

SERIOUSLY BURNED STARTING MOTOR

Men Covered With Blazing Gasoline After Starting Engine They Had "Primed"

INJURED AIDING HUSBAND

A man and a woman are in St. Joseph's Hospital in a critical condition, as the result of a peculiar automobile accident. Another man was severely burned at the same time.

The accident occurred last night when Julius Price, 1227 North Marvine street, and Alexander Magonski, 2507 Edgemont street, were trying to start an automobile in front of Price's home.

After trying other expedients, the men decided to "prime" the engine with gasoline. They did not when the engine turned over, both men were covered with the blazing gasoline it threw out.

Mrs. Price saw the accident from her window and ran to help her husband and Magonski. Her clothing also caught fire. She and Magonski were severely burned, most of their clothing being burned off before neighbors aided by her husband extinguished the flames.
