Princeton is planning for a football nageant in commemoration of the first in tercollegiate football game played in America—that between Princeton and Rutgers in 1869—and to illustrate the development of football in the last heif century. It is probable that the pageant will be held sometime in November in New Brunswick. Work received from New Brunswick says that the pageant will start with an exhibition of the old twenty-man-to-the-side same of 1860 and end with two tenominute halves between the Princeton and Rutgers varsity teams of today. The exhibition will be one to appeal to football enthusiasts of every variety.

Mack Picks White Sox: Cravath Noncommittal

By CONNIE MACK I have never seen the Reds in ac tion this year, but from what I un-derstand the White Sox are a bit more reliable than Pat Moran's club and ought to win the series. From personal experience with Gleason' crew I know that he has a might; fine ball club. While I have the greatest respect for Moran, I feel sure the Sox will win this series.

By GAVVY CRAVATH It is hard to pick the winner of this clash. Pat Moran has a wellbalanced team and a fine pitching staff, and while I never saw the Sox in action this year, I understand they are as good as the Boston Red Sox were in 1915, when the Sox beat us for the world's title.
