

Welcome, Sir Knight

Welcome to this city that so well supports the noble ideals of your brotherhood. Philadelphia opens to you the full measure of her hospitality, and hopes with true Philadelphia sincerity that your stay will be a pleasant and jolly one. See everything that's worth seeing—and you will keep busy, for there's little that isn't worth seeing in Philadelphia—

Remember, Philadelphia stands first in the production of—

ships
locomotives
street cars
carpet
worsted goods

underwear
hats
cotton piece goods
woolen goods
hosiery

And is a close second in producing foundry and machinery products, sugar and molasses, druggists' preparations and chemicals, dyeing and finishing of textiles, and in the making of cordage, twine and fertilizers.

And when your revelry is ended and you go back with a lighter heart to the clicking wheels of industry, remember that right here in Philadelphia are made the best lubricants those wheels were ever bathed in—lubricants that are refined, every ounce, from Pennsylvania paraffin base oil—the richest in lubricating value of any crude oil in America.

Remember also that those lubricants are produced and refined by America's oldest and one of her largest oil companies—the
