

DISCUSS CANONS OF ORDINATION

Episcopal House of Deputies Considering Proposed Amendments

CHURCH UNITY REPORT IN

Detroit, Oct. 16.—Consideration of proposed amendments to the canons of ordination was undertaken this morning in the house of deputies of the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

Philadelphia's Western Rival Portland, Ore., has made such a strong bid for the 1922 general convention that members of the delegation from Philadelphia today were losing confidence that the invitation to Philadelphia would be accepted.

Church Unity Proposal

The movement for church unity took another step forward with the introduction of the "concordance" or plan which representatives of the Congregational and Episcopal churches have agreed on as a means by which the first named can unite with the Episcopal church.

The report, presented by a committee of which Rev. Rhinelandt of Pennsylvania is a member, is, in part, as follows:

"We are agreed that it is our Lord's purpose that believers in Him should be one visible society. Into such a society, which we recognize as the Holy Catholic Church, they are initiated by baptism, whereby they are admitted to fellowship with Him and with one another.

"The unity which was essential to His church's effective witness and work in the world must express and maintain this fellowship. It cannot be fully realized without community of worship, faith and order, including common participation in the Lord's Supper. Such unity would be compatible with a rich diversity in life and worship.

"We have not discussed the origin of the episcopate historically or its authority doctrinally, but we agree to acknowledge that the recognized position of the episcopate in the greater part of Christendom as the normal nucleus of the church's ministry and as the organ of the unity and continuity of the church is such that the members of the Episcopal churches ought not to be expected to abandon it in assenting to any basis of reunion.

"Divinely Inspired Churches "We also agree to acknowledge that Christian churches not accepting the Episcopal order have been used by the Holy Spirit in His work of enlightening the world, converting sinners and perfecting saints. They came into being through reactions from grave abuses in the church at the time of their origin and were led in response to fresh apprehensions of divine truth to give expression to certain necessary and permanent types of Christian experience, aspiration and fellowship and to secure rights of Christian people, which had been neglected or denied.

"No Christian community is involved in the necessity of disowning its past, but it should bring its own distinctive contribution not only to the common life of the church, but also to its methods of organization. Many customs and institutions which have been developed in separate communities may be preserved within the larger unity. What we desire to see is not grudging concession, but a willing acceptance of the treasures of each for the common enrichment of the united church.

"To give full effect to these principles in relation to the churches to which we respectively belong requires some form of corporate union between them. We greatly desire such corporate union. We also are conscious of the difficulties in the way of bringing it about, including the necessity for corporate action, even with complete good will on both sides. In this situation we believe that a practical approach toward essential union may be made by the establishment of intercommunion in particular instances."

PENN STUDENTS PROTEST REMOVAL OF CANDY VENDER

Draw Up Petition Asking That Privilege to Retain Stand in College Hall Be Given to Harry Hill, Deformed Negro

EIGHT HUNDRED students at the University of Pennsylvania want Harry Hill, a deformed and crippled negro, to be allowed to operate his confectionary stand in College Hall. A petition drawn up by students has brought an avalanche of signatures. It proposes to call the attention of the University authorities that for apparently little reason the negro's privilege of operating his little "stand" in the basement of the college building has been taken from him.

Hill is a unique character. Every one knows him and his cheery salutation, "How are you, friend?" When Hill was a young man he was attacked by a strange disease called by surgeons osteoarthritis. His bones were rotting away and only the most delicate of operations would save him. He went to the University Hospital and there Dr. J. William White and Dr.

Charles Harrison Frazier, skillful surgeons, operated on him. It was necessary for the surgeons to cut away the entire left arm and shoulder and also a rib. But the surgical feat proved successful and the deadly disease was checked. Hill's left ear is in peculiar circumstance for it is attached to the head by but a very little tissue at the lower and upper ends of the lobe. A pair of glasses, with bows far too short and tight, wore the back of the ear away, he says.

The students' friend is partially blind, badly crippled and extremely nervous. During the six years he has been in the College Hall basement he has been on his feet constantly, always shifting from one to the other. He supports an aged mother. Incidentally his candy stand makes a decided "hit" with the men and co-eds at Penn.

Rev. Dr. Hickson, of London, is asked in a resolution introduced by the Rev. Dr. William T. Manning, of New York. Doctor Hickson is in Detroit now. He has spoken several times in New York and in Philadelphia about his work of healing by prayer and faith.

Doctor Manning's resolution asks that a joint commission, consisting of three bishops, three probyters and three laymen, consider the fuller recognition of ministry of healing in the church and the need of its revival under proper sanctions and safeguards. An early report is asked.

COMPANY TO TEST LABOR CONTRACT

Employers Closely Watch Suit of Schuylkill Electric Against Striking Employees

SEEK TO RECOVER DAMAGES

Employers in this city are interested in a suit filed in the Federal District Court here to test the right of union employees to call a strike and thus break a contract with their employers.

The suit is unique in that a judgment is being asked against the striking employees for financial losses caused by the alleged contract breach. Suit was filed by the Schuylkill Electric Railway, which has not been able to operate its lines since the strike began more than a week ago.

The trolley lines of the company cover a vast territory in Schuylkill county. "We are determined to make a test," a statement from the company announced. "We are determined to ascertain whether a contract made by an employee is as binding in law as it is made by an employer. Of course, the law is a farce unless it is."

"In this case the men and the union had a contract with the Schuylkill company which would not terminate until next month. But the road is tied up tight and has been so for ten days, because the men violated their agreement. The company's loss is one for which we think we have redress at law. "Some of the employees own real estate and a judgment against them would be more than a scrap of paper. It is time that men who make agreements be taught they are obliged under the law to fulfill them, even if they do not feel any obligation to do so personally."

TO TALK ON FRANCE HERE

Clemenceau's Daughter to Visit This City on November 17

Madame Clemenceau - Jacquemaire, daughter of Premier Clemenceau, will visit this country on a lecture tour and speak at the Academy of Music November 17. In the war she served as a nurse in Red Cross hospitals. She wrote for leading periodicals on French social subjects and was honored by her government with the Croix de Guerre and the Medaille des Epidemies.

The lecture tour in this country, however, will not concern the war, but is made for the special purpose of promoting a better understanding between this country and France. With "The Soul of France" as her subject she will tell of French customs and French ideals and will discuss the difference in the social life of the two countries, particularly the status of women.

Madame Clemenceau-Jacquemaire will visit Philadelphia under the auspices of the French war relief committee of the Emergency Aid. Her lecture will be given in English.

PLAN CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE

Announcement Made by Tuberculosis Committee of Annual Drive

First signs of Christmas! The announcement made today by the Philadelphia tuberculosis committee of plans for its annual Red Cross Christmas seal sale foreshadowed the coming of Yuletide. Red Cross seals will be sold from 100 Santa Claus Red Cross booths, located in hotels, theatres, railway stations, industrial plants, clubs and other public places. They will be operated by the personnel of the Emergency Aid and allied organizations. Mrs. Charles M. Lea, of the Emergency Aid, is in charge of the campaign.

It is planned to sell 32,000,000 seals here during the drive, which begins on December 1. Among the new phases of the campaign will be the sale of seals to business houses and large manufacturing concerns, and the sending of composite circular letters, written, corrected and approved by ten business experts in the various lines of business endeavor.

EVICTED BY U. S. IS STILL FEARED

Tenants Here Send Protest to Washington Despite Safety Assurances

NO ACTION BEFORE SPRING

Formal protest against eviction of tenants in government-owned houses at Ninth street and Oregon avenue will be made to Washington, despite the fact that the federal authorities have denied any intention of such action.

Hundreds of residents attended the meeting held last night under the auspices of the League Island Community Service Association. The government, it was stated at Washington by Irving E. Macomber, vice chairman of the United States Housing Corporation, is cognizant of the critical housing situation in Philadelphia, and because of this situation has not even made definite plans to sell the houses. The holding corporation for the government has been ordered to dispose of its properties in all parts of the country. Occupants are to be given first chance to buy the houses, at terms suitable to the purchasers. Even this step has not been made here, Mr. Macomber said, because the authorities desire to allow every consideration to those occupants who do not want to buy. He stated definitely that renters on the Philadelphia improvement who do not want to buy their homes at a fair figure need fear no eviction plans before spring. Rumors to the effect that they must buy or move this fall have so aroused the tenants, however, that last night they appointed a committee to go to Washington and confer on the subject. Those named were Ray Scheets, G. T. Brown, H. McConville, V. F. Spring and P. J. Conners.
