mooney and Debs and that if the demonstration failed they planned to call men to arms to overthrow the government, and that they publicly advocated such a course. The jury believed the evidence and, on instructions from the judge that there was law enough to convict under it, they found a verdict of guilty. And the law was necessarily the old law because the acts of which the men were accused were done two months prior to the passage of the new anti-sedition law intended to reach just such cases.

THE COST

show that the railroads of the country must have at least $500,000,000 annually above their present income, if they are to operate on the old basis of efficiency under government or private ownershin.

may properly be regarded as early intimations of the larger costs of war. Every man, woman and child in the

CONGRESSMAN MOORE'S LETTER

EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER-PHILADELPHIA, SATURDAY, JULY 5, 1919

Knox's Friendship With Crisp-How Dr. F. D. Patterson Helped in Preventing Congressional Interference With Pennsylvania Mines

Washington, July 5.

THE incoming of Republicans takes away from the House of Representatives sevral excellent presiding officers, one of whom, Congressman Charles R. Crisp, of Georgia was once parliamentary cierk of the House. Judge Crisp is a son of the late Speaker Crisp, who used to wrestle on the floor with the redoubtable Tom Reed, of Maine. There is a trait in the character of the Georgia representative which everybody in Washington appreciates and respects—his affectionate everence for the memory of his father. Instinctively his mind goes back to "Father, and it is touching to observe how that dis tinguished statesman's life and character continue to influence the son. When som me recently criticized Senator Knox for his league of nations speeches, the Georgia rep-resentative perked up and surprised his hearers by saying, "I have a high regard for Senator Knox." Then followed this interesting story : Speaker Crisp had begun to break down in calth and he and "Charley" determined to take a sea voyage. They were like boys on the boat until, being placed at the captain's table, they fell in with Philander C. Knox, of Pittsburgh, who was not then a senator. Crisp's fine conversational abilities soon apnealed to Knox and they became fast friends Knox invited the speaker and his son to be his guests for a week while in England. The witation was accepted and on reaching London the Knoxes and the Crisps started out in a tally-ho from London to Oxford. They came back by launch on the Thames to Windsor. It was a great week for both of them and established a good will which continned until the elder Crisp died, nor has it eased as between the junior senator from Pennsylvania and the brilliant Georgia parliamentarian.

THE work which Dr. Martin W. Barr and his assistants at the Pennsylvania Training School for Feeble-minded Children are doing at Elwyn, Delaware county, the gov-ernment finds it must do in another degree for many unfortunates who have been turned ck from service in the army and navy. Vocational training for wounded and disabled diers, who came back from France denied the opportunities which their physique and fine mentality promised them before the war, one thing which the government is trying to do now and which it seems to have started at to do satisfactorily, but the care of those whose minds are not normal is another big aroblem which the government must face patiently. As Doctor Barr has helped to solve the problem in Pennsylvania, so the governent is trying to solve it for the thousands who have been bereft of reason since they entered the service. The old Civil War veterans, who love the surroundings at Hampton Roads and who are anxious to get back to their southern homes, really gave way, ac-cording to the War Department, in order that a thousand or more of these mentally disabled veterans might be cared for.

COLONEL WILLIAM R. SCOTT, of the C John Wanamaker Commercial Institute, who is lining up the boys for their annual outing on the old camp grounds at Island Heights, N. J., does not permit to slip by many opportunities for boosting his active organization. The colonel, having made up records of the boys of the institute who enlisted for the European war, is now after a emorial tablet from the wreck o' the battle hip Maine, on which he desires to place the ames of the Wanamaker Spanish-American War veterans. Many relies of the Maine have been distributed by the secretary of the navy in accordance with the law. Major William McKinley Camp No. 10, United Spanish War Veterans, has one, and the adjutant, James L. Meredith, is mighty

COLD CREAM

WELL, a number of citizens found that they could be as badly scorehed by sea-Softly through the solitude, my reverie awakshore sunburn as they ever were by fireing. works. Breaking in upon my dreams in shrill yet A magazine editor has written to us to say that now is the time to send him a Christmas poem. Curious how hard it is to conjure up the merry jingle of sleigh-bells at this time

Please grant that there is one form of atrocity the Dish has never committed. We have never attempted any jazz translations of Horace.

Desk Mottoes

Eleven thousand teachers in Pennsylvania receive salaries of less than five hundred dollars a year .- News item.

of year.

Of him who loved a lass-An olden song, a golden song, Mr. Arthur W. Howes, of the Central And sing it unafraid : that little lane High School, gives us a kindly word for alluding bitterly to a New York paper's Where the folks are waiting-holy smokes, but it's a pity "Peace Council Waits on Ger-Ev'ry hoy tonight can't hear the whistle Unhappily New York papers are of a train ! many. not the only ones that say "Wait on" when they mean "Wait for." ROBERT LESLIE BELLEM. To all such we remark that their German But Harriet writes us that she is "a little girl "Ich warte auf dich" is excels perfect. twelve years old," and sends the following lent boche idiom. poem: Cape May One by one all the good old American institutions are proved to have come from some foreign source. We are heartbroken to Cape May the land of my thought Where pleasure is found not simply bought hear Mr. Howard Brockway, the eminent The large blue ocean the pleasant boardwalk composer, say that jazz was invented in Where old friends meet again and talk Siam. Is it possible that we shall have to Little girls debutantes demure And old ladies forlorn and pure. fell back on chewing gum as America's only contribution to Great Art? Of course, there HARRIET. _ was Tom and Jerry e Old Philadelphia I wish I had thought of it-I would Ravings have made more of old Philadelphia. Should I ever return there I will put all my heart into a book on the subject and write it all in flowers, perfumes-reeds in When the weather gets so torrid that my straw hat is adhesive would like to be a lemon peel upon a nice mouth !' the rivers—quaint old golden brown eve-nings—the scent of buckwheat cakes baking in the early morning—magnolia ice-tea-sieve. . . I would like to be a felon fragrance mingled with roasting coffeeghosts of bygons Cadwaladers and Whar-tons and memories of pretty Quaker sirls in the sunset light on Arch street. CHARLES GODFREY LELAND, 1893. In a cool-celled penitench, Or a seed within a melon. Or a raisin in a quench. . . . 1 would like to be a paper cup Our observation is that no man is truly In a well-fanned soda-keller; great until some summer resort claims to I would like to be a mermaid find his profile among the crags of a moun-Stealing rides on a propeller. tainside. . . . Secretary of State Lansing feels that his presence in Washington in the near future will be necessary because of the duties of the State Department.—Paris These roasting days do pain me And no commoner or duke'll Be able to restrain me From a plunge into the Skookle. disnatch DOVE DULCET. It's perfectly all right, Robert : you needn't apelogize for coming back to Washington. It was sage of Mr. Wilson to have the leorge Washington slowed down so as not We notice that a coming movie is adverto arrive on the same day as the R-34. He tised as being "brutally frank." What fun it would be to write a flicker saw the danger of Mr. Borah pulling some wheeze about the landing of the Big Blimp. that would be brutally reticent. SOCRATES. Our Own Quiz 1. What prominent Philadelphian thinks The difference between a beer case and no poetry worth reading has been writa case of beer is the difference between a juryman and a bottle. ten since Pope? Who is the "Big Fellow" and why does he wear quotation marks around his We doubt if the kaiser will ever get b name? Why does the mayor of Tidaholm hesi-London. Not while there's still chloride o tate to visit America? mercury in the Amerongen pharmacy. Why is it always advisable to have a national holiday fall on a Friday? When we feel that we've just got to re Which is warmer, a theatre ventilated with "ice-cooled breezes" or one venmember the dollar of our granddaddles it i well to call to mind, also, that it was harden tilated with "frigid zephyrs"? quake. you have an appointment at the Drexel Building at noon, at what time to earn. Bancroft, the boudoir bolshevist, says his should you begin questing for a car at the corner of Eighteenth and Pine Fourth was wholly spoiled because he couldn't find a soap-box that would fit his streets? 7. What fate awaits the men who design the patterns of silk shirts? What with the cutting out of excursion Which is the more relentless enemy of the Palm Beach suit, the glowing rates and the cutting out of booze, Atlantic City needs all the sand it possesses to stand crumb of tobacco or the brimming up against the breakers. spoonful of soup? What do senators do on a holiday? Prohibition enforcement legislation and the water power bill are two subjects to take up the attention of the United States Senate. What punishment was meted out to the man who invented the quarter-inthe-slot gas meter? They might easily be one. subtedly the real reason for crown prince a restlessness on the Island Wieringen is that there are so trees nim to cut down. A sewbuck and articiptes for polity thermania While we give carnest heed to the plea tender strain. Now, verisimilitude of life that I'm for-Who loved a lass at home; Once on a time a Saxon king Who loved a queen of Rome. saking Comes a sound that takes me back-the The world has but one song to sing, whistle of a train. And it is ever new, The first and last of all the songs Far and faint, and scarcely heard above the woodland's sighing; Coming from a brazen throat once-twice For it is ever true-A little song, a tender song. The only song it hath; "There was a youth of Ascalon Who loved a girl of Gath." -and yet again; To my heart is brought a word-a wish-no use in trying

The Whistle of a Train

To express my thoughts upon the whistle of the train. So I guess I'll pack my things and hike it for the city-Beat it 'way back home again, stroll up

"There was a youth, once on a time, Who dearly loved a maid." endall The announcement Probably a Lie. nize'' drastic action. Consolation Draw One! 'long-felt want.' QUIZ 3. What is a gloss? years had two capitals? of Independence? 10. What is a sterlet? waii costs two cents. of prey. membrance. deat pro-tan pire of the right-handed and with their right hands if they were left-handed.

CURRENT official estimates which

Apart from the result of the game, the making of the handicap was a frank all acknowledgment that there is no equality of the sexes, so far as baseball is concerned.

But, on the other hand, if the game had been knitting the handicap might have been the other way.

Which leaves us pretty nearly where we started. The game "seemed" to knock spots out of sex equality. But Vio cares for "seems"?

A TEST OF THE CHARTER

THE preliminaries of the new mayoralty campaign make it clear that the passage of a modernized city charter by no means relieves the average citizen of his responsibilities as a voter. The need for a general intelligent interest in the affairs of the city is, indeed, greater now than it has been at any previous election.

The campaign for the mayoralty election is being astutely planned by rival groups, who know that any faction which may gain an overwhelming representation in the smaller Council may feel relatively certain of retaining a permanent grip on the city itself.

If the fine possibilities of the new charter should serve to stimulate a new and enlightened interest among voters who usually drift with factional currents the city may look forward to an era of progressive government. If bosses are permitted to use all of their old methods in to elect obedient men and retain control of a restricted Council they might, naturally enough, find the means of exploitation easier than before and feel reason to rejoice because of a system under which the work of control and direction in Council would be simplified.

AMERICANISM OF ANNA SHAW

TUSTICE has had few champions so loyal as Anna Howard Shaw. Her devotion to its cause led her into more varied fields of endeavor than those tilled by the majority of suffrage leaders. Svilization, made better, directed into channels of true progress was her prime

Naturally, therefore, Doctor Shaw's ympathies were fervently enlisted on whalf of political rights for women. To her labors in furtherance of this end she rought, as she did to her activities in molitics, in medicine, in religion, in soogy, a keen intellect, a zestful vigor a lucid sense of proportionate

Her brilliant and honorable career was ed by the slightest suggestion of kines fanaticism. Beholding the sufrage victory, she turned her attention to to be fought-prejudice regue of nations and it hight af a locture four to Comprehension of French feelings, however, need not carry with it indorsement of French logic. The latter is in this instance dangerously defective, since even granting that the pledge devised in Paris had reassurance for its primary object, its potentialities are replete with warnings.

Once before-in Vienna, 1814-an international concert was prepared. League-of-nations antagonists have pointed with unctuous irony to the fate of the flimsy but pretentious partnership to which Russia, Austria. Prussia, Britain and later defeated France herself subscribed. In a way that again suggests a parody of the league covenant's aims: grandiose meetings were held at Aix-la-Chappele, at Laibach and at Verona. within a few years after the Napoleonic collapse. But that early international society did not crumble because it was too ambitious. It fell, among other reasons, because special internal deals and arrangements were engineered almost before the Vienna ink-wells were dry. The game was unfairly played.

Russia, Austria and Prussia framed up among themselves the so-called "Holy Alliance." Castlereagh jeered at its design as "a piece of sublime mysticism and nonsense." To him it appeared as the French treaty might seem to those persons who sympathetically take it at its face value, as a harmless superfluity. Such was not its eventual nature. Converted into a scheme for the maintenance of dynastic oppression, its development alienated liberal France and England and the European concert ended in discord. Of course, the Franco-British-American alliance can never conceivably de-generate, into a bulwark for autocracy.

United States must contribute a little maintenance of the railroads in the future. Such contributions will be made energy and materials in Europe that drove the costs of materials skyward. The costs of labor and production followed the upward trend naturally enough. Thus for many years to come, after Liberty Loans are forgotten, in a thousand unconsidered ways we shall have to pay vastly, through increased taxes and higher living costs, for the aberrations of a few lunatic kings and a crowd of neurotic diplomatists.

It is little wonder Cause and Effect there is civic disorder in Poland. Empty stomachs and clear brains are seldom companions, and a man will not always walk the straight and narrow path when he has to pay a month's wage for a pair of shoes. The expropriation of Problem the German landowners Simplified in Czecho-Slovakia i not a special demand of particular social class, but of the whole ation. The nation, therefore, has a clean sheet on which to cipher its "back to the land problem.

There is abundant evi-Where France dence that the war is going to cost France. Is Gainer the victor, more than fermany, the vanquished. But, on the other hand, France, will have that which Germany cannot hope to gain for generations to com the good will of the world, the value of which is beyond computation.

West Virginia has paid The Virginia to Virginia $14.000,000 in cash and bonds. It has long been conceded that the state born in war times should pay some share of the Dominion's indebtedness contracted when the two states were one and that view received official indorsement in a recent decision of the United States Supreme Court; the one point at issue was the amount to be paid. The Mountain State contended, and with some show o reason, that little of the moneys had been expended north of the Alleghenies and that an apportionment of the debt should be on the basis of improvements rather than or population or area. But, a decision having been reached, the presumption is that at las everybody is satisfied. Many of the fight fans who are saying

'I told you so'' are fifty-fifty prophets. The insinuation is that there were as many flims as films in the government movies.

Death is the penalty for selling booze in Sonora, Mexico. "Oh, well," said the Bibulous One, "what was it Patrick Henry said?

"Incomous desustude" describes the addition of the German automarines lying ite in menty docks. Where is the pat range at describes the state of mind of APPARENTLY there are no flies on Pitts-burgh. That city' is awake and doing A few days ago, through Congress things. man Campbell, a Democrat who was supported by Republican votes in the last elec tion, a bill was introduced in Congress ask ing for $500,000,000 to build a chain of waterways throughout the United States, the principal thought being to connect the Pittsourgh waterways with the Great Lakes and the Mississippi river and the gulf. Such a system, backed as it is by the Mississipp valley interests, would put Pittsburgh on th map for sure. Meanwhile the Atlantic coastal waterways, which are to be heard at the Charleston convention in November, would probably come along somewhere in the push not too far in the lead. The scheme is se backed, however, as to require very careful consideration. Another Pittsburgh lead which has the indorsement of Mayor Bab cock and the Council, is the establishment of an aerial postal service station in or about the Smoky City. The postmaster general and Congress have been memorialized to see this project through.

DR. FRANCIS D. PATTERSON, of the Philadelphia Club, who is attached to the Department of Labor and Industry at Harrisburg, rushed to Washington at the nstance of Governor Sproul the other day in an effort to destroy a rider groing addi-tional powers to the federal bureau of mines which had been sneaked in on the Senate side vithout notice to the House. The doctor was hot under the collar, as were a number of other state officials, who complained they had been taken by surprise. The purpose of the rider was to give the bureau of mines fifteen new inspectors at fat salaries, and the state's representatives contended that they would only interfere with efficient state regulations and harass business men. A quick fight was made against the rider and it went out, the House for once standing unanimous against the invasion of the Senate.

ELIJAH C. HUTCHINSON, who repre-sents the Trenton district, plods along in Washington just the same as if he did not know that Senator James Hammond has de-cided to become a candidate for Congress in 1920. Elijah has been in Congress now for wo terms, during most of which he has been on the agricultural committee, where it has developed that he knows a good deal about potash and fertilizer, in which the southern farmer is interested, and about grain, in which the western farmer places his reliance.

LIKE former Congressman J. Davis Brod head, J. Washington Logue, Joseph E. Thropp, who lives in Washington, and Hiram R. Button, of Delaware, Joseph McLaugh lin and Daniel E. Lafean, who were con gressmen-at-large, occasionally look in on the proceedings of the House. Joe McLaugh lin was down a few days ago preparatory to his trip West, where he is to preside over the proceedings of the Ancient Order of Hibernians at their San Francisco convention Joseph went out with John R. K. Scott, wh figured so extensively in the Pennsylvania figured so extensively in the Pennsylvani state Legislature. These two "at-large" members were succeeded by Anderson H Walters, of Johnstown, and William J Burke, of Pittsburgh. Walters is an edito and Rucke is a labor leader. The inter was formarily in the state Senate and in the Pitts

that five million Germans wish to "coloin Mexico in order that they may escape the peace terms and that the suggestion is being frowned upon by the Mexican Government may be taken with a grain of salt. But if any such move were ever seriously contemplated the United States would be justified in taking Governor Smith, of New York, recently dedicated an old toll bridge as a free highway across the Hudson by breaking a bottle of ginger ale. "What though the prohibition ban assails us?" cries the modern Sir Toby Belch. "We have ale (of a sort) and ginger still is hot i' the Prohibition has thrown many men in the liquor trades out of work. "Kansas has a great wheat crop and lacks labor. An agency to take the bartender to the wheat field might fill a The dial of the Independence Hall clock lacked pointers on Thursday. Hands evidently laid off for the holidays. What Do You Know? 1. Who is in command of the huge Brit-ish dirigible, R-34? 2. Who is acting secretary of state? 4. How did Brazil get its name? 5. Who wrote "Peregrine Pickle"? 6. What state in the Union for many. 7. What is the ordinary English name for the drink which Americans call ale? 8. How many signers had the Declaration What great naval victory was first re-ported to the world on the Fourth of July? Answers to Thursday's Quiz The region around Florence, Italy, has been suffering from a severe earth-Sending an ordinary-sized letter to Ha-The Pilgrims came to America before the Puritans, settling in Plymouth in 1620. 4. Themistocles was a noted Athenian general and statesman. His dates are 514-449 B. C. "Yoicks !" is a fox-hunting haloo or ery, The pounce is the claw or talon of a bird Rosemary is the flower emblematic of re-Gamboge is gum-resin used as yellow pigment. The name is a corruption of Cambodia, from which place in Siam the resin is obtained. bert B. Cummins, of Jows, is s, the capital/ is the larges

ONCE ON A TIME

A thousand thousand years have gone,

And eons still shall pass.

Yet shall the world forever sing

ONCE on a time, once on a time,

U Before the Dawn began. There was a nymph of Dian's train

Who was beloved of Pan;

Once on a time a peasant lad