TO VOTE TOMORROW ON HUGE CITY LOAN

Select Council is Expected to Pass Measure in Its Present Form

DEFER LEGALITY QUESTIONS

Present plans of the administration call for the passage of the $12,970,000 loan in Select Council tomorrow. Questions as to the legality of certain of its items, under charter revision provisions, will be left for later determination.

The items in the loan said to be endangered by new legislation provide for maintenance of streets and for repairs to municipal buildings, etc. At first it was declared that the $3,000,000 water item would be jeopardized. This is denied by Chief Davis of the water bureau, who says the capital outlay will be for improvements and extensions and not for repairs in maintenance.

Upon the passage of the bill it will be sent to Mayor Smith for his signature and, it is said, will not be the subject for attack until an effort is made to sell bonds under its authorization. A last minute amendment to the bill before its passage in Common Council cut out all "repair" items, but no change was made in the maintenance items that are now declared to be in danger of legal attack after the bill is complete.

The possibility of amending the loan bill in Select Council tomorrow so as to strike out the maintenance item has been discussed, but such a move is not likely to be resorted to at this late date. It is possible that Common Council could later cancel in the move. Should this be done the loan would be reduced by $2,000,000 or $3,000,000.

PLAN BIG DRYDOCKS FOR PUSEY & JONES

Philadelphians Will Invest $3,000,000 in Three Ship Repair Plants at Gloucester

Announcement that three great drydocks will soon be built as an adjunct to the Pusey & Jones shipyards at Gloucester, has been made by Christopher Hannevig, president of the company.

The drydock company, backed it is said by $3,000,000 of Philadelphia capital, will be called the Pennsylvania Ship Repair Plant. It is planned to begin construction of the three drydocks within a short time.

The location is held by shipping men to be admirable and they concede the fact that there is plenty of work obtainable. Many ships are tied up in harbors along the coast awaiting repairs.

The new Emergency Fleet regulations provide that new ships shall go into drydock forty days after completion and launching. New steel ships require scraping and repainting of their hulls and tightening of rivets. Wooden vessels need recaulking and other repairs.

The three drydocks, Mr. Hannevig estimates, will be ready for use within nine months.

News of the proposed improvements indicates a rising tide in the affairs of Pusey & Jones. The government is to pay Mr. Hannevig, as president of the company, $2,500,000 for material furnished. It is also to make settlement for work done at the Gloucester and Wilmington yards. The $2,500,000 advance by the government will be ample to pay all outstanding claims of Pusey & Jones Company.

CITY CLEANERS FINED

Datesman Charges $812 to Ash and Rubbish Collection

In considering the bills of the street-cleaning, ash and rubbish collecting contractors for the month of June, Director Datesman, of the Department of Health and Charities, has imposed penalties aggregating $812 for failing to live up to the specifications of their contracts.

The director made his regular statement that these fines were not imposed because of neglect to clean the streets and gather the ashes and rubbish, but on account of the contractors failing to have the proper amount of equipment and men, as required by the specifications. The amount of fines imposed upon each of the contractors follows:

District	Contractor	Penalty
1	Cummins & Marras	$40.00
2	Edwin H. Carey	75.00
3	Edwin H. Carey	25.00
4	Edwin H. Carey	15.00
5	Thomas A. Flanagan	122.00
6	Frederic A. Rippe, Inc.	85.00
7	R. J. & A. Dombas	61.25
8	Edwin H. Carey	85.00
9	D. McMahon, Est.	29.00
Total		$501.00

The Penn Reduction Company, which holds the contract for collecting the garbage of the entire city, was penalized $311.

CHILD DIES OF POISON

Baby Takes Medicine He Found While Parents Were Away

Alfred Mollie, one year old, died today at the home of his parents, 5113 Ludlow street, from poison.

According to the report of a physician to the coroner, the baby yesterday swallowed some medicine containing poison that he found while his parents were away from home. The medicine, which was purchased for the child's mother, was on a table in the kitchen. The baby pulled a cloth from the table and the medicine fell within his reach.

KICKLESS COCKTAILS ARE CONCOCTED IN PHILA. BARS

Jack Rose Still Rules as Cock o' the Walk, but Authority Is "Nil"—Mixture of Cremes on Menus

"JACK ROSE, two!" There are those who prick up their ears in wondering and surprised anticipation at the familiar sound in the hotel barroom, and they hasten to order "same here."

"Didn't know you'd have the nerve to do it," one customer smiled as he "kidded" the bartender. "Why, my lips have been parched for an old Jack Rose, and I've wasted all these days without knowing I could get such a cocktail in town." His eyes sparkled with joy and he breathed a sigh of content as the familiar-looking liquid was set before him. He took a tiny sip first, because he wanted the joy to last as long as possible.

Then there was an explosion. "Cam-outage!" he shouted. And he spluttered out.

"'Tis Neither Art Nor Fun" There were those who smiled after the retreating figure, but the bartender sighed a weary sigh. "I don't blame him. Taking the pep out of the drinks took all the pep out of us. It's neither art nor fun to mix prohibition cocktails."

But all the hotels are doing it. Tipsters are filled with attractive sounding highballs, cocktails and bottled cordials. But the "kick" has gone.

The color is still there, and many of the cocktails retain familiar names, but instead of gin or whisky or vermouth or other intoxicants, there is "sparkling apple juice," grenadine, orange juice, and, yes, even prune juice, supplemented, of course, by carbonated beverages, mineral waters or the nearest thing to alcohol that can be obtained.

Another popular drink is the "cup," whose first name is variously called according to the hotels or cafes where it is served. It is another mixture of fruit juices and mineral waters. The menu also contain such cordials as creme de cacao, creme de menthe, raspberry, apricot, blackberry and cherry.

Never Be Popular, Say Managers

Hotel managers, while they encourage their bartenders to new and extended efforts in mixing soft drinks, are confident they will never become popular, and they will never make up for the loss of income from intoxicants. That's why, they assert, that they may increase their dining room rates, as most of them already have increased room rates.

At the Adelphia a cover charge has been added to the price of the meal. Formerly the hotel charged ten cents for bread and butter. Now there is the cover charge of twenty-five cents, which includes bread and butter. The Ritz-Carlton also has put on a cover charge. The Bellevue-Stratford has had such a charge for several years and has not increased it.

SERVICE OFFICERS OF CITY ORGANIZE

Commissioned Men of Army, Navy and Marines to Be Part of National Body

FORM-COMMITTEE OF 1000

Philadelphia officers who served as officers in the army, navy and marine corps have organized a local chapter of the American Officers of the Great War, a new organization, the purpose of which is to band together all men of commissioned grade who served in the war.

Work of enrollment has been going on quietly since early in the year. A committee of 1000 has been formed to conduct a national organization campaign.

It is expected that by the time the first annual convention of the organization is held, at a time and place to be announced, the new order will have an enrollment of 100,000.

Besides Philadelphia, local chapters are being organized in New York, Boston, Baltimore, Washington, Cleveland, Louisville, Detroit, Chicago, Kansas City, Minneapolis, Seattle and other cities and towns.

Under the constitution of the organization, local chapters may be formed wherever there are twenty-five or more applicants for membership.

The idea of forming an organization exclusively for officers was suggested at an informal meeting in January of this year at the Detroit Athletic Club. The officers present wrote to all their friends in the service, and upon getting their promise of support, a charter was applied for and obtained in the District of Columbia, by act of Congress.

The purpose of the body, as set forth in the charter, is to promote fellowship among officers who had served in the army, navy or marine corps during the war, "last ending" to continue the work of leadership for democratic principles, for which all had made sacrifices, and were ready and willing to make greater sacrifices, and to preserve and develop the strong social ties now existing between those who served.

The society disavows any political purpose, and is patterned on the order of Cincinnati and similar organizations. Temporary trustees are administering its affairs at present, until a convention of the entire organization can be held to choose permanent officers and outline policies. Colonel C. M. Tienner, of Detroit, heads the organization committee.

WANT ALL IN LEAGUE

Labor Federation Congress Would Include Every Nation

New York, July 8.—(By A. P.)—A demand that all the nations of the world be made eligible to the league of nations was expressed in a resolution unanimously adopted here today at the first annual congress of the Pan-American Federation of Labor by delegates from ten countries, including the United States.

The demand was formulated in an amendment proposed by Samuel Gompers, president of the congress and head of the American Federation of Labor, following a report by the committee on resolutions endorsing the league of nations.

Lively discussion was precipitated by the report, several of the delegates contending that it was "unreasonable" to expect the labor movement in countries which had not been admitted to the league to do more than sympathize with its general aims.

Coroner Knight is investigating the death of Bert Stallings, two years and six months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stallings, 2426 Toronto street, who died in convulsions, Monday. Presumably the child ate some sausage which caused ptomaine poisoning, although this has not been confirmed.

According to Dr. S. L. Baron, 2849 North Sixth street, who handled the case, the boy was in good health Sunday evening. So far the parents have been unable to learn where their son got what is believed to have been some tainted Bologna sausage that caused the poisoning.

HOW TO BUY CLOTHING WISELY, OUTLINED BY THE U. S. GOVERNMENT

Clothes Must Offer Protection and Freedom, Combined With Beauty and Self-Respect, Circular Declares—Shopping With a Definite Purpose Suggested—Purchaser Advised Not to Expect Savings at Bargain Counter

Uncle Sam through the Department of Agriculture is teaching his constituents how to buy clothes. Wise spending saves clothing for the family, declares a two-page circular that is being sent broadcast throughout the country. What do you want of your clothing? What kind of clothing do you need—these are the pertinent questions dwelt upon in the circular.

Under the heading of "HINTS FOR BUYERS"

Uncle Samuel gives his numerous nephews some excellent advice. The following extracts fit in so beautifully with our business policy that we give them publicity:

"Learn to recognize quality, a reliable salesman will help you in this."

"Do not expect great savings from the bargain counter unless you are a good judge of materials."

"Choose good materials for things that will get hard wear."

"In buying ready-made clothing insist on good materials, style and workmanship. If you always do this the dealers will be encouraged to supply them."

"Be sure that the thing you choose is becoming to you and appropriate to its purpose."

Briefly Uncle Sam's Advice Is:

"BUY VALUE."

That's been our strong talking point for many years.
