

Blue-Ribbon Canines : The First Okapi in Europe : Lincoln Playwright : A Queen All-White

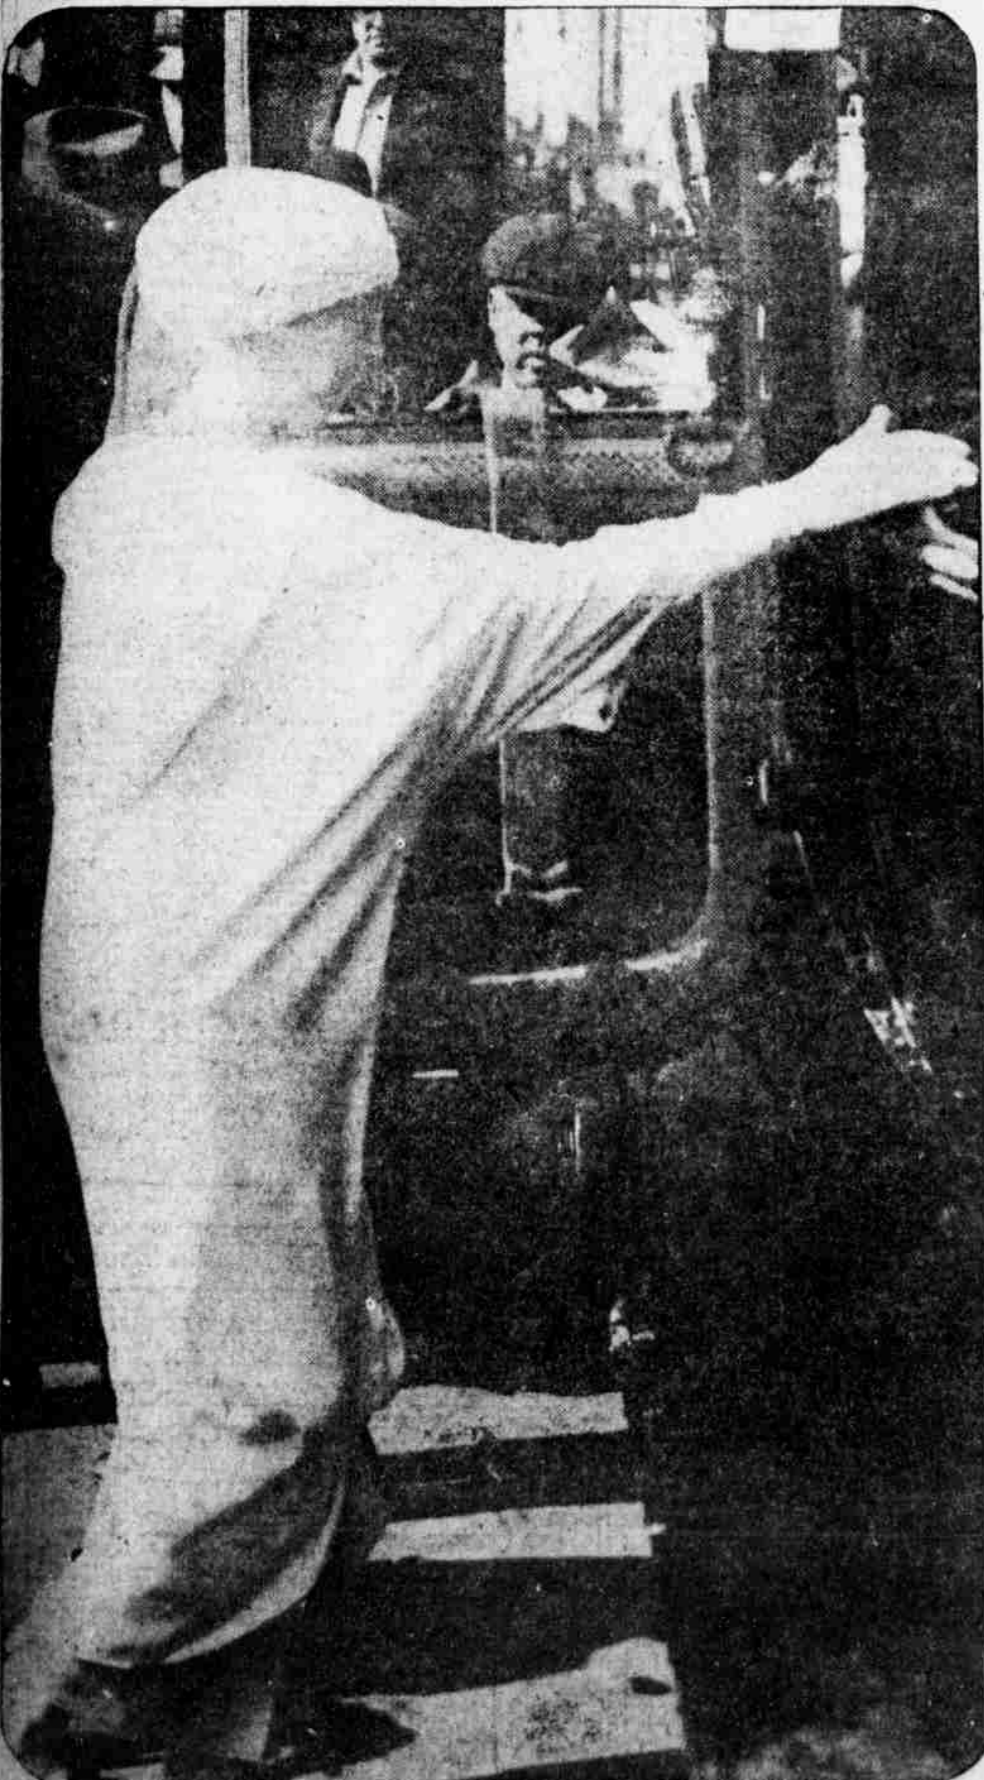

GERMAN ARTILLERY firing on Poles under cover of an embankment at the Niki Shaft, in Upper Silesia. Germany has been ordered to evacuate this territory by the Paris Peace Conference.

JOHN DRINKWATER and his wife, recent arrivals in America. Mr. Drinkwater was an English insurance clerk, who achieved fame and fortune as the dramatist of the London success, "Abraham Lincoln." He hopes to write plays about Washington, Mary Stuart, Cromwell and Robert E. Lee.

PRINCE and his master, Walter Gillin, celebrate the winning of honors at the recent dog show held at the Germantown Cricket Club. The St. Bernard weighs 170 pounds and measures 5 feet 10 inches.

MISS BRATTON and two prize English sheep dogs, Jones and Cockle Burr. The larger dog, Cockle Burr, is the winner of 118 blue ribbons, eighteen medals and nine cups.

A SPECIMEN of the rare okapi secured from Congo natives by a Belgian administrator and now in the Antwerp Zoo. The species is closely allied to the giraffe.

THE BEAUTY CORNER

MISS EUNICE DIXON, 1432 Euclid avenue, Philadelphia. Photographs for this back-page feature should be submitted through the mail, addressed to the Beauty Corner, EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER.

QUEEN ELIZABETH entering an automobile on her way to attend New York's official welcome. The all-white gown of the Belgian queen is exciting great interest. The apparel of flowing lines is regarded by many as an effective fashion achievement. Modistes predict a vogue of white.