Mineola, N. V., Sept. 19.-A new world's altitude record is believed to have been made here yesterday, when Roland Roblfs, test pilot for the Curtiss

Aeroplane Company, soared 34.610 feet above sea level in seventy-eight minutes, according to the official barograph. As Roosevelt Field, his starting point, is 110 feet above sea level, Rohlfs netually climbed 34,500 feet, according to the barograph. His altimeter regis-

These figures will have to be certified by the government bureau of standards at Washington before they are registered by the Aero Club of America ats official. The lower figure, that of Rohlfs's altimeter, is considerably higher than the previous record, claimed by the French aviator, Adjutant Casale, who rose 33,136 feet at Paris in June. Casale's figures have not been officially registered.

The first person to reach Rohlfs when he landed, within twenty feet of his starting point, was his wife. He lequed from his car and kissed her, exclaiming:
"I think I've done it this time, all

"I think I've done it this time, all right."

"I reached the greatest altitude after climbing seventy-eight minutes." he said. "and maintained that altitude about twenty minutes. I made the first 10,000 feet in eight minutes. At a height of about 31,000 feet my machine dropped about 600 feet. The machine turned over on its ear and kept going from side to side with an oscillating movement. It was terrible. After working with the mechanism for some time, I finally put on high speed and found that the machine righted itself and began to climb again. I started to use the oxygen tanks about 20,000 feet up. If the oxygen had failed for a second, I would have been done for. At my greatest height the

"A peculiar thing that I noticed was a sort of nervous twitching on my body where I have scars as the result of burns I received several years ago. They began to pull and twitch and it lasted for quite a while. My teeth ached, too.

"I believe all official and unofficial records have been beaten. I am satisfied this machine can't be made to go any higher with its present equipment. any higher with its present equipment. I am through with high flying for the present."

TRUE LOVE FALTERS NEVER, COURT HEARS

Belligerent Wife Refused Divorce for Sixth Time-Says She Won't Live With Hubby

Steubenville, O., Sept. 19.—Mrs. Rosa M. Jones, wife of James A. Jones, a well-to-do resident of Empire, O. was yesterday refused a divorce Common Pleas Court here when Judge Smith denied her petition and continued the suit for one year. It was Mrs. Jones' sixth attempt to secure a separation, and she wept when the judge anounced his decision.

Although the court offered no reason for its refusal to grapt a decree it is known that the plea of friend husband. who sought to prevent a severance of the marital ties by declaring on the witness stand during the hearing that he "loved his wife as of yere and want ed her to come back to his bed and board." made an impression. He told the court that his wife frequently had thrown scalding water on him during their fifteen years of married life; that it was nothing unusual for her to chase him around with the business end of a butcher knife or a cleaver but that he was willing to let bygones be bygones and take another chance.

Mrs. Jones during the trial appeared unresponsive to her hub's entreaties and repeatedly declared that she would not again live with him.

RATIFY RITCHIE NOMINATION

Maryland Democratic Convention Also Stands Behind Wilson

Baltimore, Sept. 19 .-- (By A. P.)-The Democratic state convention here yesterday ratified the nominations of Albert C. Ritchie for governor and his associates on the state ticket, all of whom were unopposed at the primary election. The platform warmly indorsed the administration of President Wilson. the treaty with Germany and the league of nations and opposed the ratification of the proposed federal woman suffrage amendment.

Mr. Ritchie's associates on the ticket are: Comptroller, E. Brooks Lee; at-torney general, Thomas J. Keating clerk of the Court of Appeals, Caleb, C Magruder.
