

The Bush Terminal Sales Building

—what it means to Manufacturers in Philadelphia

There isn't a broad-visioned manufacturer in this entire city who isn't thinking and planning and talking business of the future—business he'll want a year or two years or five years from now.

The Bush Terminal Sales Building offers to the Philadelphia manufacturers an unparalleled opportunity for effective sales representation in the great New York market. It enables him to place his product before the greatest number of buyers, to cultivate more intensively his present trade, and materially extend his distribution in domestic and foreign markets.

To the manufacturer who is thinking in terms of tomorrow, who understands that present abnormal prosperity will ultimately give way to a condition "where orders come hard," the Bush Terminal Sales Building offers a service such as no other selling organization in the world is equipped to give.

A representative will cheerfully explain to you any phase of this unique merchandising movement. He won't waste your time explaining what we intend to do. He'll quickly tell you what we have done and, are doing for the six hundred manufacturers who are already tenants of this building. He'll quickly tell you what we can do for you.
