Conservatives Tackle Big Issues at Washington Conference, Which Promises to Bring Good Results—Labor Delegates United

PANACEA SOUGHT FOR UNCERTAINTY AND UNREST WHICH HAS GRIPPED INDUSTRIES OF NATION

By GEORGE NOX MCCAIN Washington, Oct. 7.—The industrial conference called by President Wilson got squarely down to business this morning...

Bluntly put, it is an attempt to avoid industrial and economic chaos in this country, an honest effort to have capital and labor reach an understanding mutually beneficial...

Latent Potentialities Evident Yesterday witnessed the getting together of the delegates. It was an informal, undemonstrative and rather prosaic affair...

Surprises at Opening There were several surprises when the meeting convened in the beautiful hall of the Pan-American Building...

The coal miners definitely declined the invitation to participate. The affiliated bodies of carpenters likewise declined the invitation to participate...

There is a striking absence of extremists and radicals among the delegates to the conference. Syndicalists and Bolsheviki have had the door slammed in their faces...

Plumb Has His Advocate But the terms has equal application to another conferee, a representative of the people at that, Bert M. Jewell...

Where they play tomorrow: Seventh game, if necessary: Chicago at Cincinnati. Probable pitchers—Sallee and Gleette.

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL Sports Editor Evening Public Ledger

Redland Field, Cincinnati, O., Oct. 7.—Once again from our dizzy height on the roof of the grand stand we were gazing today on the dizzy mob, probably affected by the sun or baseball or something, which thronged the arena to witness the end of the world series and assist in playing the Dutch angulus to the White Sox hopes.

Every one was confident the championship disaster would end today. If the Reds don't win this game there's something wrong, because they appear to have the animals of the American League champions.

A lot of people in this town are out of work or on strike or words to that effect, because close to 30,000 were gathered in the ball park to hand a delicious welcome to the Reds at the end of the ninth inning.

It was announced this afternoon that Ray Schalk, the battling catcher, who challenged Charley Rigger at catch weights in Chicago yesterday, would not be suspended and would play in the game today.

It was announced this afternoon that Ray Schalk, the battling catcher, who challenged Charley Rigger at catch weights in Chicago yesterday, would not be suspended and would play in the game today.

It has just been learned that the Cincinnati players have been "riding" the Sox. Eddie Collins being the principal target.

Another yarn is that the Reds have swiped Chicago's signals. If they did, more power to them. Signals are made by hand if the other guy is clever.

CLASH OVER RULES CAUSES RECESS OF LABOR CONFERENCE

Spargo Leads Fight Against Committee Proposal for Decision by Groups

EACH SECTION CONSIDERS PROCEDURE SEPARATELY

Open Sessions Planned—Lane, Chairman, Predicts Solution of Industrial Troubles

By the Associated Press Washington, Oct. 7.—Disagreement over rules proposed for the governing of the industrial conference called by President Wilson resulted in the conference adjourning suddenly today after Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, had been elected permanent chairman.

As proposed by committee the rules provide that all conclusions and decisions must be arrived at by unanimous vote of the three groups representing capital, labor and the public while the decision of each individual group would be by a majority of the members of that group.

Mr. Spargo declared the conference might as well adjourn if the provision of the rules was adopted whereby a majority vote of any group was necessary before a member of the group could introduce any subject for discussion.

Such a rule, he asserted, hindered especially the public group, which was not composed of delegates representing a homogeneous interest like the labor group, but contained men and women of diverse activities.

On motion of Frederick P. Fish, of the employers group, the conference adjourned to allow each group to consider the rules separately, the employers voting solidly on the motion and the public and organized labor groups dividing.

Several delegates expressed opposition to an adjournment at a time when they declared the conference should be getting down to business.

The rules were presented by W. D. Mahon, of the labor delegation, chairman of the rules committee.

Regrets Wilson's Absence In accepting the chairmanship, Secretary Lane said he regretted the absence of President Wilson and the "inspiring word" he might say to the conference.

Discussing the purpose of the conference, Mr. Lane said the men "who talk of revolution in this country forget we have had our revolution, which gave us democracy."

"A democracy does not settle things that way," he declared.

There is only one overlord in the United States and that is the law.

UNIVERSAL SERVICE SCORED BY PRICE

General Tells Engineers' Club That It Would Be an Economic Waste

Brigadier General William G. Price, speaking to 300 members of the Engineers' Club, 317 Spruce street today, came out strongly against universal military service for the United States, declaring it an economic waste.

Salvos of applause greeted General Price's wholly unexpected declaration of opposition to a standing army of approximately 350,000 men, involving, as he said, a per capita tax on Americans of $9, and costing yearly $900,000,000, according to the estimate of General March, chief of staff of the army.

"Universal service," said General Price, "I feel to be unnecessary, unwarranted and an economic waste."

"If we really believe that we are to again go through a struggle such as the world war then we should, of course, start to prepare for it, and in a big way. But, bear in mind, constant preparedness for America, through universal military service, would make this country literally an armed camp."

Fears Draft in Case of War "A republic such as ours cannot exist as a military form of government. If the United States once is committed to a yearly call to arms..."

Governor Asked for Troops With the parade yesterday, however, according to a statement by Governor Goodrich, the situation became so threatening that it was deemed advisable to ask for federal troops.

Upon the arrival of the federal soldiers and the issuance of a proclamation by General Wood, proclaiming military control, the state militia were ordered to Indiana Harbor and East Chicago, Ind., where Governor Goodrich declared martial law.

PRESIDENT HAS NO ORGANIC DISEASE, EXPERT DECLARES

Finds Executive Tractable and Suffering Only From Strain of Overwork

President's Condition Continues to Improve

The following bulletin on the President's condition was issued from the White House at 11:25 a. m. today. "The President's improvement has continued. His appetite is decidedly better and he is sleeping well."

Dr. Francis Xavier Dercum, of this city, today set at rest the wild rumors which have been disseminated recently to the effect that President Wilson's illness is of a far graver nature than the official bulletins have indicated.

Doctor Dercum, whose reputation as a neurologist is world-wide, was called into consultation with Admiral Grayson and other famous specialists upon the President's return from his western trip.

Doctor Dercum made it plain that the President is simply suffering from the nervous strain of the months of hard work he has done during and since the war.

"The President is just like any one else who is sick and needs rest," said Doctor Dercum.

A Tractable Patient "President Wilson's mind is bright and clear," said Dr. Dercum. "He is a pleasant patient, tractable and not at all difficult to examine. He acts in the sick room precisely as any gentleman would act who had to receive the attentions of a physician."

Denies Organic Disease Doctor Dercum was willing, however, to give emphatic denial to the rumors that the President suffered from grave organic trouble. He ridiculed all the extravagant rumors that have been passed around by word of mouth to the effect that the President had serious organic disease.

BASELESS RUMORS NO CAUSE FOR ALARM Stories of President's Grave Condition Untrue—Weakness Chief Trouble

By CLINTON W. GILBERT Staff Correspondent of the Evening Public Ledger Washington, Oct. 7.—President Wilson continues to show favorable symptoms. He is still being kept in bed and there is no suggestion of the time when he will be permitted to get up and take exercise. No business is submitted to him for consideration and no one will say even when the most important business may be brought to his attention.
