

EPISCOPALIANS BAR DEBATE ON LEAGUE

Deputies Forbid Political Talk, but Sanction Offer of Resolutions

PLAN 1919 CONVENTION HERE

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 15.—There will be no political debate on the league of nations covenant in the house of deputies of the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church here when the attitude to be expressed before the world on the issue by the church is decided.

A resolution to this effect, but authorizing submission of resolutions and amendments of resolutions on the league of nations was adopted this morning by a three-to-one vote.

Objection of the southern and many northern delegates to the prohibition of discussion was hotly voiced by Dr. G. Gordon Slocum, of Jackson, Miss., who has a record for opposing the House unqualifiedly endorsing the covenant as it stands. The Mississippian questioned the propriety of "muzzling the conscience" of the world's "great questions" and characterized the covenant as "the greatest human document that has ever emanated from the mind of man."

Meetings outside the convention proper for discussion of the covenant by nationally prominent advocates and opponents of the document are being planned.

Next Convention in Philadelphia
The next triennial general convention will be held in Philadelphia in 1922. Announcement of the decision is expected some time today, but late last night the choice had narrowed down to either Philadelphia or Atlantic City.

Members of the delegation from the diocese of Pennsylvania were confident this morning that Philadelphia's invitation, presented to the joint committee on a place of meeting last night by Arthur E. Newbold, would be accepted by the convention.

Members of the New Jersey delegation here are making a strong effort to have Atlantic City selected as the place of meeting, but the Philadelphia contingent will appeal more directly to the convention. At least it is certain that the 1922 convention of the church will be held in the Philadelphia district.

Deputies from North and South Carolina made an effort to have the convention go to either Charleston or Raleigh, insisting that it has been a long time since that part of the country has had such inspirational stimulus as such a gathering would be to the South.

Philadelphia Looks Like Winner
The foresightfulness of Mr. Newbold's appeal though, so impressed the committee that it is believed certain that Philadelphia will win.

The entertainment of such a convention will mean big things to the city. There are more than a thousand clergymen and laymen directly connected with the two houses of worship in addition, several hundred women and many hundreds of visitors fill the convention city during the three weeks that the convention is in session.

The convention is expected to come to an end by October 24, and in the house of bishops today a resolution was adopted to close the meeting that date.

No Change in Divorce Canon Now
No change in the existing canon on divorce and marriage is to be expected at this general convention, members of the Philadelphia delegation here today said. The whole question of marriage and divorce is now before the convention. The house of deputies has received the reports from the commission which had the matter before it and the whole question is now on the calendar for consideration.

The clerical members from the diocese of Pennsylvania seem inclined to follow the lead of the Rev. Dr. Floyd W. Tompkins to insist on the new legislation which would prevent any Episcopal clergyman from marrying any person who has been divorced. Doctor Tompkins is strongly in favor of any action which would make the regulation of matrimony more strict.

The tendency among the Philadelphians here is either to side with Doctor Tompkins in asking for a stricter interpretation of the Church's attitude toward divorce or allow the present canon to stay in force.

Two of the big projects to be taken up by the Church during the next three years are the creation of a substitute for the solemn marriage rite, and a campaign against "red agitators."

A fund of $900,000 is to be devoted to meeting the agencies of unrest in the country. It is to be used in educating the people on social problems and in efforts to enlist workers in a campaign against "red agitators."

Another of the items asked for is a fund of $200,000 to go to the church temperance society to aid in establishing saloon substitutes.

Objects of Proposed Fund
A summary of the things to be done with the huge fund will be given at the convention today. It shows that the fund will finance 192 new projects within the dioceses and districts of the church. This includes 179 new churches, 284 rectories, four hundred hospitals, eighteen schools, twelve social centers, the remodeling of 214 buildings and the equipment of 282. All of these things will cost about $20,000,000, of which $10,000,000 will come from outside sources.

The house of bishops today proposed immediate action on the proposition to admit women delegates to the house of deputies in future conventions until the house of deputies shall take action on the question.

Among the foreigners a great Americanization program is to be worked out under the plan. For this a fund of $1,500,000 is asked. The program is to be carried out in co-operation with the federal government. Community centers, the teaching of patriotism and languages and the preparation of workers among foreigners are planned. Many of the dioceses, it is disclosed in this report, are asking the Church for sufficient increase of funds to maintain a minimum of salaries for centers to meet the increased cost of living.

In the foreign field the commission will provide for nearly $10,000,000 for carrying on work in China, Japan, Alaska, Hawaiian Islands, the Philippines and Liberia.

This program has been outlined by the board of missions of the Church, of which Arthur E. Newbold is a member.

BURLESON BOASTS OF ACHIEVEMENTS

Postmaster General Defies Critics and Vigorously Defends His Administration

HITS AT PUBLISHERS

Bureau Dispatch to Evening Public Ledger
Atlantic City, Oct. 15.—Albert Sidney Burleson, postmaster general, defied all his critics before the National Hardware Association and the American Hardware Manufacturers' Association here today, in his first public address in three years.

Postmaster General Burleson declared in a general letter postage is a business proposition that ought to have been granted years ago and declared his intention of doing battle with every "selfish interest" which stands in the way of its realization.

He referred to himself as the "hero" of the newspapers and the idol of the magazines, and declared that in view of the tremendous burdens which have been heaped upon it during and since the war the "efficiency of the service borders on the miraculous."

The Rev. Edward S. Nield, of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Germantown, in his invocation opening the convention, prayed that President Wilson might be fully restored to health and strength.

There was a volley of applause when Mr. Burleson referred to the President as the "wonderful man in the White House."

Won't Give Up the Ship
Frequently stirring his auditors to outbreaks of laughter by whimsical allusions to the various forces which he insisted had stood in the way of every reform he sought to effect at Washington, Mr. Burleson submitted to the convention and fair-minded men that it was remarkable the Postoffice Department could himself have escaped with so little criticism.

"I am not going to try to check responsibility for any of the blame that has been saddled upon me," he said. "I have adopted certain definite policies. I believe to be for the benefit of the people of the United States, and I shall not give up the ship."

"Let you should begin to pity my sufferings, I want to say that all of the criticism heaped upon me has not cost me to miss one minute of sleep."

Because I did my duty to the nation as best I could, I had the honor of being elected to the highest office in the gift of the nation, and I am proud of the position of the cost of mail service. Every postmaster general for thirty years has said so. One of my predecessors—Charles Emory Smith, of Pennsylvania, a publisher himself—denounced the evil in unmistakable terms.

Mr. Burleson said he regarded the abolition of pneumatic tubes as one of the real achievements of his administration.

WANTS FOOD TARIFFS ENDED
Argentina Calls Conference of Pan-Americans to Consider Removal Buenos Aires, Oct. 15.—(By A. P.)—For the purpose of exchanging views on the feasibility of negotiating international treaties under which all countries would remove tariffs on food products, Foreign Minister Puyresordon has called a conference of all the diplomatic representatives of Pan-American nations accredited to Argentina.

The project is described as a "humanitarian means of reducing the worldwide high cost of living."

The foreign office says "free trade in food" not only would alleviate human sufferings, but, from a commercial point of view, would increase both exports and imports of food products to every country and thus more than compensate for losses in revenue.

The foods for which the Argentine Government proposes a free interchange include rice, frozen meat, cattle on the hoof, wheat, flour, fruits, milk, butter, barley, oats, fowls, eggs, fish and canned, salted soups, fish, salt and vegetables.

Sugar also would be included as soon as regulations in force in some countries against its export can be modified.

COL. HOUSE TO TESTIFY
Volunteers to Tell Senators Regarding Peace Negotiations
Washington, Oct. 15.—Colonel E. M. House has informed the Senate foreign relations committee that he will gladly come to Washington to add his personal narrative to the account of the Paris peace negotiations already given by the senators by Secretary of State Lansing and other members of the American delegation.

Colonel House's willingness to testify, although the committee has made no formal request that he appear, was conveyed today to Senator Lodge, chairman of the committee.

Arrangements to hear Colonel House, probably next week, it is understood, will be made by the committee at once. Every effort will be made, it is said, to hear Colonel House as soon as he is able to make the trip from New York to Washington and take the stand.

Thrust at Publishers
"Readjusting the compensation of the rates to railroads for carrying mails, and even under the too high rates allowed by Congress, we effected a saving written in eight figures in the first year."

CLUBWOMEN WEAR SUITS THREE YEARS

Tell of Thrift Habits Before Convention to Illustrate War on Living Costs

URGE GREATER ECONOMY

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 15.—That the thrift campaign means more to Pennsylvania women than mere discussions was shown today when the annual convention of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women became a testimonial meeting with women from all parts of the state, telling how long they had worn their suits, hats and shoes.

As Miss Georgia A. Bacon, first vice president of the General Federation, conducted a round table on thrift, women rose in all parts of the room, clamoring to be heard. Neatly tailored, bright-looking women enthusiastically exclaimed: "I've worn this suit three seasons, and I shall continue to wear it this year. I absolutely refuse to buy while prices are so outrageously high."

Another: "I can't afford to pay fifty dollars for shoes. For the first time in my life I am wearing patched shoes."

Don't Compete With Neighbor
"Don't try to keep up with your neighbor; live according to your own standard and within your own income."

That was the prevailing note throughout the discussion and women promised to take back to their clubs the thrift idea. Through more than 6,000 club women of the state the battle against H. C. L. will be fought according to the rule: "buy only what you need, and buy that judiciously."

Keeping of personal and household accounts; economy of expenditure; usage of materials on hand; stoppage of leaks; study of the family income and establishment of a family budget system; teaching thrift to children, these were some of the things urged by Miss Bacon.

Thrift, Americanization, public health and child welfare, all correlating, have been the keynotes of the convention since it opened Monday.

Miss Estelle Hunter, of Chicago, today explained the work of the children's bureau and urged clubwomen to take up the back-to-school and stay-in-school campaigns.

Major Eugene L. Swan, of the United States medical corps, made an address this afternoon on "Social Hygiene."

Miss Teresa Dashkoski spoke on Polish folk songs. John Hider, secretary of the Philadelphia Housing Association, talked on "Better Homes For Pennsylvania."

Charles F. Weller, national representative, community service of Chester and vicinity, spoke on "Promoting Democracy Through Leisure."

Tonight's program will include a report from Mrs. W. K. Sharpe, of Chambersburg, on the Americanization committee. Addresses will be made by Miss Helen Winkler, of New York, chairman of the Immigrant Aid Society, and Dr. Hugh Birchhead, of Baltimore, on "American in Peace and War."

A loan scholarship fund, by means of which young women may borrow to the extent of $200 a year without interest for educational purposes, was created by the federation today.

Eleven years ago, during the presidency of Mrs. Edward W. Biddle, two gift scholarships to State College were established.

Mrs. Joseph H. Boydard, of Bradford, chairman of committee on scholarships, today suggested the idea of loan scholarships. A resolution establishing the fund was adopted.

There is $1000 in the scholarship treasury.

Girls will have the use of the money throughout their college course and for two years thereafter without interest. They will be encouraged to make payments on the principal during vacation time.

Mrs. Ronald P. Glendon, president of the federation, read a telegram from Governor Sprout, expressing regret at not being able to attend the convention, and sending greetings and good wishes to the clubwomen.

British Plane Lands in France
Paris, Oct. 15.—A giant airplane flying from England to Italy landed half a mile north of Lyons, the village of Charolle, fifty miles north of Lyons, this morning. One of the wheels was broken when the landing was made, but none of the seven passengers was hurt.

James J. Hill's Friend Dies
Tarrytown, N. Y., Oct. 15.—Colonel James McNaught, Seattle lawyer and friend of the late James J. Hill, fell dead today at the railroad station here while waiting for a train. He had been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Ernest E. Ling. He was seventy-eight years old.

ALBERT OFF FOR YOSEMITE

Belgian King Leaves San Francisco After Strenuous Day

San Francisco, Oct. 15.

King Albert of Belgium, with Queen Elizabeth, the heir apparent, Ambassador Brand Whitlock and others making up the royal party touring the United States, were on their way today to the Yosemite valley, where they expected to arrive in time for luncheon.

The king is leading a strenuous life. In addition to receptions, luncheons, dinners and other official welcomes he talked with the Belgian consul general at New York on the long distance telephone yesterday, visited a vaudeville show and enjoyed moving pictures of himself taken a few hours before, took a swim in the Olympic Club tank and otherwise kept busy up to his departure at midnight for Yosemite.

The next two days will give the king another taste of American outdoor life, for which he already had declared his fondness. This afternoon the party will go from the floor of the Yosemite.

There is $1000 in the scholarship treasury.

Girls will have the use of the money throughout their college course and for two years thereafter without interest. They will be encouraged to make payments on the principal during vacation time.

Mrs. Ronald P. Glendon, president of the federation, read a telegram from Governor Sprout, expressing regret at not being able to attend the convention, and sending greetings and good wishes to the clubwomen.

Washington, Oct. 15.—(By A. P.)—Brigadier General Cornelius Vanderbilt has been awarded the Distinguished Service Medal for "exceptionally meritorious and distinguished services as commanding officer, 102nd engineers, and as engineer officer of the Twenty-seventh division."

The war department also announced today the award of similar decorations to two other officers of the Twenty-seventh division, Brigadier General Albert H. Hamilton, of Barlow, Fla., commanding the Fifty-third infantry brigade, and Colonel Franklin W. Ward, of Albany, N. Y., commander of the 100th infantry.

What is the Spell of the Essex?

The Car Men Say Combines Small Car Economy With Costly Car Quality, at Moderate Price

Its Charm is Contagious

Frequently owners of Essex cars speak of this feeling of riding in a big car. One writes: "I know the Essex is not a big car. But I can't make myself believe it. Plenty of leg room, spaciousness, solidness, and riding ease as smooth as a swallow's flight, undoubtedly produce this feeling. I call it the spell of the Essex."

From the first, you have noticed how men always compare Essex quality and performance with that of large, costly cars. It is not associated in their minds with small cars.

Yet they appreciate its small car advantage, too. Its economy, steering ease and agility in threading traffic are valued by every owner.

Also, it is because the Essex is small that such quality is possible at a moderate price.

A Ride Reveals Essex Quality
Perhaps you've ridden in the Essex. If so you know its appeal. And you understand the pride owners manifest.

They regard it with real affection, the confidence men reserve for merit.

More than a car of unusual qualities, it is a companion. In action it seems a part of the driver, responsive to every mood. Loitering along at two or three miles an hour, or facing long, fast tours cross-country, the driver of an Essex is always reliant; always confident of his destination.

Few care to extend the Essex to top speed. But it is good to know that speed without limit is underfoot if wanted.

Moreover, Essex power means acceleration. It gives Essex right of way everywhere.

Big Car Performance Small Car Economy
Women say its appearance captivates. Its spirited lines, color and performance are smartly distinctive, among motor modes. The Essex Sedan has won special favor with the growing numbers who prefer a closed car.

In the Essex, men say, are met the fine qualities of performance that distinguish the best of high-priced cars, with the economy of cost and operation that is an exclusive light car advantage.

When you know the Essex you will want one. Its popularity indicates a continued shortage. Don't suffer disappointment by delay in placing your order.
