

ONLY FALL IN PENN'S FALL FOOTBALL PRACTICE IS FALLING ON THE BALL AT FRAZIER FARM

MANY NET CRACKS WERE COLLEGE STARS

Host of Intercollegiate Champions Later Won National Fame; 1919 Tournament Is on

GARLAND IS FAVORITE

By SPICK HALL. THE intercollegiate lawn tennis championship which began yesterday afternoon on the turf courts of the Merion Cricket Club, at Havertown, recalls the names of many of America's greatest players who began their national careers by winning the college title. This year is no exception to the past in bringing out some one who is destined to land among the ten Charles S. Garland, of Pittsburgh, who is playing in the intercollegiate as a member of the Yale team, is the big star of today in college ranks. It will be recalled that in the recent all-comers' tournament at Forest Hills Garland added to his already large reputation as a tennis player by winning the first four sets in his match with Norman E. Brooks.

Tilden and Other Stars to Play Here This Week

Friday afternoon and Saturday morning and afternoon there will be a series of tennis matches played on the turf courts of the Merion Cricket Club at Mannheim, which will be of the same caliber as the all-comers' tournament at Forest Hills.

Among those who are expected to play are William M. Johnston, the 1919 singles champion; William T. Tilden, 24, 1919 runner-up; R. Lin Murray Beals C. Wright, R. Norris Williams, Frederick B. Alexander, C. R. Griffin, Vincent Richard, Ichiya Kumagae, Wallace F. Johnson, Charles W. Garland, S. Howard Voshell, Walter Merrill Hall, T. R. Pell, Watson M. Washburn, Conrad B. Doyle, Craig Biddle and Raymond D. Little. Mrs. Frank Mallory, formerly Miss Molla Bjurstedt, will be in one of the mixed doubles events with Alexander as her partner.

the courts after winning the intercollegiate singles title were: H. H. Larned (Cornell), 1892; Malcolm D. Whitman (Harvard), 1896; L. E. Ware (Harvard), 1898; Dwight F. Davis (Harvard), donor of the Davis Cup, 1899; Raymond D. Little (Princeton), 1900; Frederick B. Alexander (Princeton), 1901; William J. Clothier (Harvard), 1902; Nat W. Niles (Harvard), 1908; George M. Church (Princeton), 1912-14; R. Norris Williams (Harvard), 1913-15.

The list of doubles champions contains the names of most of those mentioned in the singles with the addition of such players as O. S. Campbell, R. D. Wrenn, Holcombe Ward, Karl Behr, Dean Mathey, W. M. Washburn, Joe Armstrong and others. Below is shown the number of times the various colleges have won in the doubles and singles.

Easy for Garland. Chuck Garland unheated his tennis harpoon yesterday and administered two crushing blows to the two opponents against whom he was pitted in the first and second rounds. Just to get warmed up he calmly put G. R. Pinst, of Pennsylvania, out of the running in two love sets that lasted just long enough to allow the gallery to sip half a glass of lemonade. The Yale junior then took T. G. Benton, of Georgetown, on Bent got a game in the final set, that was all.

There is really very little to this year's tournament. In former years there have always been at least two men who stood out above the field, but this year Garland is so far ahead of the rest that he might just as well create the cup and award it for New Haven. There is not a man in the list that can even give Garland a battle.

Bunch of Stars. Among the tennis players who later won national and international fame on

NORTH HILLS AGAIN IN GOLF LIMELIGHT

Mrs. Smith Leads Bumm-Cup Field and Six Other Club-mates Qualify

YOUNGSTERS TO THE FRONT

It was just about two weeks ago that J. Wood Platt put the North Hills Country Club on the map by reaching the semifinal round of the national amateur championship yesterday. The club came into the limelight again, when North Hills' woman champion, Mrs. C. Smith, led the field in the qualifying round for the Belle Steelman Bumm Memorial Cup at Whitmarsh Valley.

True enough, if Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, who has won so many tournaments that she has lost count of them, had only taken a two-stroke penalty on the fifteenth hole yesterday the honors would have gone to her. But in golf, in a medal play, rounds, scores and nothing else count, and Mrs. Smith turned in a lower score by two strokes than her fellow competitor.

Incidentally, Mrs. Smith and Platt have figured rather prominently in mixed foursomes. Last year, after a tie for the low net in the Fridolyn Cup, they won the play-off. In the fall they won the mixed foursome event in the Berthelina Cup tournament at Huntingdale Valley, and this year they tied for the Fridolyn Cup with Mrs. Barlow and Max Marston.

And in addition to Mrs. Smith leading the field, five others of her fellow members from North Hills made the first flight and one other is tied for the last place. Which is rather a good record for one club.

Three of them who made the first flight are two daughters and their mother, the Misses Dorothy and Margaret Doyle and Mrs. F. J. Doyle. Then two other sisters are in the first flight. At least one of them is Miss Helen Meahan, while her sister Sarah has a chance to make it this morning by playing off for the last place.

The Whitmarsh players did well, too, for four of them are in the first six, and a lot of the women are basing their expectations of one of the four reaching the final round. One of them, Mrs. J. Wallace Turnbull, had the unique distinction earlier in the year of handing in the low gross as well as the low net score for the Ida E. Dixon Cup, and in turning in the low medal she beat Mrs. Barlow, Mrs. Fox and Miss Caverly, which is some feat in itself.

Play in the first round of match play begins this morning and some interesting matches are slated. While Mrs. Barlow is picked to win the cup for the third time, she may encounter some very stiff opposition before the matches are over. The fact that George Hoffer and Woodie Platt, both of whom were big contenders in the national championship, were beaten in the Lu Lu Temple Country Club tournament by comparatively unknown players may have no bearing on the tournament being played at Whitmarsh this week, but golf is very uncertain and predictions sometimes go wrong.

EDDIE MAYNARD LOST TO PENN GRID SQUAD

Star Tackle Will Not Return to University; Folwell Drives 22 Players at Frazier Farm

PICKS FIRST LINE-UP

By EDWIN J. POLLOCK. OUT on the spacious pastures of the Frazier farm near Willow Grove, Pennsylvania football is being born again. Not that the sport at the Quaker institution ever has been dead, but there were times last season when its condition was critical to say the least.

But there's a grim determination that makes those summer-garbed ladies who are laboring under the verbal whip of Bob Folwell. There's a seriousness in their faces that has been stamped there by the spirit of war. The morale is totally different from that of other years.

It was the first day of real practice yesterday, and twenty-two tanned and hardened youths toiled ceaselessly and willingly in a sweating sun. The perspiration poured off them and their breaths came in gasps, but there was no let-up until the word came from the boss.

Discipline Easy. Folwell soon will find that discipline will come easier with his squad this year than ever before. Every man under his command has served Uncle Sam either in the army or navy, and they know what discipline means. Then, again, Bert Bell is their captain, a natural leader and a popular one. He will be a big aid in seeing that the men live up to the training rules.

With the handshakes that greeted this star and that star back to the game came the news that at least one and probably two graduate heroes of the past would not re-enter the University. Eddie Maynard, All-American tackle of two years ago, will not be back. With him it was a question of business or classroom, and he chose business. It was first believed that Ben Derr would return, but hope for him, too, has almost been given up.

Twenty-two Candidates. But there were twenty-two players out yesterday and it was one healthy looking squad. The men all seemed to be in great physical condition, and it won't take much work to place them in playing form.

The early part of the drilling consisted of the usual work of running down the field under punts, forward passing and running with the ball. The candidates boiled in this work for about an hour and then Coach Robert picked the first line-up of the season.

Herb Heiter, a guard of two years, was picked for the center post, and Carl Thomas and Dick Stuppler, both veterans, were the guard selections. Lou Little and Johnny Tittel, two more old timers, were the tackles and Heine Miller and Bud Hopper, the ends.

MACK'S RECRUITS BATTLE DETROIT

Seven Rookies, Four From Atlanta, in A's Line-Up Against Tigers

JIMMY ZINN DOES HURLING

Shibe Park, Sept. 9.—C. Mack snatched out his new ball club for admiration this afternoon in the battle against the Detroit Tigers. Seven of the players who started against the Bengals are new recruits. Four of the seven are from the Atlanta Club, which won the championship of the Southern Association.

Only two veterans who remained in the game were Fred Thomas and Joe Dugan, but even Dugan was moved to make way for a rookie. Dugan was switched from shortstop to second base and Galloway, the shortstop star of the bunch, was played in the short field.

Jimmy Zinn, of Texas, who made his bow with the A's last week, was selected to pitch, and Styles, of Atlanta, was assigned to do the catching. Griffin, another Atlanta boy, was placed at first.

There was an entire new outfield in action for Mack. Welsh, the Norfolk youth, surprised by reporting. He recently wrote Mack that he would not join the club. He was given one of the outfield berths together with Charles High, of Evansville, Ind., and Wingo, of Atlanta.

Fortune Sold to Giants. Pittsburgh, Sept. 9.—The misadventure of a telegram from the headquarters of the Pittsburgh baseball club from Joe Birmingham on Saturday afternoon led to the announcement by officials of the club that pitcher Gary Hartman and catcher Mickey Vernon had been sold to the Boston Americans and would report to the Boston Americans and Doherty later, shortly to the giants.

Baseball Veteran Marries. The marriage of William Price and Marjorie Marie Teresa Anshutz, solemnized in Paris, France, on August 24 at St. Joseph's church, Paris, was a well known ball player and umpire in the country, having played three years in the American League, thirteen seasons in the American Association, as player, umpire and manager, and was nine seasons with the Columbus club as player and manager.

There is a chance that Folwell will continue to use Ray Miller in the backfield. Miller is a valuable man in any position, and although he belongs primarily to the end squad he can be turned into a back of the first degree.

Bell's Booting Surprises. With this line-up Bell ran through some plays and formations and then a kicking field was held and the Red and Blue captain surprised by his excellent booting. Bert has developed into a drop kicker of real worth. With his added weight he is getting more distance into his drives and also more accuracy. Bruner also looked good before the crossbar.

MANY CHAMPIONS IN SHORE SHOOT

National, State and Grand American Titleholders Compete in Westy Hogan Event

CHARLEY NEWCOMB ENTERS

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 9.—A practice program of eight events of 60-foot targets each this afternoon opens the thirteenth annual tournament of the Westy Hogan. There are about 350 shooters here for the shooting classic, including national and state champions, Grand American winners and past title holders.

There is sport for all, however, and the shooters of lower average are figured in the money as well as the more expert. Charles H. Newcomb, of Philadelphia, national amateur champion of 1917, leads a squad from the Philadelphia district. This is one of the few events Newcomb has attended this year, on account of his urgent personal business. Newcomb will captain the Pennsylvania team in the state race and also the East in its annual tilt with the West.

Frank S. Wright, of Buffalo, who won the national amateur championship at Chicago this year, is very much on hand. He exhibited his usual splendor did form yesterday afternoon, when he won an informal shoot against some fifty other entries by smashing 99 out of 100 targets. He missed his forty-eighth "bird." Ed Hellyer, of Alexandria, Pa., Pennsylvania state champion, and R. D. Morgan, of Washington, D. C., Maryland state champion, also were in the "championship" event at Chicago, and also here. Each broke 199 out of 200, and the Buffalo man won in the shoot-off. Morgan, two years ago, established a new amateur straight-run record by dropping 353 targets before missing out.

Philadelphians here for the tournament include William Williams, J. R. Fontaine, Charles Chandler, J. Frank

RED SOX WIN PROTESTED

Detroit Kicks Against Playing of Second Yanks-Boston Game. New York, Sept. 9.—Just before the double-header with the Red Sox yesterday a telegram was received at the headquarters of the Yankees from President Navin, of the Detroit Club, protesting the staging of the dual bill here. The exact time the message was received was 12:40, which prevented the local club from announcing the change in time. The second game, therefore, was played under protest.

Hot Off the Gridiron

Estern has started football practice at New Haven with a squad of fifty gridiron candidates. There were six veterans on hand. Coach Sanford was in charge.

A squad of ninety-three men, reporting for the first annual practice of the Harvard football team at Cambridge, was put through the first drill on Saturday afternoon for two hours on Soldiers Field. C. A. Collins and Jeff Woodside, both of whom will direct the ends, are in their day, who will direct the ends, and Dick Lewis were among the new coaches who reported. Tabby Clark, the 230-pound guard, who was expected to quit this year, appeared in his top gear with the squad.

With thirty-three men in uniform Wednesday a first work-out of gridiron candidates took place at Mount Chateaux in Montserrat, W. I. The exercises consisted of throwing and receiving passes, kicking and catching punts and snap punts. The candidates were in good shape. Nine new men have been added to the squad. Louis Hill and Chas. all former stars, arrived too late for the work-out.

Football in the Pittsburgh district began to look up yesterday when forty-one gridiron candidates took place at the University of Pittsburgh, under the supervision of Coach Glen Warner, left for Camp Hamilton, Wm. Pa., to begin a three weeks' grind in preparation for what is said to be the one of the hardest seasons any Pitt team has encountered.

The formal opening of practice for the Williams College football eleven has been postponed because of the delay in the arrival of Coach Brooks. A squad of a dozen men gathered up on the campus of Williams College, under the direction of Benny Hovington, however, will begin the warm weather. Brooks is expected today, together with more candidates.

"If Babe Ruth Can Love Like He Can Slug"

New York, Sept. 9.—Babe Ruth, the demon slugger of the Red Sox, is on a still hunt for the bimbo who first said "Gee, it must be great to be a hero." Babe is a hero, there is no doubt about that, but the popularity also brings quite a good bit of unpleasantness. That's the rub. Babe has received more letters in the last week than he has in all his life. Here is one picked at random:

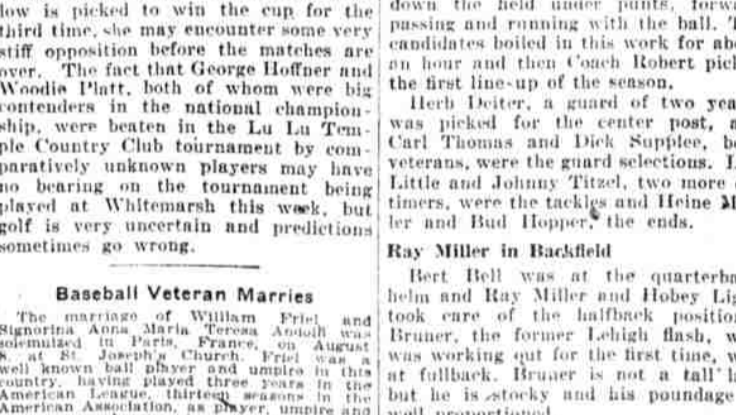

"Dear Babe—If you can love the way you play baseball I should like to know you. I hope I am not too forward about this, but when I see an attractive chap like you I believe in going after him. I live at — My phone number is — Will you call me up? Just one for 'Hater.'" And to think that Ruth already is married!
