HOW strange it is that often with sorrow comes joy. This must be so in the case of the James Francis Sullivans, for while they are sorrowing deeply over the death of Mrs. James in September. Clews, Mrs. Sullivan's sister, Thursday last, they have been called upon to rejoice on the birth of a little grandson on Saturday, August 16, to their daughter, Leta Sullivan Hoffman.

HEAR that Mary Glendinning and Morris Freeman have decided to call off their engagement. I do think this is so sensible. They were both very young when it was announced. Mary is only nineteen now, you know, and the engagement was announced before she was eighteen. Of course, in those days every one was getting engaged before the men went off to war, and it was natural for some of the younger people to make mistakes. How much better to find it out before the bonds are tied! It takes courage to break an engagement after it has been made public, and I think both these young people are to be commended for doing this thing after they realized that they had made a mistake
