Contradictory Remarks Dear Cynthia-I have been reading your column for some time and sure do think it is very nice. Now, I wish you would publish my letter, and per-haps some of your readers could help

Now, about this kissing question, I will state my case. I am twenty-four years of age and have been a very popular girl ever since high school days, and from the time I was eighteen until I was twenty-two, upon iny honor, I never allowed a young man to kiss me. The result was I never had n beau like the other girls.

Now, in the last two years I wouldn't say that I kissed every fellow who asked, but I sure did kiss every one that appealed. Boys and girls, please don't judge me harshly, but waite and tell me what you think.

DIMPLES. You contradict yourself, Dimples You say you have been very popular ever since your high school days, and yet you contend you have never had "beaus" like the other girls. I hope some of our sensible, red-blooded American girls who manage to hold friends without dealing out kisses as payment will speak up and give opinions.

Men Want Good Cooks Dear Cynthia-"Doll," does a man want a woman for wife or a picture? Most certainly, a woman. He wants a wife that can cook a good, square meal, and it is up to a wife to do it. But if you are going to spend all afternoon putting on paint and washing it what is the result? Hubby waits until it is finished, and, after waiting, It is not the kind of a supper he should be handed to eat. In the place of a canned supper, he should be eating a nice dish of stew, some home-made baked beans, homemade bread, coffee, and homemade cake.

Girls, what is the use of paintpray, tell? It only ruins your skin. And, nine times out of ten, it makes you all look like hobby horses.

But, I guess it's like everything else it isn't the paint, it's the wearer. Now, maybe your husband or beau wouldn't object if it was put on right, but you all look like the things I men-tioned. "Doll," if a girl be homely says, "You for me." And you and your masked chum will be forgotten. So, 'Doll.' wash it off and keep it off, and you'll be O. K. How about it. boys? Come on, Buck and Dan B. write some more. BOBBY.

Candidly speaking that's the picture that formed itself in my mind when I rend your first letter. However, I changed my opinion after reading your second letter. No doubt at heart you are a good little girl, but you simply like to dress prettily and put up a good appearance.

Well, I don't blame you for that. I never seen him at close range before and that way just before the operation, and it gave her a strange feeling of shock which she did not analyze until later. His narrow eyes had studied her coolly, appraisingly, but she was conscious that behind them there leaped something until the control of the control of the cooling that the cooling the already immaculate floor and walls. No one, to have looked at her work, could have called her incompetent, and yet Julia was keenly aware that she had made a spectacle of herself before Dr. Norville.
