REDS AND GIANTS MIGHT JUST AS WELL HAVE TAKEN A VACATION WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

GIANTS SHOW LACK OF AGGRESSIVENESS IN DOUBLE VICTORY

Show as Much Pep and Enthusiasm as a Flock of Section Hands Laying a Track—Club Owners Only Ones to Gain in First Four Games

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL

Congression, Larse by Public Leston !

So FAR as the official standing of the clubs is concerned, the Girnts and Reds might just as well have taken a vacation on Wednesday and Thursday or stuck around the hetel and cussed the rain. Both teams accoundished absolutely nothing in the first pair of double-headers, and all the players got out of it was exercise. The winh owners, however, reaped a golden harvest, but who cares for club owners these peaceful days?

On Wednesday Par Moran put his buil towers over the burdles and rounted all over the prostrate forms of the Ginuts on two different and distinct occasions. Yesterday, Jawa Mettraw did the driving and his merry band put the banshee on the citizens of Cincinnati twice in the same place. The only difference was that it was more ununimens. There was no question as to which was the better team in the second coughet. The Grants were elected

We are nulling nothing new or startling when we remark casually that even a worm will turn, but when it does, it still remains a worm and not a sardine. The same goes for the Gunts - Although placed on the long end of the scores they still are the same old timats, ready to flop on short notice when the race becomes close and the going gets rough. Even in victory the club did not show much aggressiveness or fighting spirit. The players have not been able to absorb any of the purposeburs personality of Meticaw, but perform like a gang of actors who are not on strike. There is last as much pep and enthusiasm in their work as a flock of section hands laying a railroad track. They not as if it was their steen duty to devote their afternoons to baseball and that feature becomes more apparent when they are trailing along on the short end of the score.

Yesterday some of the athletes showed signs of life and staged a near battle royal in the second game. Snyder almost declared war in Cuba when Luque failed to make him king by crowning him with a spendy bean built. Big Frank almost dislocated his jaw while telling Adolfo what he thought of him, and the game continued.

 I^N THE third. Rule Benton was togged streamonsly on the back by the same Mr. Laque and retaliated with a straight left to the chin. The blow was a heavily and delineerd with sincere wishes. That caused all of the planers to rush on the diamond, but everything ended when Rube was caused for the remainder of the afternoon. Jimmy Smith and Young Frinch also had an account that no blows scere struck. The apposing players are not at all friendly.

Benton and Barnes May Hurl for McGraw

PERHAPS the canning of Benton was a good thing for New York. He had been in the game but three innings and held the fee hitless. Benton is in form again; Barnes has won ten straight and still going, and with that pair of heavers on the mound the Gothamites have a pretty good chance to cop-if the other players get on their toes and play the game for the sport of it instead of the semimonthly pay checks.

Yesterday was an off day for the Reds. They could have left their bats in the clubhouse for all the good they did. Time and again there were opportunities to score a flock of runs on one measly, solitary hit, but there was nothing doing. Only once in the fourteen innings of the first game did a batter come through with a bingle and that was in the sixth, when Roush

Cincinnati had the pop-up limbit in the opener. Fred Toney had them bitting the ball miles and miles miles up and miles down. Every time a couple of men got on base the next batters would come up and pop! The catcher or some infielder would catch the ball on its return trip to terra firma, Grensey Neale had three big chances to drive in runs, but all he did was hit a high fly which was eaught by the catcher two feet in front of the plate, knock a weak grounder to the pitcher and hit another, pop up to second base. Jimmy Ring had four chance to drive in a run, but couldn't deliver, The aliens simply fell down on their hitting and looked like a different team.

DURING the game, the Reds let nineteen pop-ups, which seems to be something of a record. That is the alibi affected by Cincin. nati today, but to us it is a boost for the pitching of big Fred Toneu. Another havel deals with Winga's error in the fifth when he drapped the ball after tagging Knuff at the plate. Had Ivy held the pellet at that juncture, the Redleys would have won.

Rube Is an Outfielder-He Proves It in One Inning

DAT MORAN made a wild guess in the second battle when he wished the pitching job on Rubino Bressler, the ex-outfielding hurler. After one inning on the slab. Rubino was told to take off his false whiskers, because he deceived no one. He still was an outfielder, and Patrick chased him out to the left garden to replace Sherry Magee. Sherry, by the way, has not recovered his old-time speed. He is slower than a spavined cab horse and fielded hits in his territory with the agility of a steam roller. He still is suffering from the effects of the flu, which put him on his back a month ago and should not be playing at all.

Adolfo Luque pitched in the Cuban language after that and was easily interpreted Four runs were scored the first inning he pitched, but take it from us, they were gifts from the umpires. We are not in the habit of handing out slams to any one or handing out knocks indiscriminately like gents with critical eyes, but this was the rawest piece of work ever pulled by a big league official. Two were out and Benton singled. Burns walked, and Young hit to left. Benton tore to third, but overran the bag, and Groh, taking Bressler's throw, tagged Rube while he was two feet off the cushion, That was Quigley's play, but he stood at the home plate instead of running to third. He probably didn't see what happened, so called the runner safe, Hank O'Day was watching the runners on first and second, which was right, and his back was turned to the play. Cincinnati kicked, but they didn't have a Chinaman's chance. After that, the Giunts began hitting and four runs were shoved over. Those six markers also put the game on ice.

New York looked better after that six-run lend. They played like champions. They had lots of pep, perpetrated brilliant fielding stunts and really looked like winners. So would any ball club with a lend like that,

THREE more runs were made by the locals after that and the final count was 9 to 3. Moran used fourteen men in the battle, but

New York Fans Never Stick With Loser

NEW YORK fans are great winners. They never string along with a loser very long and change from one side to the other without warning. Yesterday the spectators believed New York would get walloped a couple of more times and they became stanch, loyal Red rooters throughout the first game. Then, after the Giants won and took a big lead in the nightcap, you never www such enthusiastic, exuberant well wishers for the home team in your life.

They hissed and jeered the Cincinnati players, hurled wads of paper at them as they walked back from the home plate, and poor Bill Phelon, the hard-working scribe, was a target for empty eigarette boxes and useless programs. Once, when Benny Kauff was waiting for a chance to bat, he turned to the crowd and said sneeringly: "So those guys are the league leaders! What do you think of that?'

The fans quit cold after the first day, only about 10,000 showing up for the second act. Today, however, the Polo Grounds will be jammed again, for nothing is so sweet as victory to the Broadway athletes. The chance to witness a free-for-all scrap also will help the gate. Yesterday's unpleasantness was played up big in all of the New York papers, and the coay going citizens will turn out in flocks to see if any murders are committed.

UGUST 14 was a bad day for Philadelphia. Ex-manager Moran A dropped two games, present Manager Cravath suffered the same and the Perryless, Rogerless, winningless A's took the count in

Chick faces a rugged field with Ouimet, Travers, Gardner, Kirkby, Jones and other stars waiting with the wood and iron to lift his scalp without replacing any divots. He has been playing brilliantly all summer, but he faces the toughest
