

DANIELS' REVIEWS PACIFIC ARMADA

Forty-two Giant Warships in Majestic Pageant in San Francisco Harbor

MULTITUDES ARE THRILLED

By the Associated Press
San Francisco, Sept. 1.—A far-flung crescent of protected forty-two gray giants of the American navy, steamed from their overnight anchorage off Bolinas bay, north of San Francisco, and, piloted by Admiral Hugh Rodman, commander-in-chief, swept through the Golden Gate and passed the famous battleship Oregon at the reviewing ship, in a spectacle which thrilled a multitude of spectators.

It was the review here of the new Pacific fleet before Secretary of the Navy Daniels and other national, state and municipal officials. A train of nine supply and fuel ships later entered the harbor.

Cheered by Multitude
San Franciscans who, ashore, lined the Marina of which the Oregon was anchored, and San Franciscans who, in a myriad of small craft, lined the waterway, sought through cheers to express the patriotism they felt.

From every hill and structure overlooking the harbor countless thousands viewed the pageant. Not since May, 1908, when the Atlantic fleet visited this port on its tour of the world, had San Francisco been spectator to a naval review.

Majestic Spectacle

Majestically the long line of warcraft crept carefully through the storied Golden Gate, past the Fredillo military reservation and the once impregnable old Fort Point, whose thick brick walls to withstand the solid shot of enemy frigates; passed the modern Forts Miley and Winfield Scott, on the San Francisco side of the harbor, and under the long-range guns of Forts Baker and Barry, hidden in the rocky green hills on the opposite shore, where Mount Tamalpais stands sentinel to the Golden Gate.

As the battleship Oregon passed by the leading dreadnoughts, Telegraph Hill came into view, its rocky slopes thickly crowded with spectators. Thence the fleet swung past Goat Island and came to rest while the harbor resounded with the shrilling of whistles from scores of welcoming craft.

Daniels Aboard Oregon

The formalities began with the anchoring of the Oregon, commanded by Captain Ivan Wettingell, off the old exposition grounds—now the Marina—at 10 o'clock. About 11 Mr. Daniels and the secretarial reviewing party boarded the historic vessel.

As the secretary reached the quarter deck the big guns at Fort Scott boomed a salute of nineteen guns. By this time a long line of the fleet—coming single file—was approaching the gate, led by the dreadnought New Mexico and with the dreadnoughts Mississippi and Idaho following at intervals of 700 yards.

The next group, commanded by Rear Admiral R. E. Coontz, was composed of his flagship, the dreadnought Wyoming and the dreadnoughts Arkansas, New York and Texas following preserving the distance of 700 yards between ships.

Warship After Warship

Vice Admiral Clarence S. Williams, on his flagship, the dreadnought Vermont, led the next group, which also included in this order the dreadnought Nebraska, the armored cruiser North Carolina, the dreadnought Georgia and the cruiser Seattle.

Rear Admiral Henry A. Wiley commanded the next group in his flagship, the cruiser Birmingham, and the destroyers Ludlow, Crane, Anthony, Williams, Chaucey, Sprout, Lambert, Brees, Ramsey, Radford, Gamble, Montgomery, Rathburne, Buchanan, Elliott, Waters, Dent, Philip, Yarnall, Tarbell, Wickes, Woosley, Lea, Ward, Boggs, Walker, Thatcher, Crosby and Palmer. They proceeded at intervals of 350 yards.

Ships "Dressed Up"

Each ship was "dressed" for the event. The derricks and booms were lowered into their places and secured. The admiral flew his flag from the foremast and the largest and newest American flags from mainmast and stern. The flagship of the vice admiral bore a blue flag and those of the two rear admirals blue banners from the corresponding masts. The other vessels flew the national ensign at foremast and mainmast and stern.

Deaths of a Day

H. E. ROBERTSON DIES

Was Member of Drug Firm for Fifty Years

Henry E. Robertson, secretary and treasurer of Frederick Brown, druggists, 17 North Sixth street, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 2115 Venango street. He was seventy-three years old. For several years Mr. Robertson had been a sufferer from acute rheumatism, but he had been able to attend to business until a few days ago. He entered the employ of the Brown firm in 1869, when only fourteen years old, and remained with them until his death. For nearly fifty years, while the firm occupied the building at the northeast corner of Fifth and Chestnut streets, Mr. Robertson was known to the business men and financiers of the district, which, prior to the erection of City Hall, was the center of the city's activities. Everybody knew "Ned" Robertson, or "Doc," as he was called by patrons of the drug store.

Mrs. P. S. P. Conner

News of the death of Mrs. P. S. P. Conner, one of Philadelphia's social leaders for many years, was received from Narragansett Pier, B. I., yesterday. She had been passing the summer at Darby, her summer home. She was in her eightieth year. For many years Mrs. Conner had been prominent in the social life of this city and the summer colony at Narragansett Pier. She was a member of the leading women's clubs of the country, including the Acorn Club of this city. Before her marriage she was Miss Mary Dorch Lewis. She had been summering at the Pier since 1870. She is survived by Edward Conner, a son, who was at her deathbed, and Mrs. Arthur Hale, a daughter, who is the daughter-in-law of the late Edward Everett Hale. Phillip S. P. Conner, of Philadelphia and Cedarhurst, T. I., is a nephew.

MURDERERS' TRAIL CLOSELY FOLLOWED

Nashville Police Chief Predicts
Arrests Soon of Cooper's
Slayers

NO WOMAN ACCOMPLICE

By the Associated Press
Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 1.—"Robin J. Cooper was killed by two or more men and the murderers will soon be apprehended," was the statement made by Police Chief Barthel this morning. It is now said no woman was connected in any way with the tragedy so far as the police know.

Mrs. Mary Schmidt

Mrs. Mary Schmidt, widow of George Schmidt, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John W. Speckman, at 4219 Baltimore avenue. Her husband, who died in 1912, was for a number of years a member of the state Legislature and was prominent in political circles in the state. Funeral services will be held on Wednesday at St. Francis de Sales Church, forty-seventh street and Springfield avenue. The interment, which will be private, will be at the New Cathedral Cemetery.

Miss Rose P. Campbell

Miss Rose P. Campbell, for more than seven years stewardess of the state sanatorium at Cresson, Pa., died yesterday after a short illness at Cresson. She was a daughter of Fannie Flood Campbell, who is living in Swinford, County Mayo, Ireland, and the late Patrick J. Campbell.

Byron Dixon

Byron Dixon, a retired Philadelphia merchant, died Saturday night at North Wildwood, N. J. Mr. Dixon, who was sixty-one years old, had been under a physician's care for the last week. He is survived by a widow and two married children. His home was at 5540 Lawrence street, Olney.

Hugh McDevitt

Stricken with apoplexy while promenading on the Boardwalk at Atlantic City with his eighteen-year-old daughter, Hugh McDevitt, of 149 Midvale avenue, died shortly after he had been admitted to the City Hospital. Mr. McDevitt and daughter had been spending the summer at a hotel on South Kentucky avenue. He had an attack of apoplexy several weeks ago, but recovered. The body will be brought here today.

TRAIN KILLS TRACKWALKER

John Mattacassi, 4652 Edmond street, was found dead last night beside the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Trenton avenue and Margaret street. Mattacassi, who was employed by the railroad as a night trackwalker, is believed to have been struck by a locomotive.

important questions involved in the extraordinary case. Mrs. Cooper, who was visiting in Evanston, Ill., at the time of the tragedy, reached Nashville yesterday, accompanied by her father, Milton H. Smith, of Louisville. Mr. Cooper's funeral was held today at Christ Church.

WOULD EQUALIZE WAGES

Telegraphers to Demand Same Pay on All Divisions of Railroad
St. Louis, Sept. 1.—(By A. P.)—General chairman of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers in the United States and Canada opened a week's conference here today to arrange a new wage scale and standard working conditions.

E. K. Manion, president of the order, said resolutions to be presented would demand uniform working conditions on the various railroads, a uniform seniority rule and a standard rule and wage for the transfer of men from one division of a railroad to another. The present wage scale is from forty-eight to eighty-five cents an hour.

SERB CABINET NEAR FALL

Escapes Being Overturned by Margin of Eight Votes
Vienna, Sept. 1.—(By A. P.)—The Serbian Government headed by Liouba Davidovitch has narrowly escaped an overturn in Parliament, receiving a majority of only eight votes.

The voting took place after a debate on the government's program, during which Premier Davidovitch, replying to criticisms of his ministry, said that attacks made upon it were more against the personnel of the ministry than its policies.

BOMBS ON COBLENZ TRACK

Coblenz, Sept. 1.—(By A. P.)—Two bombs were found on Saturday on a railroad track here. They were thrown into the Rhine by the men who discovered them.

The identity of the caller and the significance of Cooper's remark made as the automobile left the home, "If you had asked for more you could have had it," are believed to be the all im-

Important News From Strawbridge & Clothier's for To-morrow, Tuesday, First Business Day of September

A Notable Sale of Chinese and Persian Rugs Below Market Value

We have a splendid collection of approximately one hundred thousand dollars' worth of Oriental Rugs, to be marked at reduced prices for quick disposal. The PERSIAN RUGS include Kermanshahs, Saruks and others, in carpet sizes, not a particularly large stock, but very beautiful specimens, all of which will be offered at far below present value, some at less than we could buy them for to-day. Perhaps the most interesting feature of the Sale will be the opportunity to select from our rare collection of CHINESE RUGS, in a variety of large and small sizes, at lower prices, we believe, than the same kind of Rugs can be bought for anywhere else in America.

The actual reductions on these Chinese Rugs are from 10 to 20 per cent., but our prices were based upon what we paid, and we have positive information that other stores have paid from 20 to 40 per cent. more for the same grades since our purchase. Therefore, it is safe to say that the REAL SAVING in this sale will be at least 35 per cent. This is an opportunity which, no matter whether price-reduction is an impelling incentive to you or not, should not be overlooked, for these handsome Rugs are scarce and may be still more so—and you would have a long search for such superb specimens as we now have. We sincerely advise our customers to BUY THESE RUGS NOW, because we have thoroughly studied conditions and know that the values are really extraordinary.

Now the Early-Season Sale of FURS With Exceptional Price-Inducements

Again the month of September begins with our annual Early-season Sale of high-class Furs, which is looked forward to by a host of discriminating women who understand its purpose, or who at least know the usual advantages it presents to early purchasers. Our object, of course, is to induce early buying—to distribute the business over a longer season instead of having the bulk of it crowded into a month or two as cold weather approaches. Therefore, as an incentive to immediate buying, the prices in the Sale, beginning Tuesday, September 2, will—

Average 20 Per Cent. Below Regular Prices

We are looking forward to one of the busiest Fur seasons we have ever known. Indications are that Furs will be very fashionable. The demand exceeds the supply, and this, coupled with the high cost of labor, makes steadily rising prices.

But we started to buy our Furs for the coming season in April, and it would cost much more to duplicate our stock to-day. We have letters almost every day stating that duplicate orders cannot be filled at the former prices.

All these Furs are new and in the latest styles—a collection which we believe to be unsurpassed in VARIETY and QUALITY—and the prices are much lower than it will be possible to quote for the same qualities later in the season.
