

MEMORIAL HOSPITAL PLANNED AT AMBLER

$25,000 Raised to Purchase
Haywood Property to Commemorate Soldiers' Work

TWENTY DIED IN SERVICE

Nearly $25,000 has been subscribed, and committees working on the collection of funds expect to acquire that much more for the purchase of property and founding of a hospital on the Haywood property, Tennis road and Bethlehem pike, Ambler, as a memorial to the men who entered the service from that district.

The movement is being backed by the Colony Club, of Ambler, of which Mrs. Robert Rolston is president. Mrs. Godfrey S. Mahn is chairman of the hospital committee. The Haywood property will be purchased and work of remodeling the Colonial house which now stands here will begin as soon as the $50,000 goal is reached.

The hospital is to contain charity beds kept up through subscriptions or endowments and pay wards. After the $50,000 has been raised to establish the institution it is expected that other larger gifts will be made to aid in the upkeep. Physicians in the district have endorsed the movement and are doing all in their power to help. More than 200 names were affixed to the petition for a charter.

"We feel," said Godfrey S. Mahn, one of the men interested in the project, "that a hospital will be a splendid thing for the district. At present the nearest one is ten miles distant. We recognized the great need for one here when there was a wreck on the Reading last winter and patients had to be carried for many miles. The idea of the institution is not a new one, but the women let the issue drop during the war campaigns and many drives for money during the winter and early spring. Now they are heart and soul in it and will not stop until they have accomplished what they hope for."

"It seemed only fitting that the hospital should be a memorial one. Most of the women interested in it were actively interested in the war from the beginning knitting and sewing and doing all in their power to help. More than 225 men went from this district. About twenty died in service. A bronze memorial tablet will be placed on the lawn of the hospital. It will bear the honor roll."

At a meeting next Monday evening of the Colony Club hospital committees, names and officers for the hospital will be suggested and further plans made. Among the men and women actively interested in the project are Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Mattison, Sr.; Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Mattison, Jr.; Mrs. Jacob Eckfeldt, Mrs. Morris Haywood, Harold Knight, Dr. D. W. Shelly, Dr. Andrew Godfrey, Mrs. Thomas Atkinson.

KISSES AT $300 EACH

That is what it cost Bentleyville Man for Caressing Clerk

Washington, Pa., July 10.—The price of a kiss was fixed at $300 by Judge J. A. McIlvaine when he sentenced Israel Schalit, a merchant of Bentleyville, convicted of kissing Miss Helen Cheek, who worked in his store. Miss Cheek resented his familiarity and caused his arrest.
