

WORLD REVOLUTION, FEAR OF KRAUSKOPF

Rabbi Says People "Drunken With Greed" Sow Seeds of Rebellion

SEES DIFFICULT TEST AHEAD

"How long before the revolution, that has long been glimmering and sputtering, will burst forth in a world-sweeping conflagration?" asked Rabbi Krauskopf this morning in his sermon at the celebration of Jewish New Year...

All the hopes for universal peace and brotherhood, hoped for and predicted by him last New Year, he said, have gone a glimmering...

"Drunken with greed, rioting in sickening excesses of luxuries, men raise the cry of the absolute necessity of life beyond the earning power of their victims and blinded by the vast fortunes they thus accumulate, they fail to see the miseries they cause and the seeds of rebellion they sow..."

"More and more questions such as these force themselves to the front: 'What next?' 'How long yet before the revolution that has long been glimmering and sputtering will burst forth in a world-sweeping conflagration?'"

PARENTS START HUNT FOR THREE LOST BOYS

Chums May Have Run Away When One Was Late to Sunday School

Three boy chums, the oldest thirteen years old, have been missing since Sunday, and parents and police are searching for them.

The missing boys are Alfred Jordan, ten years old, 3335 North Fifteenth street; Harold Vogelsang, eleven years old, and George Vogelsang, thirteen years old, 3335 North Fifteenth street.

Young Jordan started late for Sunday school last Sunday. The singing is believed to have started before he reached there. It is thought the boy was dismayed at the idea of going in late and hunted up his chums, the Vogelsangs brothers.

Alfred Jordan is dark complexioned, is 4 feet 3 inches tall, weighs about seventy-two pounds and wore dark blue striped trousers, a white waist and colored tie. George Vogelsang wore a striped blouse, corduroy trousers and Boy Scout shoes. His brother, Harold, wore khaki trousers and a white blouse.

PLAN TO HASTEN END OF GRADE CROSSINGS

Councils to Be Asked to Renew Contract Between City and Railroads

An ordinance requesting an extension of a contract between the city and five railroad companies to continue the work of eliminating grade crossings in North Philadelphia will be presented to Councils on October 2.

A contract to elevate tracks and to make other improvements was entered into by the city and the railroad companies on March 23, 1914, for a period of five years, the city and the companies to share the expense. That contract expired last March.

The necessary improvements were halted to a great extent during the war, because of lack of labor. A taxpayer's suit against the condemnation of property for a freight yard to be erected at the Greenway Point Terminal also proved an obstacle to the contemplated improvements. It was just as America entered the war that the Common Pleas Court decided in favor of the city.

The expired contract was made with the following railroad companies: Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, Baltimore and Ohio, Schuylkill River, East Side and the Philadelphia Belt Line. The new ordinance asking for the extension of the contract will be introduced by Robert E. Lamberton, of the survey committee, at the request of Director Datsman, of public works.
