

'Y' WORKERS HOME; GET BIG WELCOME

Men and Women in Group of 745 Who Arrive Here on U. S. S. Haverford

BANDS BLARE GREETING

A welcome in which whistles, cheers and music blended in an outburst of enthusiasm was extended more than 745 men and women "Y" workers who arrived here today from overseas on the transport Haverford.

This was the first delegation of all "Y" workers to reach this city. Among the contingent were thirteen Philadelphians.

They had everything that goes with a hearty homecoming, including a brass band and hundreds of wireless kisses from the dock as the ship docked at Washington avenue wharf.

The transport, which came from Brest, carried a cosmopolitan passenger list.

201 Women Aboard

Of the "Y" workers aboard 201 were women. The Philadelphians on the transport were Miss Julia Williamson, Miss Irene Tanker, Miss Ruth Roeder, Miss Margaret Hutchins, George Sherman, F. H. Lovejoy, Miss Dorothy Mullen, Miss Esther Lloyd, Miss Louise Snowden, Harry Hanley, Thomas Atkinson and Edward Rushton.

Lovejoy lives at 4539 Springfield avenue and was editor of a paper called Knots which was published daily on the way home.

There were also two Russian boys, a Belgian girl and a German police dog on board.

The workers were in charge of Dr. Edward B. Dean, of Northfield, Minn., who was stationed at the Paris headquarters.

Ashbridge Greets Transport
The police boat Ashbridge, carrying relatives and friends of the workers, greeted the transport far down the river and accompanied it to the dock.

A band was on the pier and several speeches of welcome were made.

Refreshments were served following the inspection of baggage by the customs officials.

The relatives and friends of many out-of-town workers arrived in this city yesterday and went down the river on the welcome-home boat.

J. F. Keeler was in charge of the reception for the Y. M. C. A.

The Minnesotan, of the American-Hawaiian Line, which left Brest July 23 for Newport News, but was diverted at sea to this port, is due here on Sunday.

On board are, the following units: Fourth Military Train, Ambulance Company 19, with fifty-one officers and 651 men; Fifty-second Telegraph Battalion, ten officers, 152 men; Third Corp. Military Police, seven officers, 191 men; 332d Military Train, two officers, seventy-seven men; 311th Repair Unit, seven officers, 151 men. The following casual companies: 27th, with five officers, 100 men; 2783d, two officers, 101 men; 2789th, three officers, 143 men; 2770th, three officers, 150 men; 3205th, three officers, 140 men, and 3210th, three officers and twenty-seven men.

HOUSE RAIDED SECOND TIME

Man and Eight Guests Again Accused of Gambling

A raid was made today on an alleged gambling house near Eighteenth street and Ridge avenue. The reputed proprietor, John Hughes, and eight other men were arrested.

On July 25, a raid was made on the same house and the same men taken into custody. Both raids were made by City Hall Detectives Boland and Dougherty. When last arrested the defendants were given a hearing before Magistrate Pennock, and all discharged, except Hughes. After a further hearing he, also was discharged.

The men arrested last night were: Frederick Mansfield, North Colorado street; Owen Hughes, Sides street; Albert Redmond, Aspen street; Michael Kolman, North Fifth street; Monte Britt, Ridge avenue; Joseph Mallen, Ridge avenue; Alexander Strong, North Sixth street; Benjamin Kroenber, North Twelfth street.

PORT BOOMER GOES ABROAD

W. O. Hempstead, of Maritime Exchange, Will Tour Europe

William O. Hempstead, director of the Bourse and the Maritime Exchange, left today for a seven-weeks' trip through Europe, where he will "spread the news of the great port we have here in Philadelphia."

Mr. Hempstead, who has been interested in port development here for years, said:

"I expect to enter Germany through Holland, and visit many of the important manufacturing cities, paying particular attention to conditions that prevail in Hamburg and Bremen.

"In addition to visiting Germany, I also will spend some time in Holland, Denmark and England. Business and industrial conditions in these countries undoubtedly have changed much since the close of the war."

Y. M. C. A. WORKERS HOME FROM OVERSEAS

The largest group of "Y" workers to return on one boat—more than 700 men and women—arrived here today on the transport Haverford. Among the contingent were thirteen Philadelphians, the others coming from all over the United States and will leave the city as soon as the necessary transportation arrangements are made.

MORE SACCHARIN ARRESTS

Campaign Started to Stop Practice of Adulterating Food

More arrests of bakers, manufacturers of candy, soft drinks and ice cream for using saccharin as sweetening in their products are expected in this city. Twenty-two arrests have already been made.

A state-wide campaign to prosecute persons adulterating food with saccharin was announced, following a conference here of officials of the state Department of Agriculture and of the food bureau in the office of State Chemist Charles H. LaWall, 39 South Tenth street.

Saccharin has recently dropped from the war price of $42 to $46 a pound to $6 a pound. One pound of saccharin is equal to 525 pounds of sugar when used in food or drinks, but government investigations have shown that bad effects result from its use.

"SLAIN GIRL" IS HOAX

Coroner Inspects "Victim of Foul Play" and Finds Dummy

Quakertown, Pa., Aug. 1.—Coroner Howard P. White wants to congratulate the clever sculptor who moulded the figure of a young woman and placed it along a stream at California, a village near here, making it look so realistic that the finders of the image suspected foul play and sent to Doylestown for the coroner.

The sculptured form was smeared with a red substance and partly hidden by foliage. A knife was placed at its side. When Coroner White and an undertaker investigated, after children had reported the "gruesome" find, they discovered the hoax.

ARMY HOSPITAL IS CLOSED

Cape May Structure to Resume Pre-war Status as Hotel

Cape May, N. J., Aug. 1.—The United States Army General Hospital No. 11 closed its doors here today after being in service since December, 1917. The building, owned by Nelson Z. Graves, of Philadelphia, was formerly the Hotel Cape May. During its occupancy by the army the capacity was 800 patients.

Many successful operations, unknown to the medical world before, were performed by Major Charles H. Frazier, head surgeon, and his staff. The annual rental paid by the government was $30,000. The interior of the structure will be thoroughly remodeled, and next season will resume its pre-war status.

ILLNESS IS BLAMED FOR WOMAN'S SUICIDE

Husband, Former Ensign, Identifies Wife Who Ended Life in Chestnut Street Hotel

SWOONS ON SEEING BODY

Illness which unbalanced her mind is believed to have been responsible for the suicide of Mrs. Stella Parkin yesterday at the Continental Hotel.

The woman was the wife of George Parkin, formerly an ensign in the navy. He identified the body last night at the morgue after an all-day search. Parkin collapsed on seeing the body. Mr. and Mrs. Parkin formerly lived at 1337 Boston street, Parkin is in the automobile repair business at 2415 North Broad street. When he entered the service, Mrs. Parkin brooded over his absence and could not be comforted. During the war she lived with her mother, Mrs. Stella Fulde, 5548 De Laney street.

Early Wednesday evening she kissed her husband goodbye, saying she was going to stay all night at her mother's. She went to the De Laney street address and yesterday morning, got up early and left, saying she was going to walk through the park. When Parkin called to see her at noon and she was still away, he became alarmed and started a search.

Mrs. Parkin shot herself in the temple at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, in a woman's dressing-room on the second floor of the hotel. The body was found by Nettie Stephens, an employe, lying on the floor, a .32-caliber revolver still clutched in her right hand.

Before killing herself the woman made every effort to avoid identification.

Drowned Boy's Body Brought Here
The body of fifteen-year-old Robert Forrester, Mt. Airy Boy Scout, who drowned in Lake Champlain a week ago, has been recovered and sent to the home of his parents, at 116 West Gorgas lane. Forrester and his fifteen-year-old chum, Warren Conrad, 117 West Gorgas lane, lost their lives when their rowboat sank. Conrad's body has not yet been recovered.

United Business Men's Association Asks Factions to Act

The United Business Men's Association has sent a letter to the Republican Alliance, the Republican City Committee, the Town Meeting party and the Democratic City Committee, requesting that a transit plank be included in the platforms of each of these organizations and suggesting the following clause:

"We pledge our organization to prompt and progressive action toward the construction and operation of the high-speed transit facilities for Philadelphia and protecting the legal rights of the citizens of Philadelphia in transit matters."

Hearing on Ten-Cent Carfare
Harrisburg, Aug. 1.—The Public Service Commission has arranged to list all complaints against the ten-cent fare of the Pittsburgh Railways Company for hearing at Pittsburgh on August 20. The city and a number of boroughs have filed complaints.

The crew of the Clan Gordon, forty-seven of whom were Cingalese, were floundering about in the water when boats from the Abangarez were sent to their aid. Three of the ship's company sank before the rescuers reached them.

Don't Be Misled by "Success" Stories

The success of great men who made good without an education should not make a young man, lacking practical business knowledge, confident that hard work alone will bring success to him.

Those men have all had occasion—more than once—to deplore their lack of education. They would have become more successful—more easily and quickly—had they possessed the knowledge of business that the young man of today can acquire at school.
