INDIANA MAYOR MEDIATES

Tries to End Strike of 2000 Steel Car Men at Hammond

Hammond, Ind., Aug. 16.—(By A. P.)—Mayor Donald Brown today acted as mediator in an effort to settle the strike of 2000 employees of the Standard Steel Car Company, which yesterday resulted in the local authorities calling on Governor Goodrich to hold state troops in readiness for strike duty here.

The strikers demand higher wages and a closed shop. Recently the company announced that wages would be cut to a pre-war basis and the men walked out.

WILSON FACETIOUS IN TALK OF TREATY

Laughingly Suggests Sending Lodge and Knox to Germany to Write New Pact

Swampscott, Mass., Aug. 16.—(By A. P.)—"It will be a pretty tough job for this country to negotiate a new treaty with Germany, but that is just what it will mean if the treaty before the Senate is textually changed."

Said Senator Hitchcock, administration leader, today at his summer home here.

"Instead of a treaty imposed by military force," said the senator, "we shall have to make such a treaty as Germany is willing to sign, and we shall lose the advantages of the imposed treaty."

In discussing the situation with the President yesterday, Senator Hitchcock said this point was brought up, and the President laughingly remarked he might appoint Senators Lodge and Knox, chief opponents of ratification, to Germany to negotiate a new treaty.

"He said this," the senator said, "by way of illustrating what a tough job it would be."

FARMERS ALARMED, SAYS GRANGE ENVOY

Joint Committee is Urged to Abandon Wheat Price Regulation

U. S. AGENTS PROFITEERS?

Washington, Aug. 16.—A. M. Loomis, a representative of the national Grange, told the House and Senate agriculture committees the farmers of the country were alarmed over the trend of proposed federal legislation, adding that in view of the President's attitude toward agriculture as indicated in his veto message on the bill repealing the daylight-saving act, the farmers felt "something must be done to balance the situation."

Mr. Loomis made a number of suggestions as to "proposed legislation to counteract the influence of the present agitation and thereby increase food production." They included:

Abandonment of wheat price regulation and all price-fixing on any primary food or clothing materials at the end of the present crop season.

Immediate termination of all restrictions and regulations based on war powers of Congress.

Removal of all internal revenue taxes on food products.

Revision of tariffs schedules to afford protection for farm products equal to protection of manufactured products.

The defining of the constitutional power of Congress to deal with hoarding, through the combinations to advance prices of necessities.

J. D. Miller, of Susquehanna, representing the National Board of Farm Organizations, told of prosecutions of farmer organizations in Ohio and Illinois under state anti-trust laws and charged that there was a "veiled propaganda" throughout the country to place the blame for high prices upon the farmer.

Profiteers in Department? Evidence at a secret investigation of the purchase of beans for the food administration during the war so incensed Julius H. Barnes, of New York, president of the United States Grain Corporation, that he forced two employees of the administration to resign, the committee was told by G. A. Turner, president of the California Bean Growers' association.

Asked if it was not true that the two men "had been profiteering a little in beans," Mr. Turner said that in view of the fact that the investigation was secret he preferred not to say what the findings were.

The names of the men were not disclosed. Mr. Turner said, however, that he believed the evidence taken during the investigation was in the hands of the Department of Justice.

Mr. Turner said more than $1,000,000 worth of Oriental beans were purchased, and that Oriental peas also were bought by the food administration.

The witness denied there was a scarcity of beans in this country at this time, and said there was no reason for prevailing high prices.

Farmers Present Case "Unless capitalistic monopoly" and organized labor "cease profiteering in goods and wages" the next cycle of the seasons will effect a condition of living now undreamed of, the committees were told by J. R. Howard, president of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation.

Mr. Howard appeared as spokesman for the committee recently appointed at a conference of farmers from Iowa, Nebraska, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. Denying farmers were responsible for present conditions, Mr. Howard said:

"The high cost of living is not due to lack of desire or effort on the part of farmers to produce to the limit of their physical ability. The farmer has not struck, walked out, or otherwise slackened in production. He has increased his effort, extending his operations to the limit of physical ability and financial credit, and striven to feed the world, believing the world would fairly and gladly recompense him."

"Instead, he finds those who, in their eagerness to find an answer where there is none, and to shun the real facts of the situation, point to him with scorn and malice, saying, 'Thou art the culprit.'"

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 16.—(By A. P.)—The seizure of 75,000 pounds of beans, said local authorities to have been stored here throughout the war, was ordered today by District Attorney Francis M. Wilson.

Election Officer Petitions Filed Many petitions for election officers were filed today. Petitions for the higher offices will be filed on Monday, when it is expected the full Vars state will be announced. Tuesday is the last day in which petitions may be filed.

Service Men's Meet Postponed Hammond, N. J., Aug. 16.—The inter-city meet held for service men and others here, postponed until Saturday morning next, due to the heavy condition of the track caused by heavy rains.

HALIFAXS PREPARED FOR PRINCE OF WALES

Heir of George V Due There Tomorrow—To Attend Church Aboard Ship

BOYISHNESS WINS PLAUDITS

By the Associated Press Halifax, N. S., Aug. 16.—Elaborate preparations for the reception of the Prince of Wales, who is expected to reach here on board the cruiser Dragon tomorrow, were completed today. The official greetings of the city and province will not be extended until Monday, but it is believed the royal visitor will come ashore to view nearby places of interest Sunday afternoon.

Soon after his arrival the prince will resume his quarters on board the battleship Renown, on which he came overseas and which preceded him from St. John's, N. F. He will attend divine services tomorrow night.

Prominent citizens from all parts of Canada have already come here for the reception.

St. John, N. B., Aug. 16.—The Prince of Wales sailed from here for Halifax at 7 o'clock this morning on the cruiser Dragon. The cruiser Dauntless also sailed as escort.

When the Prince of Wales set foot on Canadian soil yesterday morning for the first time, landing at St. John, the people crowded every available footpath to see him pass up the flag-decked streets.

The prince's boyishness and genuine good nature won the hearts of the people and tremendous cheers went up. He smiled bashfully in acknowledging the plaudits, evidently surprised at being welcomed so heartily.

Before the visitor landed crowds continued to pack the streets. Men and women thrilled as the gallant "Fighting Twenty-sixth," Canada's battered and torn unit that fought in virtually every heavy battle on the French front, swung around into position as a guard of honor.

The scene on the quay was picturesque and stirring. With the soldiers of the guard, had been gathered a group of school children in white, carrying flags. As the prince stepped forth these children let loose their cheering with a will.

The grandstand in which they stood became a fluttering mass of flags, and from this fire of color the cheering spread until all the town seemed to be swelling the shouting. It was raining, but no rain could dampen the enthusiasm with which they sang "God Bless the Prince of Wales."

Before the slinging ended charming maidens in white costumes and bearing shields representing the provinces of Canada came forward and curtsied to the prince, and as they fell back took up a position in an attractive group. It was a delightful picture and there was no doubt about the prince's pleasure.

Then as the prince drove off the children gave vent to their enthusiasm again, and went on with it long after he had disappeared from sight.

The Producing Managers' Association, following a conference with Mr. Sotherton's armistice commission, which disclaimed official connection with either side, decided to offer to the striking actors a contract modelled on the lines of the Equity instrument.

It was not to be called, however, the contract of the Actors' Equity Association, which Samuel Entenmyer, appointed chief counsel for the Equity, had declared the actors were justified in breaking during the strike because the managers repudiated the arbitration clause.

The managers resolved to offer the olive branch of arbitration to the boys, which it was possible for the Equity to help choose.

Though no formal statement was issued by the P. M. A. immediately after the conference, Arthur Hopkins, who has acted as herald for the managers in many past statements, said that an agreement had been reached in offering to "individual actors" a contract granting an eight performance week, with extra performances paid for pro rata. Also, Mr. Hopkins said, the managers were willing to submit other questions to arbitration by a joint board, who would state a neutral umpire, each side selecting its own representatives.

"We're not offering this contract to striking actors," said Mr. Hopkins, "but to actors who are out of work."

"Would it be possible for the Equity to choose the actors' representatives on the arbitration board?" was asked by one of the publicity pundits.

"While I can't speak authoritatively for the other managers," Mr. Hopkins said, "it is my personal opinion that I think they would leave that matter open."

The settlement of Wall street is a sample of that all along the business artery of Broadway to Sixty-fifth street.

Looking at the controversy from an unbiased standpoint, any one who bases opinions on results of the hearing that the actors have the edge on the managers.

Bird's Eye View of Broadway Here is a brief glance of the situation at the present status of the strike: Eleven Broadway shows have closed. A few productions are playing with patched-up casts.

The Actors' Equity Association has increased in membership from 4000 to 6000 since the strike started. Three thousand of these were at the actors' meeting at Hotel Astor.

Two new shows of Broadway producers, scheduled to appear at out-of-town places for try-outs, failed to open.

Scores of business concerns in the theatrical district have agreed to give the actors 10 per cent of their gross receipts weekly.

Several persons, including authors, who sent slim royalties, appointed themselves mediators in the present controversy and asked the managers to meet representatives of the Actors' Equity Association. This gave rise to the rumor that the actors were seeking a compromise.

No Thought of Compromise Incidentally, the well-meaning authors only befuddled matters. Officials of the actors' organization declared that no one had been authorized to represent them in any so-called mediation proceedings.

The big response of organized labor in the actors' strike was due largely to the efforts of Ed Wynn, the star of many Broadway productions.

In an exclusive statement to a representative of the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER, Wynn announced that the American Federation of Labor was arranging a plan through which one million dollars would be paid to the actors weekly during the strike.

"This will be done," said Wynn, "by assessing members twenty-five cents weekly. I received exactly 181 telegrams offering support from unions in all parts of the country. I sent out 212 telegrams to union leaders today and expect to have answers from all before midnight. This is only one source of revenue."

Wynn's View of Strike When it was suggested that the managers might also be well equipped financially to keep up the fight, Wynn said, "The managers have in their organization, including producers and financial backers, about fifty persons. To counteract our one million a week, obtained by the first degree, grasping dragagee Ca yuga lake all day to find the body of Miss Hazel Crane, eighteen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Crane, of this city, whom Fether is accused of having killed."

Today the dragging was resumed. The grapplers are at work near the spot where late Thursday the trousers worn by Fether on the night when he had set out on the lake were capsized and Fether says the "young woman disappeared."

Ithaca, Aug. 16.—While Donald W. Fether, twenty-one years old, of Los Angeles, a Cornell sophomore, was detained in the county jail here yesterday without bail on the charge of murder in the first degree, grapplers dragged Ca yuga lake all day to find the body of Miss Hazel Crane, eighteen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Crane, of this city, whom Fether is accused of having killed.

CARRANZA EXPELS BRITISH DIPLOMAT

Act Considered Retaliatory for Refusal of Recognition by English Government

CALLED TO U. S. ATTENTION

By the Associated Press Washington, Aug. 16.—William Cummings, British charge d'archives in the City of Mexico, has been ordered to leave the country by President Carranza.

While not specifically stated in the dispatches from the Mexican capital, it was understood that Carranza's action resulted from the statement recently made in the House of Commons by the British under secretary of state, that Great Britain had not recognized the Carranza government and would not do so until there was some guarantee that the Mexican Government was able and willing to protect the lives and properties of British citizens in Mexico.

Act Called to U. S. Attention Charge Lindsay, of the British embassy, brought the matter to the attention of Secretary Lansing today. It is understood that there is nothing to be done except acquiesce in the decree of expulsion, as Mr. Cummings has no official status in the diplomatic sense and consequently cannot claim exemption.

It is believed in official quarters, however, that the incident is certain to have a marked effect on the policy which the British Government will follow toward Mexico.

It is expected that in the absence of any official representation in the Mexican capital, the British Government will for the present at least have recourse to the good offices of the United States or France to look after the extensive British interests in that country.

Personal Friend of Carranza Great Britain has not had an official diplomatic representative in Mexico since Mr. Hohler, who had been acting as charge, was withdrawn soon after Carranza assumed office as president. When Mr. Hohler departed the affairs of the British legation were left in the hands of Mr. Cummings. He was not to act as minister in any sense, but was simply to care for the archives and other papers.

Mr. Cummings, however, had been for many years a resident of Mexico and numbered Carranza himself among his personal friends. Thus he was able to personally take up Carranza's case with the Mexican president to secure protection for British citizens when they were endangered by the revolutionary movement.

In addition, he kept his own government informed of developments in Mexico and, acting solely as a medium of communication without official authority, delivered protests against the mistreatment of British individuals and corporations wherever these seemed to be necessary.

Thought Body Located They say that when the lines were being pulled up the load on the hooks was quite heavy, but that when the hooks were within a dozen feet of the surface the load lightened perceptibly, suggesting to them that the trousers may have been fastened about the girl's neck or body, which slipped out of the noose under the strain of the pull.

The details of the disappearance of Miss Crane are as follows: Hazel Crane and Fether, with three other Cornell students and three girl friends of Miss Crane, went down the lake to attend a dance at the Glenwood Hotel, about three miles north of this city, on the night of Sunday, July 19. Fether, according to his own and the girl's friends' story, had known Miss Crane only a few days.

At Glenwood Fether and two student companions between them drank two-thirds of a quart bottle of whiskey, but the young man denies that he was drunk and that there is no evidence that he appeared to be intoxicated. About 10 o'clock Fether and the girl left the dance hall and that was the last seen of her.

Robbers Derailed Pay Train Coaches Carrying $55,000 Roll Into Creek Near Punxsutawney

Punxsutawney, Pa., Aug. 16.—(By A. P.)—A daring attempt was made to rob a pay train carrying $55,000 in gold and silver coin for employees of the Buffalo and Susquehanna Railroad Company's mine at McCormick station, near here. The train was derailed by ties piled across the track on a curve and rolled down an embankment into little Mahoning creek.

According to John Harrington, the engineer, three men hiding in a clump of bushes near the obstruction started

Interest in the Senate treaty fight was divided today between the latest turn of the negotiations over reservations and the forthcoming White House conference between President Wilson and the foreign relations committee.

Although administration leaders continued to stand for unreserved ratification of the treaty, the group of reservation Republicans in negotiation with them said there was no doubt that the reservation program would have Democratic support. Members of this group also have said that at least the twenty Republicans needed to insure the treaty's ratification had signified their willingness to accept the general provisions of this program.

Meantime, a new draft of reservation was being shown Republican senators by Republican Leader Lodge. It was said to cover the same points as was agreed on by the seven Republican reservationists under the lead of Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon, but to be different in several particulars.

Whether newspaper correspondents will be admitted to the White House conference Tuesday, when the foreign relations committee meets President Wilson, still was undetermined today. Chairman Lodge had said he had no objection, but felt the President should decide. Official stenographers had been provided, however, to give the public the details of the discussion.
