

Veterans Home From Siberia: Screen Champions: Senatorial Whips: Denouncing High Rentals

THE YOUNG PEOPLE of the secretary of war's household, Jack, Betty and Peggy, children of Newton D. Baker

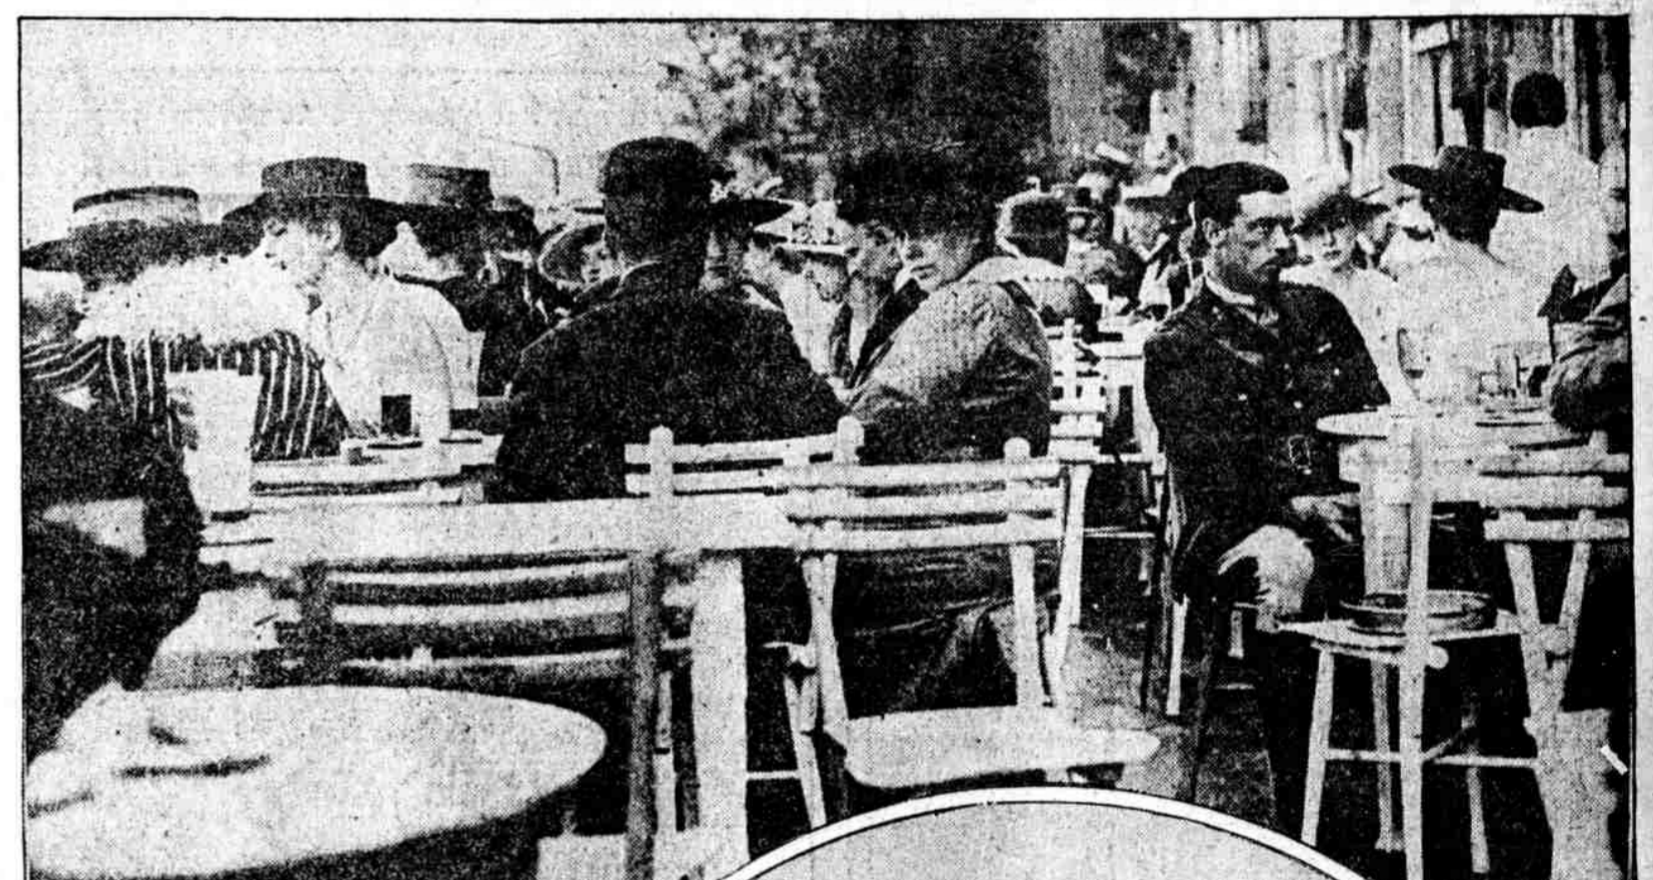

AMERICAN TROOPS who have crossed the Pacific cheer quite as enthusiastically at sight of the homeland as soldiers who have come over the Atlantic to native shores. These doughboys have just arrived in San Francisco on the transport Thomas from Siberia under command of Lieutenant J. P. Devry, standing at the right foreground

SENATOR CHARLES CURTIS, of Kansas, Republican whip, demonstrating to Senator Peter Goelet Gerry, of Rhode Island, Democratic whip, how he keeps his party in line. His posture indicates the use of forceful argument

JACK DEMPSEY, the new heavyweight champion, went to the Pacific coast to consult with Douglas Fairbanks about his movie career. Charlie Chaplin is sure he can carry the two off their feet

A CAFE SCENE of peacetime aspect in Bonn, Germany. There is a sharp contrast between cities occupied by the Allies and those outside the military zone; peace and prosperity are in evidence in the first, want and unrest in the others

PROTESTING AGAINST profiteering landlords—a noonday meeting of Kensington shipyard workers of the Tenants' Protective Association. H. V. Kenny, president of the North Philadelphia branch, addressing the open-air assemblage

MISS MARY FRANCES LITTELL, daughter of Brigadier General and Mrs. I. W. Littell, whose engagement to Commander George S. Bryan, U. S. N., has been announced in Washington
