

The industrial health and progress of Philadelphia is indicated by the money her workers save

To establish a constantly growing bank account, even a small one, builds the worker's confidence in himself—in his employer—and in the industry he helps support—

It produces an easing of anxiety for the future that makes him a more cheerful, a faster and a better workman.

The thrift of the workman gives greater support to the industries in Philadelphia than in any other city of the country—

Just one of Philadelphia's banking institutions carries 270,000 wage-earning accounts, to which have been deposited over $150,000,000 of labor's money—

150,000 of Philadelphia's citizens own their own homes—more than double the percentage of any other city—

And the per capita wealth of the city is more than three times greater than that of the country at large.

One of the most constructive contributions to the quality of Crew Levick lubricants is the Philadelphia habit of thrift that has bred the confidence and initiative of our workmen—

Confidence in themselves, in us and in your appreciation of quality—the things upon which their future rests.
