

Y HELPS SOLDIERS TO GET THEIR PAY

Whereabouts of Philadelphians Sought in Effort to Give Money to Whom It Belongs

WRONG ADDRESSES CITED

Information concerning the present whereabouts of persons believed to be living in Philadelphia is being sought by the soldiers' remittance bureau of the National War Work Council, Y. M. C. A., to facilitate the payment of sums of money entrusted to the "Y".

These remittances are part of the 614 which remained undelivered June 26, out of the 335,514, aggregating $20,580,242.20 handled for the doughboys by the "Y" since January 1, 1918.

The total of undelivered remittances represents one-third of 1 per cent of the entire amount handled. In every case inability to clear remittances is due to incorrect or incomplete addresses or the disappearance of payees without trace.

Four months ago, with a total of 1650 undelivered remittances, the Y. M. C. A. appealed to the press of the country for assistance in locating payees.

Since that time, through the publicity given these cases by the newspapers, the total has been reduced by more than 1000.

Cable advices from Europe indicate that, in spite of the dwindling of the American expeditionary force, 1005 additional remittances, totaling more than $100,000, are on their way to this country from the men of the highest paid and the most thrifty army in the world.

The Y. M. C. A. has conducted its remittance service without charge for the benefit of American soldiers in France, England, Germany, Russia and Siberia.

Following are the names and given addresses of the persons in this district for whom checks are being held at the "Y" remittance bureau's office, 347 Madison avenue, New York:

Mrs. Sarah Robert, general delivery, Eighteenth and Christian streets, Philadelphia, Pa., payee; John C. Hobert, corporal, Company 1, 320th Infantry, remitter.

A. M. Watts, 113 Chestnut avenue, Ardmore, Pa., payee; George J. Barnes, Y. M. C. A. secretary, remitter.

Mrs. H. Barclay, 215 South Third street, Calmar, Pa., payee; Clinton H. Barclay, corporal, Company E, First Engineers, remitter.

Andy Covaleski, Lincolnville, Pa., via Riceville, R. F. D. 6, payee; John Covaleski, private, Company M, Eighteenth Infantry, remitter.

Earl Gross, North Eighth street, Philadelphia, Pa., payee; Paul Wallick, Battery A, Seventeenth Field Artillery, remitter.

PORTO RICO YOUTHS HERE AS STOWAWAYS

U. S. Ship Brings Lads Who Boarded Craft and Hid in Lifeboat

With a loaf of bread, some sweets and a few bananas for provisions, William Dinkins, aged sixteen, and Felix Cabrera, a year younger, set sail about a week ago in an open boat from Ponce, P. R., and arrived here yesterday.

The fast passage is accounted for because the boat in which they took passage was in secure lashings on the upper deck of the American steamship Watauga, and was part of her gear.

Two other stowaways, Theodore Damasco, aged fifty-five years, who was found hiding in the forecabin of the Watauga, and Leopold Rentas, who was discovered lying on top of a boiler in the engine room of the same boat, are also detained at the Gloucester station awaiting deportation.

They were taken to the Gloucester station and held there until the arrival of the Watauga being a freighter, there were no passengers who might come near, and it was seldom that anybody passed their hiding place.

"The right man in the right place." The vocational service bureau for discharged soldiers and sailors conducted by the Jewish welfare board, whose headquarters are at 1616 Master street, has adopted the principle of selection used in army conscription in order to put the best men in the best jobs.

The bulletin published by the bureau indicates the type of men who have applied for jobs and details their ability. The bulletin is placed in the hands of industrial managers who need men.

Jobs are desired by men who come from every station in life and who want every variety of work—from laboring to the highest type of managerial service.

An application for a secretaryship is asked by a man who is a graduate of the Wesleyan College, Ireland, and also of South African College, Cape Town, Africa. He is familiar with European and African trade and is conversant in all the African dialects and in French and German.

Sales managers, auditors, painters, paper hangers, electricians, salesmen and general office help make up a small portion of the long list of applicants for work.

GRAIN WASTE HINTS GIVEN TO FARMERS

1,000,000 Bushels Lost Each Year Due to Inefficiency, Says Agriculture Department

BOOKLETS ARE GIVEN FREE

How to avoid grain waste in thrashing, an important national farm loss, is the subject of a farmers' bulletin released today by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Every important grain state has been losing more than 1,000,000 bushels of grain each year because of inefficient thrashing methods, according to the department, with the result that last year the government saved 22,000,000 bushels of grain in twenty-one states by calling the farmers' attention to the enormous losses. The bulletin declares that, with wheat worth $2.26 a bushel, it is necessary to prevent the average loss of eight bushels to the farm.

Here are the anti-waste rules: "First of all—thrash efficiently. "Take the shock rows. Use tight-bottom bundle wagons. Use tight wagon boxes when hauling loose grain. Clean up around machine at end of job. Spread large canvas on ground under feeder to catch grain which shatters out in the process of feeding, and that which leaks out around front end of machine.

"Ask for Farmers' Bulletin 991 and 1036. They are free. Address Division of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. "If the machine fails to separate all the grain from the straw," continues the bulletin, "it is usually due to one or more of the following reasons: The machine is not being run at its proper speed; it is being crowded beyond its capacity; the cylinder fails to thrash all the kernels out of the heads for reasons already stated; the machine is not level; or the blast is not properly adjusted. A good deal of the trouble experienced by the thrasher is due to neglect to read the manufacturer's instructions."

The primary purpose of these, says Doctor Krusen, is "to hoodwink the public, obtain money under false pretense of a cure and create a false impression of fear among those affected with social diseases."
