a romance of the drug traffic

By SAX ROHMER Author of the Fu-Manchu Stories She had been tired—worn out with the strain of rehearsing all day and seizing enjoyment where she could by night. And now, on the eve of her first engagement, her nerves failed her. She could not go on. And hen she thought of the little box of innocent-looking pellets which Sir Lucien had given her.

Do you know the kind of life the drug fiend lives? Have you ever imagined what it must be like to be a slave to chosdw—the days of fierce craving, the ecstatic moment with the fantastic dreams and exaltation which accompany it; and afterward the black despair and sick loathing which only more drugs can relieve? Sax Rohmer paints an unforgetiable picture of this life in his new novel Dope, which is based upon an actual occurrence that horrified all of London last year. Dope is a tale of the drug traffic—a mystery story in which all the uncanny thrills and quick surprises which have made his other books famous are combined with an accurate and powerful study of the traffic in drugs, whose victims are found in the highest as well as the lowest classes of society.

Mare Nostrum By VICENTE BLASCO IBANEZ, Author of

The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse, Blood and Sand. The Shadow of the Cathedral, and La Bodega. The New York Tribune says: "In his new book the author of 'The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse' has swept upon a great panoramic canvas a picture whose tremendous proportions make the masterly lines of his first success seem puny. . . . The narrative takes Ulysses from his first sea experience as an officer on a small trade vessel to the climax of all his childhood dreams as master of his own ship. . . . The book inspires a eulogy. It is comparable to nothing we have ever read of the sea, and as a novel it is tremendous."
