ELECTRIC IRON STARTS FIRE

Firemen Have Difficulty in Locating

Ironing Board Smoke Smoke in the house at 812 South Sixtieth street puzzled firemen early today, until they solved the mystery by turning off an electric ironer which and scorched some rags in the laundry of the dwelling. Mrs. Claire C. Merritt, who lives in the house, was awakened by the smoke and called to her brother, William C. Lewis. He was unable to find the fire. Then firemen were summoned. They, too, could not locate the blaze and searched the adjoining house. Then they returned to the Merritt home and made second search. They found the electric iron. It had not been turned off Friday evening and had caused the rags m which it rested to smoulder.
