

Big Four of Rooster World : Destroying Army Airplanes : Boston Babies : Selling War Bacon

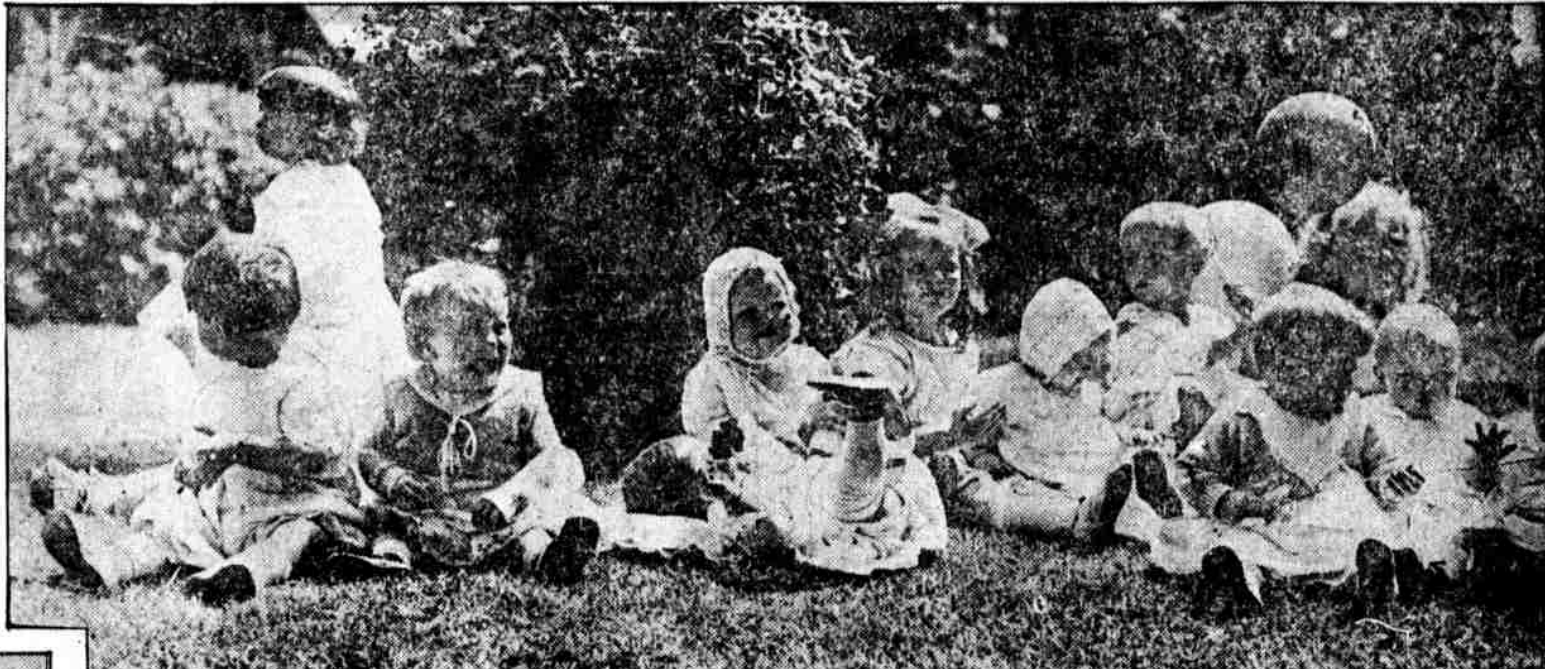

Ledger Photo Service...

MISS ELIZABETH PITT CAMPBELL, daughter of Representative and Mrs. P. P. Campbell, of Kansas, whose engagement to Captain Burdette Shields Wright, of the aircraft division, has been announced in Washington.

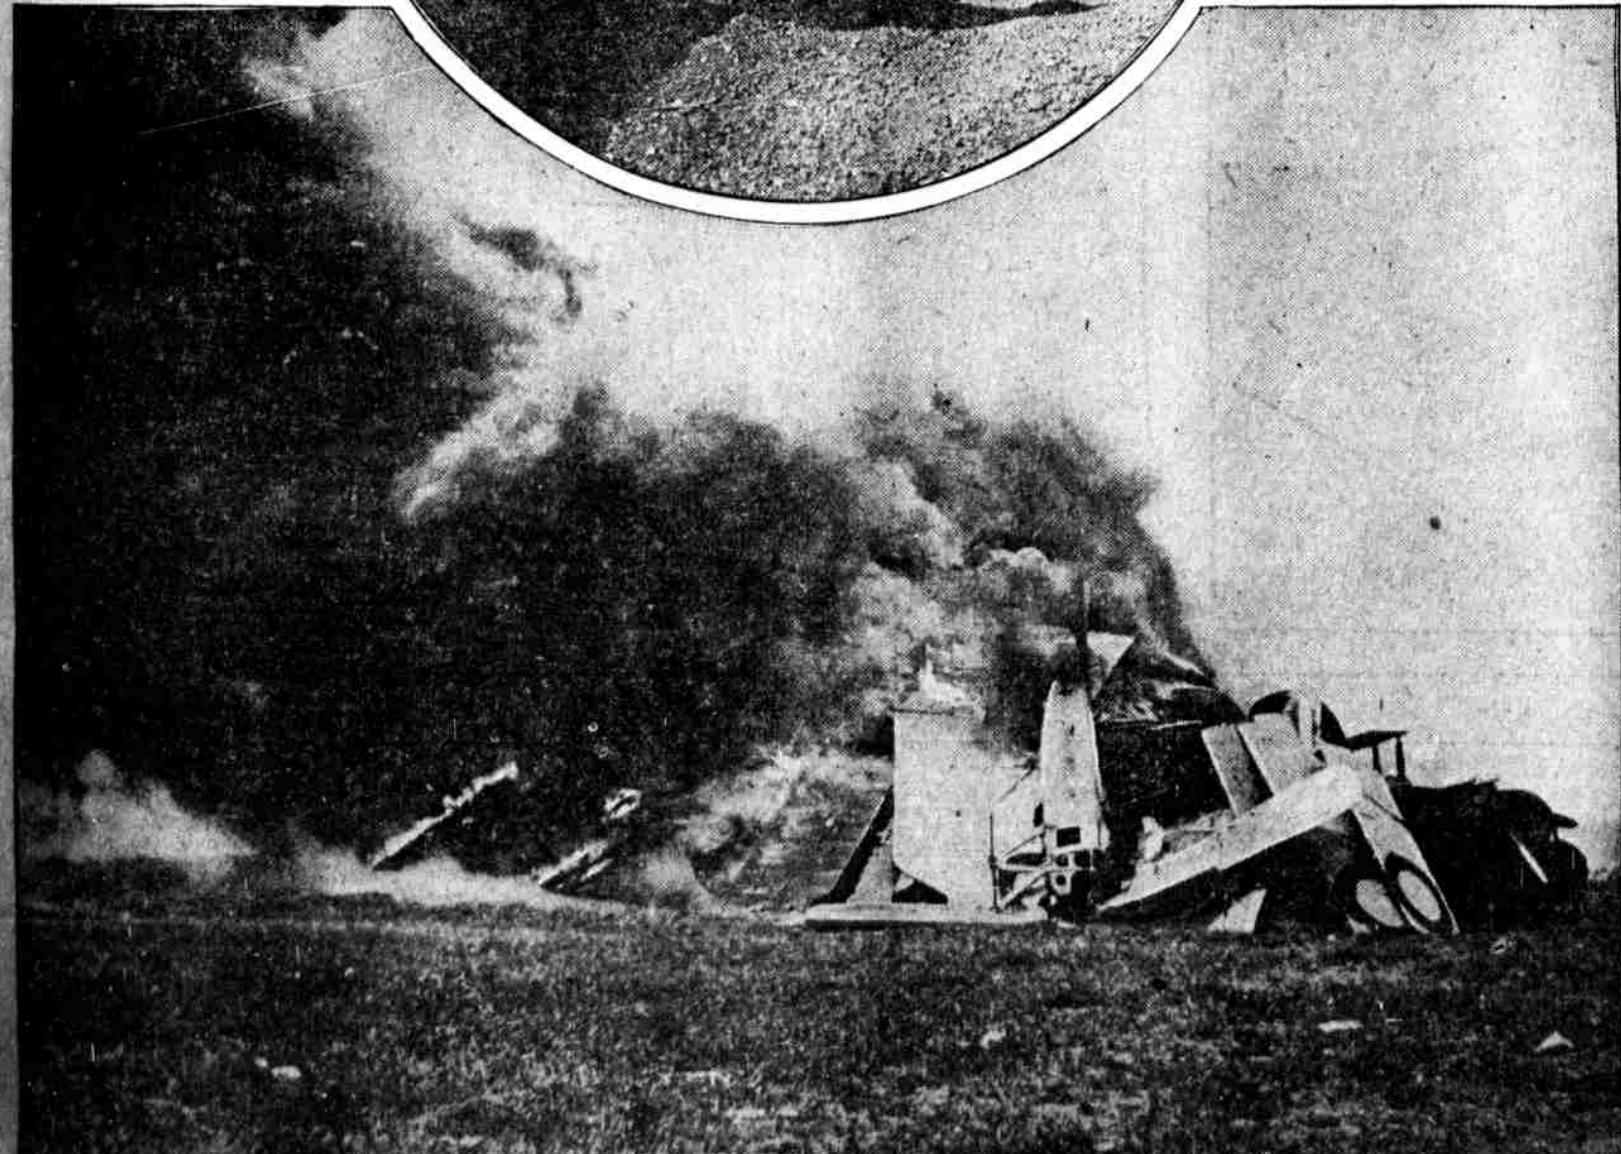

FRED STONE, well-known comedian, downing a bull after an exciting contest at the Cheyenne (Wyo.) Frontier Days' Annual Round-Up.

THE PRESIDENT presents the world's most famous roosters, "Lloyd George," "Clemenceau," "Orlando" and "Wilson," to a delegation of Alabama citizens, who will in turn sell the proud birds at auction in hope of raising $200,000 for a Dixie Highway bridge across the Tombigbee river. The birds, in gilded cages, and the delegation will tour Alabama in a special train. In the view the rooster named after the President is being shown on a tray. Senator S. H. Bankhead is at the Chief Executive's right.

BABIES—pacifists and militants—entered for prizes in the baby parade and show at Norumbega Park, Boston, on the lawn just before the judging. Not only Boston but many outlying towns and cities had their infant representatives in the show.

PILE OF army airplanes, alleged to be in good condition, burning at Colombey-les-Belles, France. Congress is investigating the reason for the averred wasteful destruction by army officers.

REDUCING LIVING costs in Newark, N. J. Mayor Charles P. Gillen selling bacon purchased by the city from the War Department. More than 12,000 pounds were disposed of at a price about fourteen cents a pound less than that charged at retail stores.