EDDIE STYLES PLAYED 180 HOLES, BUT EVEN THEN COULDN'T NEGOTIATE THE 19TH

35 MILES OF GOLF BY STYLES IN 1 DAY

Old York Road Player Makes Remarkable Record, Shooting 180 Holes in Fourteen Hours

WAS SPRY AT THE END

By SPICK HALL

THIRTY-FIVE miles of golf!

That means about forty miles of actual walking plus the physical strain of driving and the nerve-wracking operation of putting. That a whole lot of golf and much more than the average fiend of the links plays in a week's time. Yet that much golf—excellent golf, too—was played in one day by Eddie Styles over his home course at the Old York Road Country Club.

Eddie's achievement yesterday will stand out as one of the bright spots in national golfdom. He not only played ten rounds of eighteen holes each, a total of 180 rounds, but he made scores in virtually every round that would have insured his qualifying in the most select amateur aggregation that this land could produce.

It is needless to tell a golfer what this means, but for the sake of those who are prone to cast aspersions on the ancient Scottish pastime it means this: Eddie Styles traversed about forty miles of territory, up and down hill; he made 796 shots, each of which had to be performed with care, although often with haste; he had to begin before 6 o'clock in the morning and did not sink his last putt until the sun was fast fading over the verdant slopes of Jenkintown at approximately 8:30 o'clock in the evening.

Got Stronger, Not Weaker

It would naturally be supposed that toward the close of a day of such tortuous strenuosity Eddie would have begun to weaken. But he didn't. If there had been more daylight there would have geen more golf, for Eddie had more in him, a lot more. He was in superb physical condition, as one of the many who followed some of his rounds can attest. He went at such a pace that his caddies were constantly on the run and the gallery had to trail along and went for him at some turn. They couldn't keep up the pace which Eddie set at the beginning and maintained until the finish.

Just to show how much Styles was weakened by his intensive exhibition, he made a 78 on the last lap of his long run, his lowest card of the day. Incidentally, he made ony one 78 in the morning five rounds, but came back and duplicated this figure in the afternoon in the sixth, seventh and tenth rounds.

Some time ago Eddie was over-golfed. To get over this staleness he took a rest, and the result showed plainly yesterday. He breezed along at a breakneck pace in his play, yet he made his shots with so much ease that it was apparent to the nude orb that he was in the pink glow of physical perfection.

Used Up Six Caddies

During the 180-hole session, Styles used, it might be said, "used up," six caddies. He had two fore-caddies and one hind each round. These three would go around, then the two other fore-caddies and the other hind would take up the labor. The caddies alternated in this way during the whole day, and it must be said that they did their work in great style. Each of them was familiar with what Eddie wanted to do and they wanted to help him do it, and they did. The fore-caddies were always on the job, watching the flight of the ball, and the hind caddies, in spite of Eddie's speed in getting ground, did not keep him waiting a second during the fourteen hours that he was on the go.

Kelly and Curtain carried Styles's bag, while Dugan, Smith, Myers and Coats acted as fore-caddies. They deserve a lot of credit for sticking to their task the way they did, and at the finish they were more tired out than Eddie, although each had only traversed half of the distance that the golfer had gone.

Following are Styles's ten cards:

The one thing that gets teed-up at a golf club now is the ball. It is a said world.

Although Eddie Styles played 180 rounds of golf yesterday he couldn't negotiate the nineteenth hole.

Styles's actual playing time was 790 minutes. During this time he made 796 shots, more than a shot a minute. This has something on Fielding Yost's famous Michigan team in the days of Willie Heston, that claimed to be able to make a point a minute.

Answer to query—Yes: Styles beat it all hollow. The original marathon run, from the plains of Marathon to Athens, was slightly more than twenty-six miles.

Styles's average time for each of the ten rounds was one hour and nineteen minutes more than an hour later than the round of the day before at the usual pace. His fastest round was the eighth, which he made in one hour and thirteen minutes.

Ed[illegible] worst round was the first; he made 84. That also was his slowest, which was made in eighty-four minutes, exactly a minute to the stroke.

In spite of his fine record, Styles was not smiled on by the Fates. The breaks of the game, particularly on the greens, were constantly against him. Usually in so many shots a man will have a little luck in running down long puts, or rolling to good lies on the approach shots. Styles had none of this. He earned every hole.

Last night the members of the Bala Golf Club gave a dinner in honor of George Hoffner.

The midsummer golf handicap and qualifying round of the fourth annual class tournament was scheduled to be played today at the Riverton Country Club.

9000 See Hilldale Triumph

Hilldale proved a big attraction to the Kensington baseball matrons yesterday afternoon, when the Nativity Catholic Club lost 8-5 in the fifth inning after game on their home grounds. Between 8000 and 9000 spectators were enclosing the field.

Styles Believes in Getting Enough Food

Before Eddie Styles began his notable battle over the links of the Old York Road Country Club yesterday he ate a very hearty breakfast at 5:30 a. m.

Once during the morning he took an egg and milk between two of the rounds, just a glass of milk.

Styles took forty-three minutes for his lunch and rest hour between the first and last five holes. He ate three chops, peas, potatoes, toast and milk.

In the afternooon he stopped twice for eggs and milk and once took a few crackers.

As for dinner, after the play was over—but never mind that; that's Eddie's business.

JACK DEMPSEY WON IN FOURTH--BARBOUR

Official Timekeeper Says He Rang Bell for Beginning of Round

PECORD STICKS TO THIRD

Toledo, O., July 12.—A disagreement between Oliver Pecord and W. Warren Barbour, referee and timekeeper, respectively, of the Willard-Dempsey championship bout here on July 4, became public today when Pecord announced he had received a letter from Barbour in which Barbour declared the bout ended in the fourth round.

On the day following the bout, Pecord announced in his official capacity that the affair ended in the third round as the towel was thrown into the ring before the bell sounded for resumption of hostilities in the fourth.

According to the Barbour letter the bell rang for the fourth round before the token of defeat appeared on the scene.

Pecord said that in his reply to Barbour he will adhere to his original ruling on the ground that as the referee heard no bell and as neither boxer nor their handlers gave any indication of hearing it, the fight technically stopped at the conclusion of the third round. Referee Pecord is receiving letters from all over the country asking him for his opinion as to what round the fight terminated.

Frank B. Flournoy, Tex Rickard's associate in the promotion of the bout, today offered Pecord $500 for his services as referee. His contract is said to have called for $2500, but that in view of the fact that the promoters' profits were nominal the fee should be reduced. Pecord is holding out for $1000. Nathan Weinstein, the announcer, received $100.

SPENCER TO ENTER MOTOR-PACED GAME

Star Sprinter Makes Debut in Fifty-Mile Race at Velodrome Tonight

A new face in the world of motor pace will be introduced to the Quaker City cycle fans when Willie Spencer, the famous Canadian sprinter, makes his debut behind a motor at the Point Breeze Velodrome tonight. The brilliant rider has taken the place of youthful George Chapman in the fifty-mile paced grind tonight.

Percy Lawrence, American champion; Vincent Madonna, winner in his last four starts in Boston; Frank Corry, the speedy Australian, and the veteran Bobby Walthour, of Atlanta, will be the other starters in the long race. Rain stopped this race, which was scheduled for last Thursday night.

This is one of the best fields of riders in the game. Lawrence has taken four big races at the 'drome this season, while Madonna has been the sensation of the season at the Boston track.

Spencer's work will be watched closely. If he rides as well behind pace as he does in the sprint game he is certain to make it unpleasant for Lawrence, Wiley, Carman and the others during the rest of the year.

A match-sprint race between Frank Harris, of the Olympia C. C., of this city, and Eddie Taylor, of Newark, will be an added feature. Two amateur handicap events will complete the program.

CARMAN SETS RECORD

Star Rider Lowers Mark in Thirty-Mile Race at Providence

Providence, R. I., July 12.—Clarence Carman, former world's motorpace champion, lowered the record for the Providence bowl when he covered the thirty-mile motorpaced race here last night in forty-one minutes eight seconds. This shatters the former record by thirty-two seconds.

George Chapman, the Newark boy, was second, and Elmer Collins, of Lynn, Mass., was third.

Carman's last race here resulted in a win over Madonna in a match race. Carman's riding last night was the most spectacular of the season.

Nonpareil Regatta Tomorrow

New York, July 12.—The annual regatta of the Nonpareil Rowing Club will take place on the Harlem river tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 2:30. Six events comprise the program, with the eight-oared shell race as the feature. Seven members will start in the senior singles for the club championship.

Mrs. Smith Has Best Score

New York, July 12.—Mrs. Courtland Smith returned the best net score of 97-10-87 in leading home the field of twenty-eight women golfers in the monthly eighteen-hole handicap play of the Glen Ridge Club over its New Jersey course yesterday.

Boston Drivers Win Trophy

Wilmington, Del., July 12.—In the final matches of the Junior Harness League yesterday the Boston Athletic Association, won by the Boston Club with 38 points, by beating the Nassau and Delaware in the final heat.

DEMON GOLFER AND STAR CADDY

This is Eddie Styles, Old York Road, who played 180 holes of golf yesterday over his home course, making a score of four under 80. The caddy in the photograph is Vic Curtain, who traveled about thirty miles yesterday, about one-half the distance traversed by Styles

DEADLY K. O. FEARED BY ALL RING STARS

Ketchel, Chaney and Dundee Among Few Real Successful Comebacks—Baltimore Boy, Twice a Victim, Insists He Has Not Suffered From Reverses

By JAMES CAROLAN

THE deadly knockout—the terror of all the knights of the ring.

Every man who makes the ring game a business knows that he is going to "get it" some time. Just when this is they do not know. But the knockout is always feared.

The percentage of boys who quit the game after taking the ten count is much greater than the number who return to action after tasting of the dreaded, feared K. O.

Glancing through the long records of hundreds of knights of the ring, few have been found to come back. Stanley Ketchel did the unexpected when, after taking the count at the hands of Billy Papke, he came back a short time later and annexed the middleweight crown by stopping Papke. This does not happen often.

Leonard Came Back

Eddie O'Keefe and Eddie Moy came back after being stopped by Johnny Kilbane, but they never were the same. Patsy Cline and Willie Jackson are two who did some brilliant work after taking the count. Kilbane stopped Cline in two rounds and Jackson in five. But both lads were just beginning when nailed by the crafty Kilbane.

Benny Leonard passed out three times—twice at the hands of Frankie Fleming and once by Joe Shugrue. Leonard was virtually a novice when he walked into these veterans. Benny is one comeback who is a distinct success.

How about George Chaney? He is one of the rarest cases on record. A knockout person himself, a lad who has handed out more severe beatings than any other ring artist, this same Chaney himself twice has been the victim of the dreaded K. O.

Chaney Had Class

When Kilbane knocked out Chaney in three rounds a few years ago at Cedar Point, O., the Baltimore K. O. king was going at his best. Chaney passed out so early that he failed to take a real beating. He came back and came back strong.

Chaney did not allow this reverse to annoy him. He continued to meet the best, facing Dundee, Delaney, Tendler and all the boys willing to take him on. His greatest piece of work was against Lew Tendler at the National last September.

That was a great fight. Chaney went down for the count of nine in the third round. Few expected him to survive the battle. And what did George do? He not only revived hurriedly and showed such strength and hitting power that he had Tendler out standing up in the fourth round. That knockdown alone deprived Chaney of winning.

Passed Out Hurriedly

Chaney went good all winter. He never looked better. Then followed that second meeting with Tendler. Chaney never had a chance to show his class. Tendler flattened him in one minute and twelve seconds. Chaney took no punishment. He passed out quietly.

Chaney claims it does more harm to a fighter to take a beating than to suffer an early knockout. Neither of Chaney's cases were like what happened to Willard. The big Kansan was almost annihilated in ONE round. He was an open target and faced a terrific hitter. Willard is not likely to come back.

Chaney, through his manager, has asked for another meeting with Tendler. We have heard nothing from Willard headquarters about another session with Dempsey.

Tiplitz the Test

Chaney, however, must prove that he is not through. He meets Joe Tiplitz at Shibe Park on Monday night. Tiplitz boxes every day with Lew Tendler. Tiplitz has learned much from the great southpaw. If Tiplitz beats Chaney, then K. O. George will be forced to forget Tendler.

If he trounces Tiplitz, it would not be surprising to learn that Tendler was willing to give him another chance.

Another high-class boy who failed to hit the skids when stopped was Johnny Dundee. Willie Jackson put Dundee away in less than one round. Johnny took no punishment. His comeback effort was easy.

Gussie Lewis did well after being stopped quickly by Johnny Mealy. Mealy, following his knockout defeat by Kilbane, has failed to show form.

Scraps About Scrappers

No more boxing here until Monday night.

On the evening of July 11 there will be two shows, an all-star attraction at Shibe Park and a good card at the National A. A.

Promoter Phil Glassman will present Lew Tendler vs. Joe Welling, Harry Greb vs. Battling Levinsky, Ted (Kid) Lewis vs. Steve Latso, George Chaney vs. Joe Tiplitz and Harry Pierce vs. Eddie Moy at Shibe Park. Lew Grimsom, Frank (Dopi) O'Brien and William H. Rocap will do the refereeing.

Promoter Joe Griffo will have Young Joe Borrell and Wally Hinkle in the main bat, tle at the National. Johnny Piazzi and Jack Howle clash in the semiwind-up. The other bouts follow: Eddie Hood vs. Eddie Mitchell, Young Sherlock vs. Young Mack and Eddie Santry vs. Eddie Kirby.

At the Atlantic City Sporting Club next Thursday night Matchmaker Herman Taylor will have Frankie Brown and Freddie Brown in the wind-up. Willie Coulon and Victor Ritchie clash in the semifinal. The other bouts follow: Len Rowlands vs. Jim Booker and Jimmy Parker vs. Marty (Nick) Hayes.

Wild Burt Kenny. Tommy Markey's heavyweight hopes is likely to entertain in the main bout at the Atlantic City Sporting Club soon. It was reported yesterday that the Markey entry would face Panama Joe Gans at the shore club on the evening of July 24.

Eddie Kadane has broken into the boxing game. His first act was to burden himself with Joe Koons, the uptown lightweight. Koons's first start under his new manager may be at the shore in a few weeks against Wally Hinkle, the A. E. F. champion.

Frank Poth writes that he will be present when Tendler meets Joe Welling at Shibe Park Monday night. Critic Poth once wagered that Chaney would beat Tendler. Since then, however, he has changed, and now is one of Tendler's real boosters. Poth's chief coach and adviser is Jack Hagen, the former trainer of the Penn baseball team.

In a gymnasium that formerly was a ballroom, Pal Moore, the Memphis fantam, is finishing his training for his twenty-round battle with Jimmy Wilde in London on July 17. A block of 3500 medium-priced seats has been set aside for the use of American soldiers.

Harry (Kid) Brown will see action in the eight-round final before the Trenton A. C. at Trenton on Tuesday night. He will take on Eddie Welsh, a Trenton product. Joe Mendell vs. Smiling Ritchie, Joe Stanley vs. Young Angelo and Billy Davis vs. Joe Belmont complete the card.

Yankee Schwartz, the former fighter who appeared in one of the preliminaries to the Willard-Dempsey fracas with his fists stored away in Toledo, says there's nothing that will stop Harry Pierce from knocking out Eddie Moy on Monday night.

"This Irish Patsy" Cline is a good boy," said Yankee, "but he is much too fresh for me. This was proved last summer. Now Moy gave Cline a regular fight. I saw them both and I'm willing to bet the limit on this good old boy, Pierce."

Battling Levinsky showed that he was an improved boxer. In his last exhibition against Miske in Toledo on July 3 he had no trouble in outboxing the rugged Miske. Levinsky has been boxing much with Brittron of late and is absorbing plenty of the skillful work of the welter king.

Philadelphia Jack O'Brien's Health Studio is an active place at present. A flock of aspiring boys are round working out there every afternoon. Lew Tendler, Joe Tiplitz, Harry Pierce, Harry (Kid) Brown, Johnny Mealy, Tommy O'Malley, Ray O'Malley and dozens of others make this their headquarters.

CRUISERS COMPETE TODAY

Leading Delaware Yachts Meet for Commodore A. B. Cartledge Trophy

Leading cruisers will battle this afternoon for the Commodore A. B. Cartledge trophy. Two weeks ago, when the race was declared not to be a race, due to the fact that none of the yachtsmen entered covered the proper course, a rerace was ordered.

Today the yachtsmen will start at the Keystone Yacht Club, Tacony, run down the river to buoy 2, then up to buoy 21, and finish at the Anchor Yacht Club at Bristol. The courses measured at exactly twenty nautical miles.

MAIN LINERS READY FOR SECOND SERIES

First-Half Rivals, Dobson and Lansdowne, Come Together in Initial Encounter

STORE TEAMS TO MEET

Today's Baseball Games in the Little Leagues

Main Line League—Drexel Hill at Autocar; Dun & Co. at Narberth; J. & J. Dobson at Lansdowne.

Montgomery County League—Fort Washington at Doylestown; Norristown at Ambler; Newton at Sanderton; Southampton at Disston.

Philadelphia Suburban League—Glenside at Stenton; Overbrook at Textile; Reading at Lindley.

Petroleum League—Atlantic Refining at Sun; Gulf at Texas; Union at Crew-Levick.

Manufacturers' League—Lewis at U. G. I.; Franklin Printing at Stokes & Smith; Wheeler at Niles-Bement-Penn; Bement at Olsen.

Northeast Manufacturers' League—Disston at Fitler; Arsenal at Schwarz Wheel; Plumb at Pennsylvania Forge; Brock at Abrasive.

Delaware County League—Upper Darby at Media; Aldan at Clifton Heights; St. Charles at Morton.

Other games—Marshall E. Smith at Strawbridge & Clothier; West Philadelphia C. C. at Lit Brothers; Barnett at Stetson; Merchant Ship at Florence.

The second half of the Main Line League baseball schedule gets under way this afternoon, and the two clubs which waged a warm battle for first place honors in the initial setto are again billed to meet. J. & J. Dobson will oppose Lansdowne on the latter's grounds. The boys from the Falls are anxious to win, as the last time they came together the match ended in a dispute and was protested. The other section of the schedule reads: Dun & Co. at Narberth; Drexel Hill at Autocar.

The Disston team, of the Montgomery County League, will have to strengthen. Three successive defeats has put a dent in the Sawmakers, and, unless they can defeat Southampton, will drop from second to fourth place. The Norristown club has added new material, and Ambler will entertain this attraction on the home grounds.

First vs. Second Division

Once again the first and second division teams clash in the Manufacturers' League. Surprises are in order, as the second division nines are going in fine form. Of the twenty-six games dropped by the teams in division number two, statistics compiled by President Paul Brumfield show that fifteen were lost by a lone run.

The Franklin nine has yet to win a game. Out of their eight reverses, five were by a single marker. The Niles-Pond crowd at last has hit its stride and Wheeler can afford to take no chances in this afternoon's game.

The Disston-Fitler teams, runners-up in the Northeast Manufacturers' League, clash in the most important game in that organization. Glenside and Stenton, tied for first place in the Suburban League, come together and the tie for the lead will come to an end.

Store Nines to Clash

Two store nines that have been playing in fine form come together when the Marshall E. Smith and Strawbridge & Clothier aggregations clash on the latter's field. Manager Carroll has been successful with the Smith club all season and has beaten every team of any account at least once.

He expects to add another to his list and will pitch Mackey in an endeavor to win. Earnshaw, the big Southampton twirler from George School, again will do duty for Manager Truitt, and expects to keep up his good work.

The Lit Brothers nine has received a shaking up after the first defeat of the season sustained last Saturday at the hands of Nativity, and Manager Jermon is anxious to begin all over again. They will meet the strong West Philadelphia C. C., at Forty-fourth street and Parkside avenue, and Barney Slaughter will again be on hand to pitch.

At Fourth street and Montgomery avenue the Stetson Hatmakers will oppose the Barrett crowd. Barrett has been playing independent ball this year and has a fast club. Tom Friday will pitch for Stetson.

MARIE WAGNER STARS

Former Indoor Champion Gains Berth in Three Final Rounds

New York, July 12.—As the result of her clever work with the racquet, Miss Marie Wagner, the former indoor titleholder, became a finalist yesterday in the women's singles and doubles of the eastern New York state championship tennis tournaments which are being decided on the courts of the Mt. Pleasant Club at Pleasantville.

REDS VICTORS IN 15 OF LAST 18 BATTLES

Pat Moran's Club, Here Today Against Phils, Has Been Traveling at .833 Clip Since June 27

TIED FOR FIRST PLACE

By EDWIN J. POLLOCK

THE Fitchburg fighter, with his Cincinnati clubbers, is in our midst today. We have with us one Patrick Moran and a flock of real ball players who exhibit in the first of a four game series with our Phils here this afternoon.

It will be teammate against teammate, and friend against friend when the Reds and Phils come to blows, but friendship and sentiment count for nothing on the ball field. Pat Moran is fighting to get an iron grip on first place, and Gavvy Cravath is struggling to make a showing with his crippled and downtrodden club.

Running neck and neck with McGraw and the Giants for the league lead the Reds have been showing a courage against odds that has made them the talk of the circuit. The recent spurt of the Cincinnati clubbers has carried them to victory in fifteen of their last eighteen contests.

Herrmann's club has played eighteen games for an average of .883. Pat Moran is at the top and he intends to move out of town still on the top. There will be thoughts of other things besides friendship and sentiment when the down easter and far-westerner clash.

Sicking Fails

THE Phils dropped another battle yesterday, their thirtieth in thirty-four starts, but the club showed a lot of life and fight. The Cubs took their third of the series, 6-3, but certainly they knew they were in a ball game.

The failure of Eddie Sicking to come through with a little hit had considerable to do with the lost pastime. On three occasions the former Giant came to bat when a hit meant a run or a couple.

The Cubs got two of their half dozen markers off Gene Packard, but it was the counters registered while Bradley Hogg was on the hill that threw the verdict to the Chicago aggregation. Up to the sixth Hogg allowed only one hit, but then he got into trouble by passing Bill Killefer in the sixth with none out.

Before Bradley left the mound at the end of the sixth, a single by Carter, a home run by Flack, a walk and Pick's double sent four Cubs dashing over the disk. Bradley gave way to Packard at the end of the inning, but the damage already was done.

A's Turn to Win

THE White Sox got a good grip on first place by taking their fourth straight from the A's, 7-1, while the Indians were handing the Yankees a 5-1 beating. The Windy City club is now two and a half box scores to the north of New York.

The A's have lost six in a row and it is their turn to win at St. Louis this afternoon. It was the third time this season that the men of Mack have dropped a half dozen games in succession, but they never have gone above that mark in straight defeats.

Scott Perry hurled again and lost again, and now the eternal question has turned from "What's the matter with the A's?" to "What's the matter with Perry?" The answer is that Perry is far from the pitcher he was last season. Not once this year, with the possible exception of his opening game of the campaign against Walter Johnson in Washington, has the big westerner looked like the Perry of 1918.

Bingles and Bungles

"This bird, Blackburne," advised the guy with the brown derby as he bent the merry elbow at the corner drug store, "looks like a smart ball player even if he does come from Palmyra, N. J."

It was a Mama's size double that lifted in the Ansil run of the ninth at the Phils' park.

How can a regular Manx a Nick Carter, a Square Deal and a Pick Rogers remain on the same club at the same time?

The fans urged Sicking to sick 'em yesterday. Sicking sicked 'em, but couldn't soak 'em.

But Max Flack could fork out. The club outfielder cleared the bases of two runners with his homer in the sixth.

Pat Moran got a lot of publicity when he was released by Baker and he was assertised into a job with the Reds. Pat is a firm believer in the slogan "It pays to advertise." Page Harry Brooding.

The V's are getting plenty of hits, but hits are like Hesp when they don't drive in enough runs. They haven't the kick.

Don't ever tell Pat Moran thirteen is unlucky. The Reds won a ball game in the thirteenth yesterday.

The official statistician won't need a Burroughs adding machine to count Dick Burrus's hits.

Al Baird may be a pretty sweet fielder, but he has a long distance to travel before he catches up with Doug Baird, of the Phils. The difference between them is ninety miles.

"A man may be down, but he's never out." The Yanks were knocked down by the Indians and put out of first place by the White Sox.

It's only natural that Wheat remains in the field, but Wheat may be moved to the bushes if Zach continues to hold the ball and allowing a home run after fielding a single.

Judge couldn't get the decision for Washington yesterday, but he tried hard with a couple of base hits and a stolen base.

Al Demaree had his usual horseshoe and supply of rosin yesterday. He hurled two innings against the Reds and held the Cincinnati clubbers from the scoring station.

The Pirates and Dodgers are pinning tag with fourth place. The Buccaneers are it today. How long, oh, Barney, how long?

George Burns had a home run and a single yesterday. But it was McGraw's Gawge.

Jess Barnes beat the Cards for the second time in his life yesterday. Jess isn't the only one who beats the Cards only occasionally.

From the way things are breaking now there's not a chance for the Reds to get blue these days.

Local fans are anxious to see Greasy Neale in action on the bases. Grease should be some slider.
