

TEUTON POLICE FORCE IS BEING MILITARIZED

Defiance of Peace Treaty Has Begun Already, American Authorities Learn

HOPE ALLIES WON'T CARE

By the Associated Press. Coblenz, Aug. 18.—Militarization of German police, contrary to the terms of the treaty of peace, has already begun, according to information reaching American authorities. In the city of Cassel the police were recently completely organized on military lines by the Prussian government, it is said, and are now equipped with steel helmets and rifles and follow the routine of a military company in their barracks.

Of the 300 state police in office in Cassel 100 have been transferred to the new organization and the remainder have been given places in the civil service.

The ultimate size of the new militarized police organization has not been announced. Americans studying the demobilization and reorganization of the German army say that the significance of militarizing police in Germany is great.

NEW GERMAN CODE PROVIDES REPUBLIC

Berlin, Aug. 18.—(By A. P.)—The new German constitution, which was passed by the National Assembly after months of debate and which became effective last week, is divided into two main parts—the "composition and lines of the empire" and "the basic duties of seven sections and the second of five."

The subdivisions of the first part are: The empire and individual states, the Reichstag, the imperial president, imperial government, imperial council, imperial administration of justice. Those of the second part are: Individual community of life, religion and religious societies, education and schools, and economic life. The concluding part of the constitution bears the title "Transition Relations."

FIND 3 SKELETONS ON 'MURDER FARM'

Visitors Help Dig Up Bones of Missing Men—Suspect Is Under Arrest

Maple Hill, Kan., Aug. 18.—(By A. P.)—Curious visitors to the scene here of the disintering of two skeletons, believed to be victims of Reuben King, who is in jail at Topeka, charged with first-degree murder, accepted the suggestion of Maurice McNeil, state's attorney investigating the disappearance of four men, that they aid in the search, and a third skeleton was dug up.

Scores of visitors came to Maple Hill yesterday from neighboring farms. Mr. McNeil suggested that schools be distributed and systematic digging was begun in the yard of a livery barn formerly operated by King.

U. S. AGENT REQUESTS ACTION ON HUNGARY

Wants Allies to Decide Quickly Concerning Presence of Rumanians

FOOD SUPPLY STILL SEIZED

By the Associated Press. Budapest, Aug. 14.—(Delayed.)—Belgian General Harry H. Bandholtz, American member of the allied military mission here, is urging his colleagues to ask the Peace Conference to act quickly in regard to the presence of Rumanians in Hungary. This action on his part was taken in view of reports coming in from all sides that the Rumanians continue to requisition food supplies.

Captain Thomas C. Gregory, chief allied food administrator in central Europe, takes a strong position regarding food and will permit none to enter Hungary as long as the Rumanians continue their seizures. This food was purchased by him with Hungarian money which he obtained in Vienna when the communist regime collapsed.

Archduke Joseph, head of the Hungarian state, denied today that he had received a letter from former Emperor Charles ordering him to take over the power in Hungary and thanked him for his services to the Hapsburg dynasty.

It is pointed out on behalf of Archduke Joseph that he cannot exercise the power of a sovereign, but can act only as regent for the interests of the former emperor and his eldest son.

CALLS WORLD 'JAIL,' KING GEORGE 'KEEPER'

Frank Walsh Protests Against Allowing England to Deny Passports

New York, Aug. 18.—Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the American commission on Irish independence, characterizes the world as "a vast jail with King George V. of England, as its keeper," in a statement issued here today against the alleged acquiescence of various state departments in permitting England to deny passports for its citizens to travel in Great Britain and its possessions.

He urges that a joint secretariat be set up in the league of nations to protect citizens of all nations instead of having a single secretariat "in the shadow of the steeple of Westminster." The present form of the league compels general sympathy with the imperialistic ambitions of England, he declares.

He cites the case of John A. Murphy, of Buffalo, N. Y., a man of "unblemished reputation" and in sympathy with the Irish cause, who asked the American state department for a passport from Paris to London. The request was submitted to the English Government and denied, Mr. Walsh says.

The statement concludes: "To begin a true reign of democracy in the world, the jail doors erected throughout the world by the passport system must be battered down by the democrats who understand the true meaning of the words 'liberty and freedom.'"

WALES HELPS GIRL WIN 10-CENT WAGER

His Royal Highness Shows Democratic Good Humor to Fair Bather

AFFIRMS HIS IDENTITY

By the Associated Press. Halifax, N. S., Aug. 18.—Welcomed by a royal salute from the citadel, the Prince of Wales, who arrived here yesterday from St. John, N. B., debarked from the battle cruiser Renown at 10 o'clock this morning to be formally received by a guard of honor from the royal Canadian garrison artillery and escorted to the provincial building.

Several stories were told today to illustrate the democratic mannerisms of the prince. One concerned his informal visit ashore yesterday and his pleasure in helping a young woman win a ten-cent wager.

Strolling along the beach at North-west Arm, attired in civilian dress and attended by members of his staff, he watched three young women bathers. One emerged from the shallows and advanced toward him, saying: "Are you the Prince of Wales?" He replied with a smile that he was, but this did not quite convince his fair interrogator, who followed, with: "Are you sure you are?" When he solemnly reassured her with a second affirmative she confided to him that her name was Daphne and that when she saw him and his party coming toward the beach she had wagered ten cents that he was the prince.

After a few moments of pleasant chatting he bade her good-day and politely expressed the hope that they might meet again, to which came the quick response: "Sure, we'll see you tomorrow."

Praises Dominion Troops. When the prince came ashore today he stepped off the marble slab which marked the landing of the late King Edward VII, the royal standard was broken out from the landing stage must-head, Premier Murray, Lieutenant Governor Grant, officials of the city and officers of Italian and French warships greeted the royal visitors.

The prince, in his reply to addresses made in behalf of the provincial and Halifax governments, referred to "the modest part which he was able to play in the war."

"I can assure you that I value no part of that experience so highly as the close contact into which it brought me with the splendid troops of all ranks sent by the dominions to France," he added.

He expressed sympathy for the people of Halifax because of the loss of lives which followed the explosion of a munition ship in the harbor during the war.

attired in a plain gray tweed suit and soft felt hat, came ashore in a launch and landed at Point Pleasant. He was accompanied only by two equerries, Captain Lord Claude Hamilton and his private secretary, Sir Godfrey Thomas, both of whom also were in civilian dress. No previous announcement of the Prince's intention to come ashore had been made and consequently he was recognized by only a few of the persons he passed in his two-hour stroll through Point Pleasant Park and around the citadel. He looked like a well-dressed young man out for a Sunday afternoon constitutional. When he was recognized he acknowledged the salutes with a smile and a touch of his hat. There was no attempt to follow the party when the obvious desire was for privacy, for the people of Halifax are too deferential to the wishes of royalty and too well-bred to do otherwise.
