RANSLEY DEFENDS COURSE

Legal action by the state against rent profiteers was forecast today, following the appointment of J. Harry Colahan as special deputy attorney general to co-operate in the housing probe in this city.

Mr. Colahan and Frank B. McClain, former lieutenant governor, will confer this afternoon with representatives of various tenants' protective associations in the office of the Public Welfare Commission, 700 Finance Building.

Mr. General Schaffer and a statement by Sheriff Harry C. Ransley defending his refusal to eject tenants were today's important developments in the situation here.

Several real estate dealers have announced they will bring action against the sheriff for his refusal to eject a large number of tenants. The suit will be brought against the sheriff's bond.

Humanity Is Defense
Mr. Ransley today declared his refusal was based on humane grounds. Many tenants, he asserted, he would act as homeless.

The sheriff declared further he was advised by George Russell, sheriff's solicitor, that suit probably would result if he failed to make the ejections.

Every Case Investigated
"We investigated every case presented to us, and in many instances we were convinced that the ejections were purely cases of profiteering."

Tenants' Officers Confer
Officers of the United Tenants' Protective Association will confer Thursday with representatives of the State Banking Department.

STAGE VETERAN DIES
Julian C. Breban was known to many prominent actors.

Julian C. Breban, a veteran electrician of the stage and a member of a family connected with the theatre for several generations, who died Sunday at his home, 1933 Fairmount avenue, will be buried tomorrow at 11 o'clock.

COMMITTEE TO SELECT SITE

The University of Pennsylvania has taken the initial step toward building a great college for women, which, it is said, will rival Radcliffe, of Harvard, and Barnard, of Columbia, which completed.

The building, for which as yet no site has been selected, will, it is said, be the first of a series of structures to be erected to provide adequate classrooms and other accommodations for women students, apart from the undergraduate departments of the University, but under the same head. The University of Pennsylvania has between 1000 and 1200 women students.

More Than $1,000,000 Available
More than $1,000,000 is available for the proposed new structure for women students through the increase in the Charles Bennett foundation fund, which has been in bank drawing interest some score of years.

Provest Smith, Charles L. Borje, Jr., and John C. Bell were named by the trustees as a committee to select a site for the building of the auditorium and were empowered to engage an architect. The acceptance of the $700,000 estate of William and Mary Irvine, to be used for the building of the auditorium, was made by the trustees.

New Trustees Named
Two new members were named on the board of trustees. They are Judge Marshall Gies, '79, College, '82, Law, and Joseph E. Widener, '83. They will take the places of Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, former state commissioner of health, whose term expired more than a year ago, and Dr. Joseph G. Rosen-garten, resigned.

Edward W. Mumford, '80, College, was elected secretary to succeed Edgar Wood Robins, who resigned last year. Mr. Mumford was former assistant secretary of the University and bursar. He is now connected with the Penn Publishing Company.

Atlantic City, Oct. 14.—Little Italy declared a holiday today because Admiral Hugo Cozz, of the imperial Italian navy, is Atlantic City's guest. Nine out of every ten of the 2000 or more persons crowding the approaches to the Pennsylvania station, who were Admiral stepped from a morning train, were of Italian birth, men, women and children, but chiefly men, all clutched flags and cheering.

Admiral Cozz and his staff were bundled into motors and conveyed to the Hotel Ambassador, after the parade had waited for a few minutes while the sea fighter from Tuscany stood forth in the rain to be photographed with Mayor Bacharach.

Admiral Cozz was tendered the freedom of the city, together with its keys, by Mayor Bacharach as a prelude to a reception. This evening he will be guest of honor at a banquet reproducing a Roman feast in viands, decorations and diversions.

OPEN ARMY FOOD SALES

Beans and Canned Goods
Surplus army foodstuffs, at prices below the regular retail charges, are on sale at several places in the city today.

The eighth sale of army food at the Gabel store, Ninth and Chestnut streets, began at 9 o'clock. An extra detail of patrolmen was necessary to keep the hundreds of patrons in line.

The sale list included 12,000 pounds of soup beans, at seventy-five cents a package; 2500 pounds of army bacon, at twenty-five cents a pound; 45,000 cans of corned beef, at fifty-eight cents a can; roast beef at sixty-five cents a can, and a number of other articles.

H. G. Tulley Distinguishes Between 'Collective Bargaining' and 'Collective Dictation'

EQUAL EFFORT, HIS AIM

Workingmen and employers were interested today in the distinction drawn between "collective bargaining" and "collective dictation" by H. G. Tulley, vice president of the Rapid Transit Company, in an address last night at the Bellevue Stratford.

"We believe in collective bargaining, but not in collective dictation," said Mr. Tulley. "The workers have the right to have something to say regarding the conditions under which they are employed. We believe in paying a living wage, but in return for a good day's work, we are entitled to a good day's work. We have no sympathy with that class who are attempting to force upon industry the doctrine of more pay and less work. They are just as much profiteers as the capitalist who demands more than a reasonable return on his investment."

The increased wages which they receive with one hand is paid out with the other. Their problem is similar to that of the dog who is attempting to catch his own tail. The increase in wages will never catch up with the high cost of living until there is more produced so that there may be more to divide.

The Question of the Hour!

Suppose you have a certain sum to be laid out in clothes for the Fall and Winter.

You need a Suit and Overcoat.

How and where can you lay out this money to the Best Advantage?

A dozen stores are urging their claims, but you can Spend Your Money Only Once.

After you've spent it, you'll congratulate, or "kick" yourself, as the case may be, all the rest of the season!

Every store claims to have "lower prices" and "better goods" than the others. How can you tell which is the right one?

If you try us, we think we can please you. It will cost you nothing to look.
