LAST FEW DAYS OF THE FURNITURE SALE

Taking Care of Today

Is the Best Way to Take Care of Tomorrow
The President's veto of the Daylight Repeal bill seemed to be the proper thing at the present time, when there is a shortage in labor and a scarcity of food.

In spite of everything, scarcity of raw materials that enter into fabrics or of articles of food would of itself naturally raise prices; but it is intolerable to allow the second-hand dealers and bankers to store and speculate with food products to add to the war's heavy burdens.

Visitors to the Rhine have had pointed out to them near Coblenz the site of an old palace of a high official, who, during a famine, for a long period stored grain and refused to sell it at any price. The people became so enraged and infuriated that to escape them he took refuge in his stone fortress on the Rhine, where he was punished for his selfishness by losing his life to thousands of hungry rats.

Public sentiment with or without hungry rats can meet almost every situation.

It is our best judgment that, after so many Summer holidays, and next Saturday holiday coming next before it, Labor Day, next Monday, is best used by "all hands on deck and at work."

Therefore this business place will not be closed on Labor Day.

A Clearing Out of Women's Silk Coats—$15 to $75

This means a saving of a third to a half on their first prices.

The coats include capes and dolmans, and are in styles correct for morning, afternoon and evening; a few would almost serve for evening wraps.

They are of moire, silk poplin, pongee and satin; black, tans, blues, browns. A few have collars of marabou or brushed wool. And they all have rich linings—peau de cygne and crepe de chine.

Prices $15 to $75.

(First Floor, Central)

Winter Suits Are Here for Young Women

And so attractive you'll find yourself longing for cold weather to wear them!

We can't remember when we had so many smart new suits so early. There are roughish tweeds for sports and country wear; or for school or college girls; there are trim, good-looking suits with a tailored air, for business girls, and there are richly braided, fur-trimmed and more elaborate suits for better wear and dress occasions.

Wool tricotine, llama cloth, velour checks, duvetynes and soft, velvety novelty cloths are the fashionable weaves.

Plenty of browns, blue, of course, unusual reds and soft fawn-like grays and tans are among the colors.

Wide and narrow braids, ever so much fur, whole rows of buttons, blouse effects, wide and narrow belts are a few of the fashion features.

$42.50 to $120—and 14 to 20 year sizes.

(Second Floor, Chestnut)

Not Many of These $18.75 Silk Dresses for Young Women

but enough for interesting choosing and all sizes from 14 to 20 years. Of course, they've been much more expensive, for they are the remainders of the Spring and Summer silk frocks. There are tub silks, crapes de chine, figured foulards and striped silks in the collection, and light and dark colors.

Ever so many styles, frocks suitable for sports and better wear—and certainly uncommonly good values for $18.75!

(Second Floor, Chestnut)

A Chinese Note or Two in Autumn Millinery

Imagine a Chinese Mandarin's hat—the soft round crown of black hatter's plush and the turned-up flaring brim of duvetyne in a vivid Chinese red. Crossed in front are two long curved "feelers."

Chinese jade lends its color to another charming new hat. The material is suede leather and there is a high folded crown with a small brim faced with black velvet and the suede is cut out in quarter-moon shapes to show the velvet beneath.

There are other new shapes also—wide flaring brims turned up at one side with an un-curled ostrich ornament, and small brown velvet toques with stitching in light brown.

They are fascinating hats, every one, but as different as can be. Priced from $15 to $36.

(Second Floor, Chestnut)

The $7 style is of mahogany calfskin, with narrower toes and Cuban heels.

750 Yards White Wash Satin Special, $1.50 a Yard

Another new importation of a very popular Japanese silk.

Because it washes so well it is in great demand for separate skirts, foundations for Georgette and other sheer silk dresses, for blouses, negligees and lingerie.

The color is a natural white, just off a pure white, and the width one yard.

Under different circumstances, this silk would be at least 50c a yard more.

There's Not a Moment to Be Lost

THE Wanamaker August Sale of Furniture, 1919, has been the greatest in our history—possibly the greatest sale of furniture in the history of any store.

We have sold more furniture than at any other time.

We have sold better furniture.

We have secured greater savings for our customers.

We have repeatedly pointed out that the reduction figures covering our whole stock range from 10 to 50 per cent, and all the furniture is reduced 10 per cent or more from its standard price of July.

This may seem not very great in view of the extraordinary claims made by various stores that also have adopted the Wanamaker idea of having an August Sale of furniture. But it does amount to a great deal more than appears.

Ten per cent reduction upon Wanamaker furniture means ten dollars out of every hundred—and does actually mean it.

It means 10 per cent less than our lowest July price.

September prices, the market now shows inexorably, are bound to be higher than July prices were.

The actual savings now, therefore, as against September, seem likely to rate 20 to 30 per cent—but we have claimed only 10 per cent.

Comparison will show how much better this actual 10 per cent is than 33 to 75 per cent claimed by not scrupulous dealers.

But only Wednesday, Thursday and Friday to get the advantage of it.

Men's Union Suits at Less Than Half Price

During the heavy rains of the past month a certain river rose so high that it flooded the mills along its banks. Among the goods that got wet were some men's merized cotton union suits in athletic style. Because these suits may have a little stain here, or a rust spot there, we have marked them 65c, which is less than half their regular price.

Piano Opportunity vs. Piano Chance

There is a very great difference between an "opportunity" and a "chance."

In the purchase of any piano that is without a fixed and honorable reputation there is an element of chance, no matter how low the price may seem to be.

But if you can get a dependable piano at a substantial reduction from its regular price, that is an OPPORTUNITY.

We are disposing of a lot of pianos, player-pianos and reproducing pianos at reduced prices—some of them very much reduced.

By far the greater number are new instruments, but there are some used ones, all of which have been put in first-class playing condition at the Schomacker factory.

Of probably four-score pianos, all but a half dozen are the famous makes that we sell here regularly. We know they are fine, and we back up the makers' guarantees of satisfaction. Their names are household words in musical America.

Here is an opportunity, then, to get one of the best pianos, player-pianos or reproducing pianos in the country at a satisfying saving. You need not take a chance.

And any instrument may be bought on convenient terms.
