SO MANY requests have come to me for these old-time dishes that I have felt that the Friday market basket should be the means of carrying them to you.

A SUGGESTIVE SUNDAY MENU

- Breakfast: Baked Apples, Cereal and Cream, Creamed Salt Cod on Toast, Ginger Rolls, Coffee. Dinner: Sliced Cucumbers, Radishes, Ye Olde English Pease Pudding Pie, Baked Sweet Potatoes, Creamed Celery, Cokeslaw, Blue Mountain Angel Cake, Coffee. Supper: Macaroni Rabbit, Cokeslaw, Cornbread, Stewed Apples, Cake, Tea.

The market basket will require one-half pound of lean bacon, three-quarters of center cut salt cod.

- One-quarter peck of apples, One cucumber, One bunch of radishes, One bunch of parsley, One pin of onions, One-half pound of dried peas or lima beans, One quart of sweet potatoes, One large stalk of celery, One small head of cabbage, One-half dozen eggs, One-half pound of cheese, One small package of macaroni, One pound of macaroni, Two quarts of milk.

And the regular weekly staples.

Select a thick, chunky cut of boneless salt cod and place in a bowl late on Saturday evening. Cover with water and let stand until Sunday morning, and then lift the fish into a piece of cheesecloth and tie closely and plunge into boiling water. Cook for twenty minutes and then lift, drain well and divide into four or five portions, placing each portion of fish on a slice of toast. Cover with a thick cream sauce, allowing nearly one-half cup of sauce for each portion.

Finger Rolls

Place in a bowl Three cups of flour, One teaspoon of salt, Two tablespoons of baking powder, Two tablespoons of sugar. Sift to mix and then rub into the prepared flour and then add one cup of milk and work to a smooth dough. Form into balls the size of a small egg and then roll between the hands on a pastry board, forming into the finger roll. Place on a greased baking sheet and brush the top of the roll with shortening. Bake in a hot oven for eighteen minutes.

Ye Olde English Pease Pudding Pie

Wash and then carefully look over one and one-half cups of dried peas. Place in a large bowl and cover with plenty of cold water. Let soak overnight and in the morning turn into the colander and drain. Wash under running water and then place in a saucepan and add sufficient water to cover, and One faggot of soup herbs, One-half cup of onions, minced fine, One-half teaspoon of thyme, One-quarter teaspoon of sweet marjoram. Cover and cook until the peas are very soft. While the peas are cooking chop one-half pound of bacon very fine. When the peas are cooked they should be like a thick porridge or mush, just stiff enough to hold the spoon. So be careful and just add sufficient water to cover the peas. Cool and then rub them through a fine sieve or colander into a bowl and add One whole egg, Yolks of two eggs, The finely chopped bacon, Two teaspoons of salt, One teaspoon of pepper. Mix thoroughly and then turn into a well-greased baking dish and set the dish in a pan of water and bake in a moderate oven until firm in the center. Now while the pudding is baking, prepare the crust as follows: Place in a bowl One cup of flour, One-half teaspoon of salt, One teaspoon of baking powder. Sift to mix and then rub in five

MIXING THE CAKE

The more thoroughly a cake is beaten the lighter and more flaky the result will be. This stage in the preparation for the oven is almost the most important of all. It merges the ingredients properly and lets air into the batter to induce lightness and make it rise better.

to a dough with four tablespoons of water. Roll out on a floured pastry board one-quarter inch thick. Cut into three-inch squares and mark the top of the pastry with a fork to resemble a soda cracker, and then brush with milk and bake in a moderate oven until a delicate brown.

To serve the pie, lay one piece of the pastry on a plate and lift on it a portion of the prepared baked pease pudding. Cover with a second piece of the pastry and then pour over it about one-third cup of parsley sauce. Serve as directed for each service.

Use the yolk of one egg for making mayonnaise dressing for the cokeslaw.

Blue Mountain Cake Place in a mixing bowl Three-quarters cup of flour, Two-thirds cup of sugar, One-quarter teaspoon of salt, Two teaspoons of baking powder.

Cornmeal Muffins! PLEASE give me another one! That's what the family will say about the cornmeal muffins made the way Mrs. Wilson makes them in her latest cooking movie shown at the VICTORIA THEATRE.

White Spots on Finger Nails To the Editor of Woman's Page: Dear Madam—Please tell me what causes white spots to come on the finger nails and what can I do to make them disappear. When they first came on my middle finger nail on the right hand, I thought I had bruised my nail, but they gradually came on all my nails on the right hand and are now starting on the nails of the left hand. THE WOMAN'S EXCHANGE

Proper Clothes for Trip To the Editor of Woman's Page: Dear Madam—Will you kindly let me know at your earliest convenience what would be the proper clothes to take on the following trip: Boat from Philadelphia to Boston, spend a couple of days in Boston. Then the boat again from Boston to New York. Do you wear your hat to meals on the boat? The lady in question is about forty. B. R.

The Question Corner Today's Inquiries 1. Suggest a novel costume that would serve equally well for the blonde or the brunette at the Halloween party. 2. What is this season's color for the maid of honor? 3. When a hat must travel how should it be packed? 4. In putting away the wedding gown what will help to keep it from turning yellow? 5. How can a white satin collar be freshened? 6. In washing vegetables what will bring insects to the surface?

Yesterday's Answers 1. In the "Mystic Art Gallery," a novel feature for the Halloween party, all sorts of black cut-outs are pasted on yellow cheesecloth that covers the entire wall in a corner of the room. The cut-outs are black cats, owls, witches, etc., and each of them represents a certain brand of good or bad fortune. Each guest blindfolded in turn takes a stick and must point to one of these symbols. A witch sits over in the corner with a notebook telling what each cut-out signifies and she acts as interpreter. 2. Very pretty bags can be made by applying cut-out eteone figures to black oiled cloth. 3. A sick child who will not take liquid nourishment will often change his mind about it if he is allowed to take it through a glass tube, a straw or a stick of macaroni. 4. To make a stainless odorless glue for children to play with soak tapioca in water. 5. Bran or oatmeal can be sewed in cheesecloth bags and used on the face in this way. Both are good for tender skin. 6. Fine cornmeal heated a little and sprinkled in the hair gives a dry shampoo that takes the dust and grease from the hair.

Please Tell Me What to Do

By CYNTHIA

A Word to Mabel Mabel—I am glad you wrote to me if it was a relief to your mind. Try, dear, to put this chapter out of your life. Turn to other things and find something to do for others. But please never even speak to that person again.

Better Read the Paper

Perplexed—No, Cynthia has no favorites. Your letter was published in the issue of Friday, September 19, and was followed by a letter signed by the "Never Lonesome Man," which was a very good answer to you.

Does Simplicity Count?

Dear Cynthia—Just a line to Dan B. and Buck. You are right, Dan B., about a girl who is too mean to give a fellow a kiss after knowing him for two months. And, Dan B., I am sure Buck did not mean what he said about people dancing with their mouths; although I declare it is a regular light opera to sit and watch a couple on the dance floor, because their mouths go as fast as their feet.

Give Him Time

Heart-Broken—Why are you heart-broken? Surely if this young man goes to see you and takes you out frequently and dances often with you at parties you have nothing to complain of. The fact that he has not shown affection points out that he is a gentleman. He is showing you every attention a man should show a girl if he likes her. He says he will love her, but you must give him time. Be courteous and interested in him and stop worrying and the show of affection. Acts of affection should not be shown between a man and woman unless they are engaged. If he wants to marry you he'll ask you some day soon and then if you love him you can show him affection as he will show you.

Good Advice, "Perplexed"

Dear Cynthia—May I tell "Perplexed" my experience? About two years ago a very popular boy at high school asked me to go out with him on several occasions. One night as he was leaving he asked: "Aren't you going to kiss me good-night?" "I certainly am not," I answered. "You are not one who doesn't believe in kissing, are you?" "Yes, I believe in kissing those I love."

A Real Stocking Bag

A bag, not only to hold stockings, but made of stockings, was seen recently. It was made of five socks, the hank seams of which had been ripped and all joined together with the toes meeting in the center. A tassel was attached to the center where the toes met and smaller ones effectively finished the points made by the heels. At the top an embroidery hoop was attached with two ribbon handles.

White Spots on Finger Nails

No doubt you have bruised your other nails without realizing it. Bathing the nails and the tips of the fingers several times a week in a tepid bath of olive oil or almond oil will make them stronger and less apt to show the white spots.

Veils for Well-Dressed Women A Daily Fashion Talk by Florence Rose

Veils will be more popular than ever this season. Today's fashion talk describes some of the smart new ones.

IT IS not the easiest thing in the world for veil makers and veil designers to give us every year something that is novel in veils, for the well-dressed woman is usually conservative in this matter and yet she wants novelty. She refuses to wear anything that will be striking or too spectacular in veils and yet she refuses to wear always exactly the same sort of veil. So the designer must invent new and interesting differences in mesh and weave of the veil, so that the careful observer would always know a new veil from one of last season's making.

At the left in the sketch is a new taupe colored veil that will appeal to those women who have come to the conclusion that taupe is most becoming and therefore insist on having this color of veil every season. In the center is an octagon mesh veil, with a leaf ornament worked in silk and carefully adjusted on the cheek. And at the right there is an all-over pin dot of chenille, which is ingeniously combined with a large mesh.

Trimmed with monkey fur and cat fur. There are veils that are trimmed with fur. Rather more than last year women will wear veils. They will be worn adjusted close to the face, although let us hope that women avoid the ugly line that is caused by fastening the veil back so that it actually leaves a mark against the skin of the face.

WHY THIS GIRL'S HUSBAND WILL HAVE TO BE PATIENT

She Is Extravagant, but You Can't Marry a Pretty, Pampered Belle and Expect an Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire, Too

THE young wife this young husband writes of is driving him mad with her extravagance. "She is beautiful," he explains, "all that could be desired in the way of looks and style, but when it comes to common sense about buying clothes she hasn't any at all. Coming from a family where there was always plenty of money, she seems to have no sense of the value of it and spends it like water. She knows little about cooking and therefore wastes in that way, too. Before we were married, believing it would be hard for her to do without many luxuries with me for the first few years, I explained how things would be and she seemed perfectly willing to live in the style my salary could afford. But now we have only been married six months and she is spending my salary before I earn it. I have talked and talked and it does a little good for a couple of weeks and then she comes in with some more new things. What, under the sun, can a man do in a case like this? Please advise a fellow whose wife keeps him "BROKE."

Do not nag your pretty little wife, but appeal to her as a fifty-fifty partner to help you out. By praising her efforts at cooking spur her on to greater interest in these matters and if she spends more time at home she will have fewer chances to let money slip away. Also going out less she will have less cause to want to keep up with and surpass other women in the matter of finery.

Some night let the two of you sit down and make a written plan of just how much you can afford to spend on clothes, on food, on rent, on entertainment, etc. Ask your wife how much she thinks would be a reasonable allowance for clothes and the house and then tactfully impress it on her that she must live within it. Appeal to her pride in being "a good manager" and make her want to live within it.

Sketch the future and show how, by each making little personal sacrifices, you can save a certain amount to spend on a trip as well as enough to found a nestegg.

If you put it up to your wife and show her how the present course will only lead the two of you to become a couple of shiftless members of society—always evading collectors and gossiping neighbors and never being able to lift your heads above a sheet of bills—I think she will be able to see things your way. Never a pretty home, never an automobile of your own, never the respect of the good, solid families that count. Never anything but a wild effort to catch up. Paint this picture for her.

It's not like to be mean and hold post-mortems. "Broke," but it might help you to look at the matter with understanding eyes and when you understand your wife better, perhaps you will be able to deal with the situation.

First let me impress this firmly on your mind. In a wife, like in life, you can't have everything. Here you, young man, pick out the best-dressed, prettiest and most pampered girl in the crowd and then you bring her to the little nest and expect her to be able to cook and keep house like some plain little Alice-sit-by-the-fire girl who has been doing these things ever since she was ten years old. It's this way, Broke: a man marries a girl who is beautiful, smartly dressed and incidentally pampered because these very things attracted him. Then he gets irritated because of these very qualities.

THE secret of solving your problems lies in patience and tact. Marriage is not and never was a miracle worker. A girl cannot become a wonder at saving simply by saying she is going to

Chinese Brocade Bag

A modish bag is of gorgeous Chinese brocade set in panel effect between panels of black velvet and the frame is of tortoise shell with pierced holes for the stitches that attach bag to frame. These handsome shell frames are immensely practical, for when one chooses the bag may be removed and another of different material and shape sewed to the frame. There is a queer, flat tassel to match the Oriental coloring in the rich center panel.
