

Aeronautical Wedding and Boundary-Circling Plane Feature Day's Review of Aerial Events

MISS DIANA WERTHEIM and Virginia, entrants at the recent Monmouth County (N. J.) Horse Show.

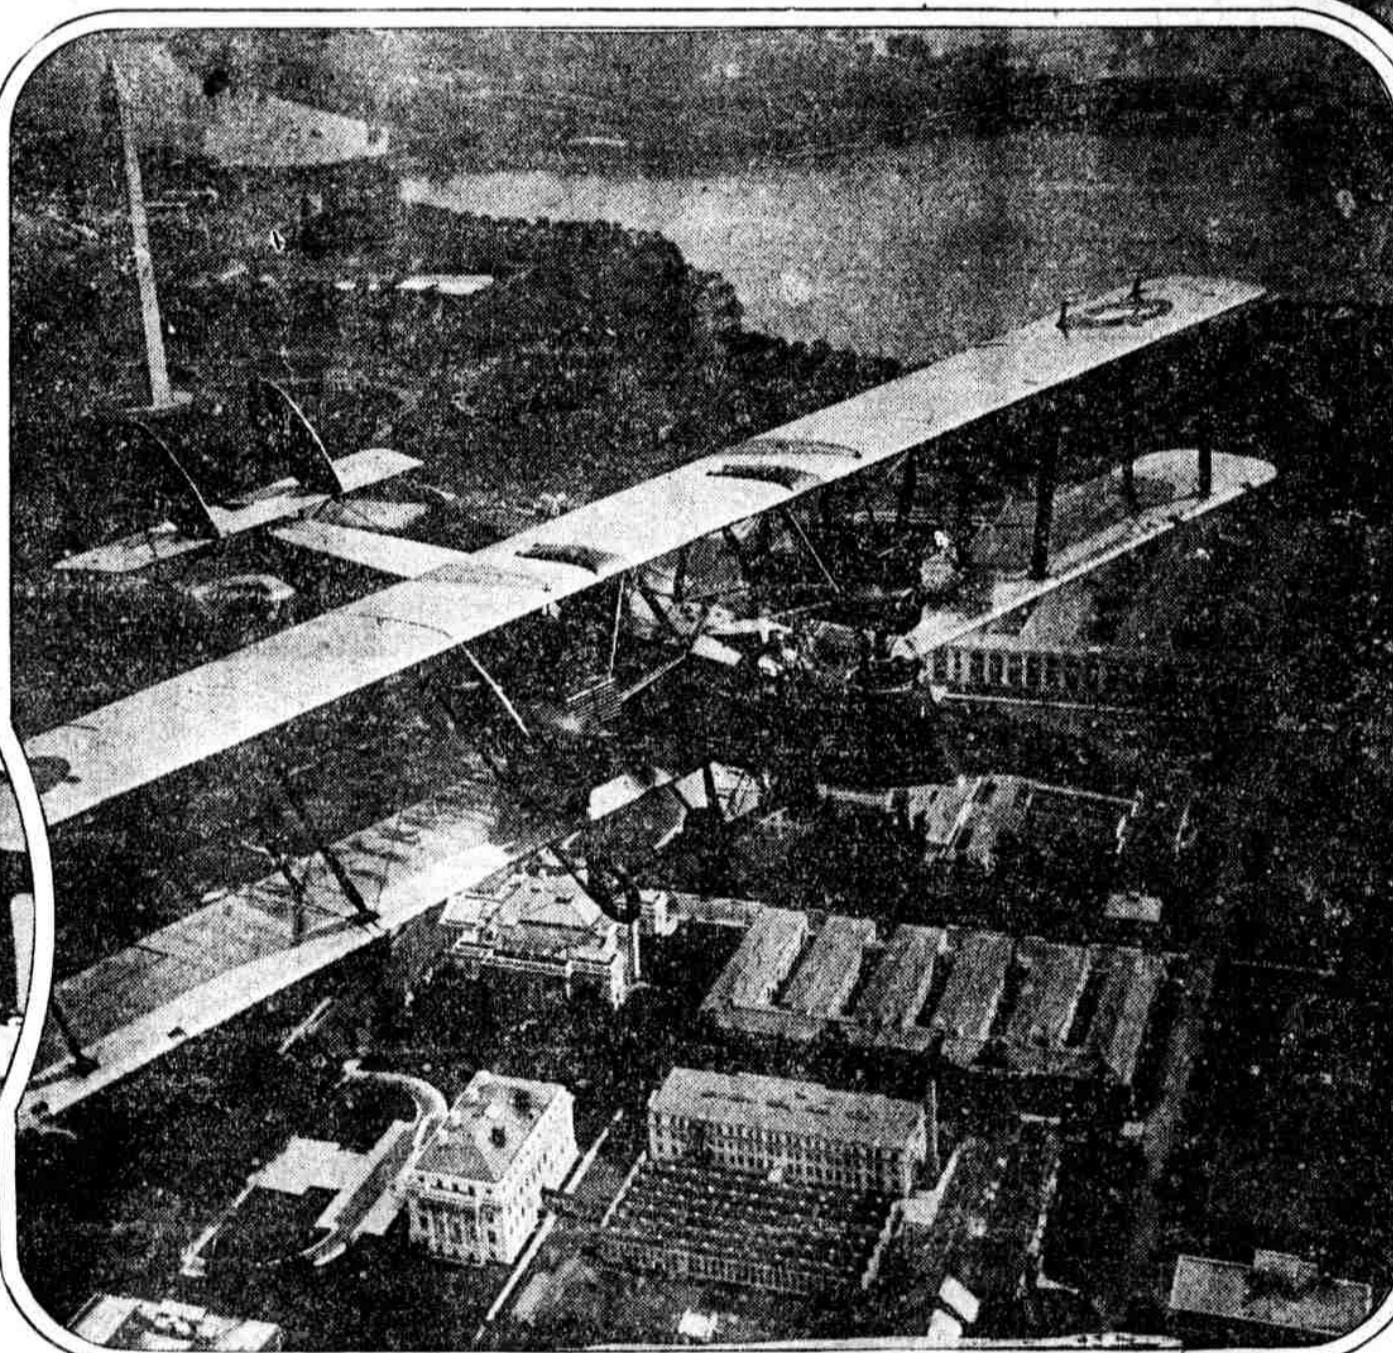

NATATORIAL MILLINERY worn by Miss Dorothy Buckley at the bathers' parade held at the Tidal Basin beach at Washington. Prize cups were presented to the prettiest girl and to the one wearing the best costume.

CHUMS—VICE PRESIDENT THOMAS R. MARSHALL and his adopted son, Morrison Marshall, idol of his adopted parents.

JUST BEFORE the Honeymoon Express left prosaic earth at the army aviation field at Washington and flew into the celestial blue with Lieutenant J. Elwood Boudin and bride.

THE GREAT Martia Bomber, which has started on a trip around the boundary of the United States, passing over the national capital. An unusual view made from another airplane.

MRS. JOHN A. HOAGLAND and Miss Ethel Hodges, of Dallas, Texas, on the flying boat which left New York for Atlantic City for the first commercial passenger flight from New York to the shore city. The pilot is Robert W. Hewitt.

OFF ON an aerial honeymoon. Lieutenant J. Elwood Boudin and bride climbing into the Honeymoon Express at Bolling Field, Washington, while his fellow officers at the army aviation field showered them with wedding confetti. Of course, the lieutenant refused to tell his destination.

NOT STUMPED, merely resting on one—Henry Ford, after the wearing days in court, where his libel suit is being heard, takes daily walks across country and around the outskirts of Mount Clemens, Michigan, where the trial is in progress.

AN AERIAL wedding was a feature of the New York Police Field Day Meet at Sheepshead Bay Speedway. At the left is Chaplain A. Woutser, Lieutenant George Burgess, the groom; Miss Milly K. Schaefer, the bride; Miss Doris Schob, the bridesmaid, and Commander Archie Miller, of Hazelhurst Field. They are the first couple to be married in the air.
