KOSPOTH'S VIEWS SHARED BY TWO NOTED AMERICANS

Mr. Kospoth's analysis of conditions in Germany, as shown in the accomanying article, invites consideration alike from the sources from which he draws views of a startling nature and from the uniform accuracy of conclusions presented in his illuminating letters which appeared from time to time in the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER during the war and since the armistice.

His picture of the Pan-German revival following the cessation of hos tilities is in complete accord with that of Colonel John C. Groome, of this city, who recently returned from army service in Europe, and in an interview declared his firm conviction that tiermany was now better able to compete for world trade than ever before and in twenty years would be stronger than

John Kendrick Bangs, noted lecturer, who was in France engaged in relief work, was quoted in this newspaper a few days ago as saying the Hun was undefeated, or at least not conscious of defeat, while the armistice, there was no lukewarmness in the city's desire to entertain the members and pointed out that Philadelphia is entitled to the lonor because of its conspicuous share in the early growth of the Episcopal church in America and its steady growth.

Proposed Changes in Disfavor

Mighty Force Equipped for War

To put the present strength of the Enterous Professor Foerster is an idealist and a German patriot in the finest sense of the term, incapable of an untrule or malicious exaggeration. The same may well be said of Professor Lammasch, the nged statesman, who might have been smuggled away from the vast stores of the former imperial army although they should have been delivered to the Allies.

The attitude of the House of Deputies toward the proposed change in the divorce canea, which would have prevented the remarriage of innocent parties to a divorce by Episcopal regymen, which resulted yesterday in the defeat of the proposal, as well as the tendency to hold on to what the church already has is becoming more marked.

In the proposals for prayer-book revision thus far considered by the House of Deputies the tendency was shown by the three defeats given to the revision thus far considered by the House of Deputies the tendency was shown by the three defeats given to the revision thus far considered by the House of Deputies the tendency was shown by the three defeats given to the revision thus far considered by the House of Deputies the tendency was shown by the three defeats given to the revision thus far considered by the House of Deputies the tendency was shown by the three defeats given to the revision thus far considered by the House of Deputies the tendency was shown by the three defeats given to the revision thus far considered by the House of Deputies the tendency was shown by the three defeats given to the revision thus far considered by the House of Deputies the tendency was shown by the three defeats given to the revision that of the Textstandary and the proposal defeated was that of changing the prayer for the President of the United States.
