We will Endeavor to make up in Service our Temporary Shortage in Production

SERVICE is the foundation upon which we built our success. Irrespective of the superiority of the machine, we could not have hoped to bring our product to the position it holds in the confidence of the public unless we had kept in mind the best interests of our patrons.

Although for the future we are preparing for larger and greater things, the present finds us unable to supply the enormous demand for Underwoods.

War requisitioned every typewriter our factory could produce. Peace, with reconstruction, changed conditions, and universal labor troubles has temporarily reduced our production.

While this condition continues we will turn all our branches into SERVICE STATIONS, with the basis our Service Building in New York City.

From this building and each of our 200 offices we will repair machines already in use, supply rental typewriters to those whose orders for new machines we are now unable to fill, and advise with Underwood users as to the best methods for improving their present typewriter equipment.

This effort to help is an expression of thanks to our friends who have done so much to make the Underwood Typewriter Company a success.
