Kidney and Tripe Pie With Flaky Crust Is a Delicious Main Dish for the Dinner

By MRS. M. A. WILSON

THE English housewife will frequently during the fall and winter decide upon a kidney and tripe pie for the Sunday dinner and when it is served with either sweet potato pineapple or pone it makes a very delicious meal.

The markets are showing a splendid variety of fall and winter vegetables. Romaine and endive salad are also plentiful. The market basket, therefore, will require
Two oranges,
Three-quarters pound of sausage,
Two ounces of cheese,
One bunch of radishes,
One stalk of celery,
One beef kidney,
One pound of cooked honeycomb tripe,
One quart of sweet potatoes,
One bunch of beets,
One head of cabbage,
One glass of fennel haddie,
One package of pancake flour,
One package of raisins,
One quart of milk,
and the usual staples that are in the house. This menu would cost approximately about $2.75.

Kidney and Tripe Pie
Cut the kidney into small pieces, discarding the tubes and fat. Wash well and then drain and place in a saucpan and cover with cold water. Bring to a boil and cook for five minutes and then drain. Let cold water run on the kidney and return the kidney to the saucpan and cover with boiling water. Wash the tripe and cut it into inch blocks. Place in a saucpan with the kidney and add
One cup of sliced onions,

Mrs. Wilson at Food Fair; What She Does and When

Mrs. Mary A. Wilson, food expert of the Evening Public Ledger, is giving cooking demonstrations daily at the Food Fair in the First Regiment Armory, Broad and Calhoun streets.

Her program for today and tomorrow follows:
Today
3 p. m.—Fireless cookery, breads from whole wheat, deviled egg salad, cheese novelties and pastry.
Tonight
8.00—Bread, fancy fruit roll, fancy pastry.
Tomorrow
3 p. m.—Fireless cookery, Vienna breads, crouters, layer cake.
8 p. m.—Cornbread, fruit salads.

One-quarter teaspoon of thyme,
One-half bay leaf,
One faggot of soup herbs.
Cook slowly until the kidney is tender and then thicken the gravy slightly and season with
One tablespoon of Worcestershire sauce,
Four tablespoons of finely minced parsley,
Two teaspoons of salt,
One teaspoon of pepper.
Now make some dumplings as follows, and then drop them into the stew; place in a bowl
One cup of flour,
Two teaspoons of baking powder,
One teaspoon of salt,
One-half teaspoon of pepper,
Two tablespoons of grated onion,
Three tablespoons of finely minced parsley,
One tablespoon of shortening,
Five tablespoons of water.

Mix to a dough with the water and then roll smoothly. Turn on a board and roll out one-half inch thick. Cut into tiny blocks and then drop into the stew. Cook for five minutes and then turn the cooked kidney and tripe into a casserole or baking dish and cover with plain pastry crust, cutting three gashes in the top to permit the steam to escape. Bake in a moderate oven for forty minutes and then serve from the dish.

Sweet Potato Pineapple
Small sweets may be used for this dish. Boil one quart of sweet potatoes until tender and then drain and cool. Remove the skins and then mash and season with
One teaspoon of salt,
One-half teaspoon of pepper,
One-quarter teaspoon of nutmeg,
Two tablespoons of butter.
Form into shape of a pineapple on a baking dish and then take a tablespoon and make the eyes of the pineapple. Brush with shortening and sprinkle thickly with brown sugar and cinnamon. Place in a moderate oven for twenty minutes to brown.

Sweet Potato Pone
Spread the mashed sweet potatoes one inch thick in well-greased baking pan and then spread the top with shortening and then sprinkle thickly with brown sugar and dust with cinnamon. Bake in a moderate oven for twenty-five minutes. Cut into squares and lift on a platter and serve with the kidney and tripe pie.

Finnan Haddie a la King
Pour boiling water over the haddie and let stand for twenty minutes. Drain well and then with a fork break into flakes. Now place in a saucpan
Two cups of milk,
Eight tablespoons of flour,
Stir with a fork to dissolve the flour and then bring to a boil and cook for two minutes. Add the prepared finnan haddie and
Two green peppers, chopped fine,
One and one-half teaspoons of paprika,
One-half teaspoon of salt,
One-half teaspoon of mustard.
Mix, using a fork to prevent breaking the flakes of the haddie. Heat until very hot and then serve on toast.

Raisin Strudel
Place in a mixing bowl
Three cups of flour,
One teaspoon of salt,
Three teaspoons of baking powder,
One teaspoon of cinnamon,
Two tablespoons of sugar.
Sift to mix and then rub in one-half cup of shortening and then mix to a dough with nine tablespoons of ice-cold water. Roll out one-quarter inch thick on a slightly floured pastry board and then spread with seed-cake raisins. Dust lightly with brown sugar and cinnamon and sprinkle with grated rind of one lemon, also the juice of one lemon.
Now roll as for jelly roll, tucking in the ends very tightly. Place on a well-greased baking sheet and brush the tops of the strudel with beaten yolk of one egg. Bake in a slow oven for forty minutes. Use the white of egg and one-half glass of jelly for the fruit whip. Make an eggless mayonnaise for the coleslaw as follows:

Place two tablespoons of evaporated milk in a soup plate and add
One-half teaspoon of paprika,
One-half teaspoon of mustard,
Stir with a fork to blend well and then beat in two-thirds cup of salad oil and when thick and creamy add
One teaspoon of sugar,
One-half teaspoon of salt,
One teaspoon of vinegar.
Beat thoroughly to mix.

Some Difficult Questions
Dear Madam—As a reader of the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER, I would like you to publish the answer to the questions below.
If a cannon was fired off the rear platform of a moving train would it make any difference of the range of the gun?
Does the weight of a ten-story brick building rest on the bottom course, in other words, does each and every course add to the weight? Kindly publish answers in the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER.

Stunts for Banquet
Dear Madam—Kindly advise the writer on some of your valued suggestions regarding the duties of an entertainment committee for a banquet given for the executives and clerical force of a large corporation. Shows you have any amusing games, etc., which would be appropriate for this evening entertainment, I would very much appreciate same.

New Hat Trimmings A Daily Fashion Talk by Florence Rose

OSTRICH feathers—but there are no ostrich feathers on the hats that are worn. Quite so, and it is just because of what I have to say about ostrich feathers that I have selected three hats that are quite ostrichless for today's illustration.

Adventures With a Purse

I ASKED her if she had anything to tell me about the Adventures. Together we walked around in her fascinating little shop. "These baskets are nice," she said, pointing to flat straw baskets, looking somewhat like flat purses, one fitting into the other. "They cost only twenty-five cents," she explained. For a minute, I was not particularly impressed. And then I understood. "Why, of course," I exclaimed, "if a woman were clever with a brush, she could paint stunning designs on them, in bright blues, oranges, blacks and greens." "Yes," she agreed. "And then some people crochet bottoms to them, and decorate them with crocheted flowers." Think of the possibilities of these little baskets with their modest price of twenty-five cents.

I am one who loves cold weather. I love to come out on brisk mornings, and have to walk fast to keep warm. And I thrill to cold clear nights when the sharp air brings a stinging color to the cheeks. But when I'm in my own home, with a comfortable chair, and a good book, I want warmth. I don't want to feel a draft on my neck, or any other part of my anatomy. Which may not be the reason for my having been attracted immediately by the strips of felt, to tack around windows to keep out cold air. You can get twelve-yard pieces of this felt for ten cents. And I must say that considering the prices we pay for coal these days, we want to do everything we can to get all the good from it.

A delightful gift for the little boy or girl who must be kept in bed until a cold is broken up is one of the surprise boxes I discovered today. It is interestingly decorated, and contains seven fascinating little packages, one for each day in the week. Each is tied with a differently colored ribbon, a color for each day in the week, and the little rhyme on the front of the box tells which color belongs to which day. The price of this box is $1.25. I would strongly advise you to let me tell you now where you can purchase one, for while you may not want one now, you will probably be very glad to know of it some day, when tired little legs become restless from inactivity, and yet doctor's orders require a longer time in bed.

A charming guest room set consists of a pitcher, tumbler and candlestick of old-rose china. They rest on a tray which matches. The price is $5.50. It is in the guest room above all other rooms that we love to put the little attractive extras.

For the names of shops where articles mentioned in "Adventures With a Purse" can be purchased, address Editor of Woman's Page, EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER, or phone the Woman's Department, Walnut 3000.

DO YOU ENJOY TROUBLE LIKE THIS GIRL DOES?

Life Would Mean Nothing to Her if It Yielded Nothing to Complain About

THE young woman was describing a certain man's wife. "She would be all right if she didn't mourn so much," she said. "What do you mean, 'mourn'?" her companion asked. "Oh," was the reply, "she just sort of loves to have something to wear a long face about." I overheard this conversation on the street car and it just occurred to me how easy it is for any of us to fall into the habit of liking to be dolof about things. Ever, I imagine, have the cheer-me-up-if-you-dare feeling?

The other day I ran into a young friend who was wearing a face two and a half sizes too long. "It's always that way in our family," she confided. "How?" I asked. "Well," she explained in a tone of resignation, "I wanted to take dancing lessons this year and now Jack comes home and says he has to have a dress suit. Dad says he ought to have it, too, and the family can't afford both this fall, so I have to go without the dancing lessons."

A few minutes later the conversation turned to my little friend's wealthy aunt. "She gave me twenty-five dollars for my birthday," she volunteered. And it was all so plain in my own mind I couldn't help suggesting, "Well, why don't you use it to pay for the dancing lessons?"

Halloween Games
Dear Madam—Will you kindly publish in your column a list of games suitable to play at a Halloween party, the guests being girls from fourteen to seventeen years of age?
A DEVOTED READER.
If you send me a self-addressed envelope I will send the games. They are too long to print in the column.
For an Evening Party
Dear Madam—Kindly tell me how the schoolgirl costume is made. What other costumes would suit a tall, thin girl—something where the hair is worn in curls? When one goes to a party with a young man and neither can dance what should they do—go sit down until unmasked, when they can see their friends? Is it proper to wear a coat suit to an informal evening affair?
A READER.
A schoolgirl costume might consist simply of a shirtwaist and skirt, but perhaps the more picturesque idea of it would be a jumper and pleated skirt, with a school bag slung over your back and your hair hanging down and tied with a huge black bow. But I shouldn't advise a tall thin girl to wear that costume. She would look better in a cap and black gown as the girl graduate. France and Belgium, the most costumes, wear curls, and the full skirts, bodices and aprons are becoming to the slender girl. Janice Meredith wears curls, too. This answers H. E., who wrote on the same subject.
There will surely be some games of some kind for those who do not dance at the party, and you and the young man can take part in the games until the unmasking. It might be better to wait until later to go to the party, so that you will get there just about in time for the unmasking. You can mingle with the rest of the guests between dances, and if any one asks you to dance ask him to sit out the dance with you.
If you have a dressy waist to wear with your suit, and the affair is very informal, it would be correct to wear the suit. But it is more of a compliment to your hostess if you wear an afternoon dress.

Shows you have any amusing games, etc., which would be appropriate for this evening entertainment, I would very much appreciate same.
N. C.
The duties of an entertainment committee for a banquet usually consist in getting up some kind of stunts to be given during the affair or just afterward. One stunt that is not very new, but is always amusing, is to have a tray passed to the guests, filled with cards. Some cards are blank, others have subjects for speeches on them. Each guest who receives a speech card must make a short speech on the subject given him. The subjects may be anything from the
