

GANG MEN LOOTED BANK, SAYS MOORE

Congressman Tells Audience North Penn Institution Robbed by "Creatures of Machine"

CROWDS CHEER CANDIDATE

Your bank has been looted by men who have been creatures of the machine. Will you vote to keep it in power? This question, asked by Congressman Moore, Independent Republican candidate for Mayor, addressing a mass-meeting in the home ward of Mayor Smith—the ward in which the looted North Penn Bank is located—provided the dramatic moment of last night's speaking tour.

"No," thundered the audience in the North Penn Theatre, Twenty-ninth and York streets. "No, we won't."

Cheers for Moore started in all parts of the hall. The audience was composed of men and women many of whom had the savings of a life's work in the wrecked bank. Mr. Moore was unsparring in his denunciation of those chiefly responsible for the heavy losses. The theatre was crowded. An overflow meeting was held on the street which also was addressed by the candidate.

Last night's tour covered six wards. Enthusiasm prevailed at each meeting. The night's campaign started at Broad street and Susquehanna avenue and ended at midnight at Forth street and Lancaster avenue. More miles were covered than by any candidates in the city campaign so far.

The stops included meetings in Masonic Hall, Main and Cotton streets, Manayunk; the Forty-second ward Republican Club, N. Broad and Old York road, and Columbia Hall, Second and Norris streets.

At the Manayunk meeting Congressman Moore challenged his colleague, Congressman Vare, to a debate. Mr. Vare had described Mr. Moore as a reactionary. "What is one thing that Mr. Vare has done in Congress?" asked Mr. Moore.

In the course of his address, Congressman Moore said that the Vares have "fattened" in a very short time on city contracts. Mayor Smith, he said, had made more from his bonding business—his sureties for city bidders—than he had made in salary as Mayor.

Discussing the city's financial condition, Mr. Moore said: "My information is that the city is approaching the danger point with respect to the payment of salaries of police and firemen, since Council has not appropriated sufficient money to carry these salaries after November. I am told there is a shortage of approximately $250,000 for wages, maintenance, etc., in connection with our charitable institutions. Perhaps those who favor contractor rule will explain this situation. If they cannot the responsibility rests upon them."

MOORE IS INDORSED AS "NEW DISRAELI"

Dr. Howard S. Anders Calls for Mayor to Safeguard Health of City

"Philadelphia is decent but disgusted and discontented with much of its political past. Shall cleanliness be forever on the scaffold and contractocracy forever on the throne?"

This is the comment of Dr. Howard S. Anders, who urges abolition of "contractocracy" and pleads for a "new Disraeli" at the helm of the city government. He indorses the candidacy of Congressman Moore. Said Doctor Anders:

"The inference is clear and obvious: abolish contractor government (contractocracy) if you want clean streets, inasmuch as that kind of government has been responsible for Philadelphia's unenviable reputation for being about the dirtiest and dustiest and at the same time the only big city in the United States that so uneconomically and inefficiently failed to do that work itself. Disraeli put it right when he said: 'The care of the public health is the first duty of a statesman.' Philadelphia needs such a statesman at the helm."

"In among the golden threads of a new councilmanic representation, new financial budget and better administration under a new charter generally run the silver threads of municipal cleanliness and public health."

"In the composition and expression of Philadelphia's fugue of freedom from one fundamental, foremost theme is public welfare insistent upon public health, with its counterpoint of contractocracy, whatever the development in the variations of the former's benefits and the latter's evils. And through it all thunders the 'deep diapason' of the virile voice of J. Hampton Moore."

SOLDIERS SUPPORT MOORE

Service Men of Thirty-sixth Ward Will Parade Tonight

The service men of the Thirty-sixth ward are on the warpath for Congressman Moore and have organized a big parade with special feature stunts for tonight.

"The Vares can't hand the service men any bunk about Moore's patriotism; he is good enough for us," said Sergeant Edgar Coleman, one of the organizers of the parade.

"Yes, and we are going to clean up Kaiser Vares here as easily as we cleaned up Kaiser Bill over there," added Sergeant Tom Cassidy.

One hundred service men in uniform from the barracks at Twenty-fifth and Wharton streets will head the parade, which will have 1500 other service men in line, five floats and two trucks with the crippled soldiers of the ward, all out as Moore boosters.

Railroad Men Aid Moore
A call to labor to support Congressman Moore and the entire Independent ticket was made yesterday by the Railroad Men's Political Alliance through James C. McDonald, of Mount Airy, its president.

JUDGESHIP DEAL RUMOR PERSISTS

Vare Denial Fails to End Suspicion of Trade With Bonniwell

WOULD OFFEND GOVERNOR

Despite denials from Senator Vare that he has taken "no hand in the judgeship fight" rumors persist that the Vare organization entered into a deal whereby it would throw its support to Judge Bonniwell in return for votes of Democrats who have registered as Republicans.

Judge Bonniwell is a candidate for the seat in Common Pleas Court No. 4 to which Governor Sprout recently appointed Judge McCullen. Judge McCullen is a candidate also. The Governor recently served notice that he would stand for no interference on the judgeship fight.

Several days ago it was reported the Vares would throw their strength to Patrick P. Conway, a lawyer, who also seeks the election to Common Pleas No. 4. Senator Vare denied the rumor.

Governor Sprout declined to discuss the matter today.

One of the deals reported to have been entered into by the Vares would block fusion in the event that ex-Congressman Michael Donohoe received the Democratic majority nomination.

Another rumor has it that Simon Gratz, head of the Board of Revision of Taxes, was supporting William C. Wilson against Judge Henderson for the Orphans' Court. Judge Henderson is a Sprout appointee.

Vare leaders are understood to be split up on the judgeship question, but would probably follow orders if orders were given.

A fight on Governor Sprout's appointees would be looked upon as a personal affront to the executive. It might open a factional warfare between the state administration and the local organization with the dismissal of Vare jobholders from the state payroll as the first act of retaliation by the Governor.

The Men's Clothing Paradox
While the Entire Quantity in This Country is Smaller Than for Many Years, Our Stocks are Larger Than Ever Before in September

We may assert without boasting that Foresight and Fearlessness on the part of this Store explain the seeming paradox in the statement that our stocks of Clothing are larger than in any former September, despite the well-known fact that the amount in the country as a whole is less than at any time since the European war started.

Our slogan for the autumn and winter season will be, WE HAVE THE GOODS. We anticipated the condition now existing, just as we have done for the past three years—invested very large sums months in advance of actual needs, and in every instance SAVED MONEY FOR OUR CUSTOMERS.

The New Autumn Models in Men's and Young Men's Suits and Top Coats from the Stein-Bloch Company, Hart, Schaffner & Marx, the "Alco" and Other High-class Lines are Now Ready.

This season's regular prices for Suits are from $27.50 to $75.00, and it is safe to say OUR PRICES ARE A SHADE LOWER than the same grades will cost at stores which lacked the foresight and prestige to place orders earlier than usual and insist upon early deliveries. As for the following EXTRA-SPECIAL LOTS, we believe there are no such values obtainable anywhere else:

Men's and Young Men's Suits at $38.50
Two Pairs Trousers
SPECIAL—Flannel Suits, in blue, green, brown and dark gray, single and double-breasted.

Men's and Young Men's Suits at $25.00

This price is less than present wholesale value; but we bought them months ago.

Hart, Schaffner & Marx Top Coats, $33.00
Autumn-weight—Special
Youthful and conservative models; gray chevrot and tweed effects; some are shower-proof.

About 600 Men's and Young Men's Spring Suits to Be Closed Out at $16.50, $21.75, $24.50, $26.50 and $34.50

These prices are much less than the wholesale quotations for similar grades for next spring. Most of them just right for present wear; some sufficiently heavy for all the year around.
Two Special Lots of Men's Trousers—$5.75 and $8.75
