Record Crowd of 40,000 Sees Nehf, $40,000 Hurler. Humbled, and Same Gallery Views Fall of Douglas as Reds Take Twin Bill

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL

New York, Aug. 14

NEW YORK'S pennant hopes were soaked twice by the same place yesterday afternoon when the Cincinnati Reds swiped all of the games played on the Polo Grounds. The men of Jawn McGraw were outclassed, and the scores are no indication of the breach which separates the playing ability of the contending teams. The Reds should have scored at least five more runs in the first fracas, but sensational catches ruined gally after rally. In the second it was more of the same, although the Giants played better baseball. At any rate, Pat Moran and his fighting athletes are six and one-half games ahead of their rivals and this means a whole lot with the season half over.

Yesterday's conflicts proved how valueless money is when it is used to purchase talent with which to win a pennant. Arthur Nehf, who was purchased for the trifling sum of $40,000, was knocked galler west in the opener, and a poor old has been who wouldn't bring in thirty cents on the open market-meaning Jean Dubue-rushed into the battle to save the day, which he didn't. I'hil Douglas, another expensive person, was given the cooloo in the final tilt, thus spreading gloom all over the big city. Those two pitching phenoms were expected to win easily.

A flock of east-offs, has been and one-legged, glass-armed gents who were not good enough for the fast set-necording to some managers-just soaked the tar out of the high-priced troupe. Jake Daubert, east adrift by Brooklyn, played first base as it never has been played before, and Morris Rath, Billy Kopf, Bill Rariden, Eddie Roush, Slim Sallee and Walt Ruether, to say nothing of Sherwood (Soakem) Magor, all of whom had been given the gate, performed like champions.

To us it looked as if they made the Giants quit. They never let up on their attack and won out in each contest after the New Yorkers had taken the lead. In the opener, two runs were chalked up by the Giants in the second frame and the Reds came back in the third with three. In the final, Gonzales scored the first run of the game in the third when he stole home, and Moran's men made two markers in the fourth.

THE visitors refused to be heaten and played harder when in the ruck. The Giants, on the other hand, took things easy and appeared to be satisfied with second honors. They loafed on the base lines. zeldom ran out infield hits and did not show much pep and aggressiveness. Unless they take a brace. Cincinnati is likely to cop the

Record Crowd for Polo Grounds

Two things worked against McGraw yesterday. It was the thirteenth of the month and it didn't rain. Had old Jupe been on the job, or even St. Swithin, there would have been no ball games and Moran never would have obtained that six-and-one-half-game lead. Perhaps it will rain today and save the Gothamites from further humiliation. No matter what way you look at it, the Reds have the big towners winging and apparently have their Angoras. Moran's men are all keyed up and are out there to win-

The natives were aroused and some 40,000 of them gambled with the weather to furnish local color for the act. It was the largest growd that ever attended a ball game on the Polo Grounds, the previous record being 38,281, made in the opening game of the world series in 1911, when the Athletics played the Ginnis. The mob was partisan, too, but not very offensive. All of the visiting athletes were given the raspherry, but it ended there Sherwood Magee said he was handed a flock of vacant pop bottles when he caught a fly ball in the first game, but Sherry sometimes exaggerates. We saw nothing like that. But it was a saddened crowd which wended its way from the ball yard, and if another double defeat is handed out, it will be good night to

Perhaps a good reason for the huge turnout was the actors' strike, which is the principal topic of conversation in these parts. The thespians and their Simon Legree managers declared a truce for the afternoon and say side by side cheering the home club. At the end of the ninth inning ruthless warfare was resumed. George Cohan took four of his denouncers out to the game

There were many out-of-town fans at the contest, and a delegation of Philadelphians, consisting of Frank Mackin, congratulated Moran at the to challenge the blackbanders who threatened to knock Pat for a goal if he won the first pair of games. There was no

MORAN juggled his pitchers properly, ran his ball club as it should be run, took chances when necessary and played it safe when the occasion demanded and took the huedles without missing

Benny Kauff a Defensive Hero

THE result of the first game was a sad blow to McGraw. Jawn had it all doped out to use his left handers to stop the southpaw batting of the Reds, but those guys can hit any old kind of pitching. After Nehf had been chased, the peppery manager decided to save Benton for another day and rive Phil Douglas a chance. Today Benton will start the first game, and Toney will try his hand in the nightcap if he is in shape. Fred suffered a sunstroke when in St. Louis and has not yet recovered. Fisher and Ring are the likely candidates for Moran.

Benny Kauff saved the day for New York several times in the first game with sensational catches. In the third, with three on base and two out, he came in on Sherry Magee's Texas leaguer over second, made a diving, shoestring catch and retired the side. At least two runs would have scored had the ball fallen safe and no one knows what would have happened after that. He robbed Magee of another hit in the eighth when he snared at line drive in left center which looked like a three-baser. Roush was on third at the e and would have scored. In the ninth, with two on, he pulled another shoestring catch on Groh and two more runs were suppressed.

At the plate, however, Renny was very sad. He tried to knock the ball out of the lot and as a result did not hit one out of the infield. He had a chance to tie the score in the eighth when Chase was on third waiting to be batted in, but the best he could do was to hit a weak grounder to Rath, and Hal was out at the plate. Snyder's bat drove in two runs in the opener and hase was responsible for the third and last when he tripled in the eighth. Ruether, however, was steady in the pinches and got out of trouble.

If ANY ONE is to be blamed for the loss of the first tilt, it should be Nohf. Arthur hit the skids in the third inning when he passed two, hit another, made an error and allowed one hit and a long sacrifice fly. It was he who gummed up the works.

Off Day for Giants' Infield

TT LOOKED bad for Cincinnati in the second performance when Gonzales A deliberately swiped home on Wingo. Ivy played the runner like a brick-layer and the decision wasn't even close. That put new life into the Giants, but in the next frame the visitors got busy and put over enough tallies to win. Roush opened with a hit to Chase, which was called an error by the official scorer, and took second on Neale's out. Kopf hit to Fletcher and the brave eptain tried to pick up the ball with his feet. This could not be done, so all hands were safe. Roush making third. Billy pilfered second just to make interesting while Magee was at bat.

Sherwood Sock'em took a couple of strikes and then watched three balls The next offering was over the pan and Sherry socked it to center nifty single. Kauff had no chance to catch the ball and two rupners Magee won the ball game, which can be counted as another triumph

After that, Slim Sallee pitched wonderful ball. In the last six innines only eighteen men faced him, meaning three to an inning. He was given nerfect support, however, Greasey Neale pulling a swell catch on McCarty's ninth. Lew soaked the ball on the label and sent it on a line the fence in right center. Neals was off like a flash and made the atch while running backward. That saved the game, for Mac would have three bases on 'ne blow. The infield played rings around the Giants. Larry Doyle seemed very and covered little territory before he was taken out : Zimmerman was rratie: Fletcher, ditto, and Chase looked terrible. Prince Hal either is bog back or had a very bud day.

The Red infielders were great on hard hit balls, roamed all over the id and made some great plays. Groh, as usual, starred, but Kopf and fath were not far behind.

TRIVIE'S homer in the first game proved to be the deciding score tool Jimmy, the Elk, discovered a local angle. "You can say he explained, "that Philadelphia should be proud of Groh, the heather of Lew Groh, the new substitute third baseman tabletics?"

TRAILED BY SUCCESS. MORAN, AT REDS' HELM, IS SON OF DESTINY

Having Enjoyed the Spoils of Four World's Series, There Is No Reason Why Pat Should Not Round Out the Count

IN THE SPORTLIGHT—BY GRANTLAND RICE

Copyright, 1919. All Rights Reserved.

DEAR SIR: The following, copied from an old scrapbook, seems to be apropos at this time, when the new Jack Dempsey's star is at its zenith. I do not recall any sports writer having even mentioned The Nonpareil, whose very memory seems wrapped in oblivion as far as the fans of today are concerned. These verses might leave a hint to all champions as to where "the fame of the game" finally leads.—J. A. M.

"Where Dempsey Sleeps"

Far out in the wilds of Oregon On a lonely mountainside, Where Columbia's mighty waters Rott down to the ocean tide; Where the giant fir and codar Are imaged in the wave, O'ergrown with firs and lichens I found poor Dempsey's grave.

I found no marble monolith. No broken shaft of stone, Recording sixty victories
This vanquished victor won. No rose, no shamrock could I find, No mortal here to tell Where sleeps in this forsaken spot The Immortal Nonpareil.

A winding wooded canyon road, That mortals seldom tread, Leads up this lonely mountain To this desert of the dead And the western sun was sinking In Pacific's golden wave; And the sulemn pines kept watching O'er poor Jack Dempsey's grave.

Forgotten by ten thousand throats, That thundered his acclaim Forgotten by his friends and foes, Who cheered his very name. Oblivion wraps his faded form, But ages hence shall save The memory of that Irish lad That fills poor Dempsey's grave.

O Fame, why sleeps thy favored son In wilds, in woods, in weeds, And shall he ever thus sleep on, Interred his valiant deeds? 'Tis strange New York should thus forget Its bravest of the brave-And in the wilds of Oregon Unmarked, leave Dempsey's grave.

THE argument as to whether Dempsey won in the third or the fourth round seems to hold a peculiarly small amount of interest for Jess Willard, who
