AREN'T rummage sales the greatest things? Some kindly men who stopped in at the Independence Square Red Cross on Wednesday to buy the luncheon served at the sale, almost lost their best new winter hats, just because an enterprising saleslady gathered them all up as they lay on one of the tables at the back of the room and remarked "These ought to be in front, they'll never sell back here." "No, madam, I hope they won't," cried one of the hat's owners, as he hastily explained, "That's mine. I put it down to eat my lunch."

Indeed I put my best silk umbrelladown a minute and fortunately thought of it just as I was going out, or I might have been minus a very handsome affair, that I would't give to any cause, which remark is not generous, but true.

THINK that affair that the Charlie
Foxes are to give for Sarah Harrison the night of the first of November will be a whole lot of fun, don't you? It's to be an old-fashioned informal country dance. The Foxes have the loveliest old farm house and grounds out at Spring House, which is just between Penllyn and Gwynedd Valley.

Their house has, of course, been inodernized and the old, low-ceilinged rooms have the prettiest papers and chintz curtains and wonderful, old-fashioned mahogany furniture! It's just one of the loveliest places I have ever seen. Mrs. Fox was Miss Mary Large, you know, a sister of Mrs. Joseph Harrison, who was Miss Mary Large, you know, a sister of Mrs. Joseph Harrison, who was Miss Margaretta Large, and so, of course, Sarah is a niece of Mrs. Fox.

Sarah has been staying with her grandmother, Mrs. Harrison, in Rosemont, and Maude, her sister, has been there too, going in to school every day. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison have been in Cape May all summer and will move up the end of next week. They have taken a house in Rosemont, where they will spend the winter.

Is all G. Thomson and her son, Mr. Rodman Wanamaker, 2d, of Maryland Woods, Ardmore, before the Rose Tree races tomocrow, will be Mr. and Mrs. David Mrs. Robert E. Strawbridge, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E.
