TIGERS' STAR GAINER

Right Halfback Trimble is the man upon whom will fall most of the offensive burden for Princeton in the Colgate game this afternoon

By SPICK HALL

Staff Correspondent of the Evening Public Ledger

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 25.—In spite of all the hard luck stories that have emanated from Hamilton, N. Y., concerning the condition of the Colgate team, Princeton was not optimistic this morning over her chances in this afternoon's conflict with the conqueror of Cornell. All this week Coach Bill Roper has been driving his men at top speed and drilling them as hard as if they were United States marines on the parade ground.

Cool and cloudy weather added to the pessimistic gloom.

In last Saturday's mixup with Rochester there were many glaring faults shown in the makeup of the Tiger varsity and Roper has been doing everything in his power to correct these. In the first place, he has put the backs through a week that they are not likely to forget, practicing the gentle art of blocking and interference in general.

Last week the Tiger back that was elected to carry the ball had to be the whole show. He was given virtually no assistance by his comrades. Of course, Princeton got away with with this because they were playing Rochester. It was fortunate that the Colgate game was on the books today, and not last Saturday. Otherwise a very sad chapter would have been inserted in Princeton's football history.

Tigers Improved

At the beginning of the week it was predicted freely by all who had seen Princeton play against Lafayette and Rochester that the Colgate affair would be a slaughter, but the improvement shown in Princeton's play during the last few days has put hope into the team and student body alike, although, as already mentioned, the optimism is in more or less of an embryonic stage.

Roper did not state whom he would use in the backfield, but he didn't have to. He showed by his selections in the scrimmages all week just which men were going to get their big chance this afternoon. He is going to start Jack Strubling at quarterback and will keep him in the game throughout unless an injury forces him from the conflict.

Murray and Hopkins, who acted as pilots in the last half of the Rochester game, are not as capable of handling the team as Strubling is, nor are they in his class as mechanical performers. Hence Jack will be the man at the wheel as long as he can last, which every one here hopes will be for sixty minutes.

Wittmer at Fullback

Wittmer has been doing excellent work this week in the secret conflicts on University Field against the second eleven and the freshmen, and he is also sure to be a starter at fullback. On either side of Wittmer will be Trimble and McPhee. The latter up to this week had been tried out at end, but the need for a dependable halfback was more pressing than for an end, hence Roper decided to put him through a week's drilling in the backfield.

He has come through, apparently in good style, and if the interference against Colgate is as good as it was against the second team in this week's scrimmage, the Tigers should present a strong offense.

Trimble has been doing the bulk of the work in the backfield because he has proved conclusively that he has the stuff out of which All-Americans are made. He is a rattling good forward passer, a fair punter, good at taking openings in the line and is a fine open field runner. With all these assets in his possession, Trimble is certain to give a good account of himself.

These shifts in the Princeton backfield have increased their attacking power in the neighborhood of a 100 per cent.

Line Worries Roper

But the backfield is not what is worrying Roper. He realizes that his line as it played the first two games cannot be compared with the forwards that Colgate sent forth to down the Big Red team last Saturday. This knowledge has resulted in the shifting of Captain McGraw to guard from tackle. Parisette has been given, at least temporarily, the captain's former job. His running mate on the other side of the center will be Keck, who got away with his work well in the first two tilts and has been doing better each day this week.

Hal Ballin, who captained the Tigers in 1914, has been here all week and virtually has taken the coaching of the guards out of Roper's hands. He at least has gotten the Princeton forwards to realize that holes cannot be opened nor plays stopped by men who are standing up. Yesterday, although the day before the game, Ballin gave the forwards a full day's work, minus the scrimmages. They have begun to play low from habit, which is the only way that any line can ever be a success.

The Colgate eleven arrived this morning, thirty-two strong, very strong, too, if outward appearances are any criterion of a team's ability. They slipped out of Hamilton yesterday and spent last night at the Pennsylvania Hotel, in New York, arriving here on board a train that carried a big delegation of Princeton followers from New York.

The "Bear" rumors from Hamilton were shot all to pieces when it was learned that Colgate's regular backfield would open against Princeton. All week sob stories about Anderson, Watkins, Laird and Gillo have been floating around the country. They were fit subjects for the Home for Incurables, according to their press agents. But today they did not impress any one with the idea that they were likely to be put on the pension list for cripples.

Anderson will be there when the bell rings to run the team at quarter; Gillo will be at fullback and Laird and Watkins at the halves. And Princeton is going to find that this quartet can travel about as fast and as hard as anything that has hit Old Nassau in many moons.

Crowd Arrives Early

As far as the line is concerned, Colgate will stand pat on the array that showed Cornell how the game really should be played. None of them were sufficiently shaken last Saturday to develop even a little rumor about their injuries, hence it is certain that all of them will be in the pink of condition, because they have had a big week of work.

It was expected this morning that 15,000 football fans would be on hand at the kickoff. As the trains arrived from New York and Philadelphia this prediction looked like a good bet. The street even at an early hour took on that appearance that indicates that there is something stirring.

Autos crawled up and down Nassau street flying Orange and Black banners, students, young women and alumni paraded on the camps, the air was clear, and altogether it looked like the old days of football, the first time that this has happened since the recent unpleasantness with the Hindenburg team.

The game was scheduled to begin at 2:30 o'clock.

Crowd Early at Penn Grid Game

won twenty-five, Lafayette nine, and four have resulted in ties.

It was in 1915 that a Lafayette eleven last triumphed over the Red and Blue, and never since has the Maroon had such a powerful team as the one which represents the March institution this year. But despite this, Lafayette is not confident.

The Maroon is hopeful, but the power of Pennsylvania's attack has been proved by the large scores that have been run up so far this season and Captain Boddie Weldon and his associates are well aware that they will meet one of the best teams in the country.

Two weeks ago Jock Sutherland's players held Princeton down to a 9-6 score. Those who saw the exhibition agree that the up-staters beat the Tigers in everything but the final score. They outplayed the Jerseyites from the beginning, and it was only a field goal off the toe of Strubing that gave victory to the Orange and Black.

Penn Favorite

Despite the splendid showing of the Eastonians against Princeton, Pennsylvania is the favorite in what little betting that has been placed. In some cases, Red and Blue supporters have been so optimistic that odds of two to one have been offered and taken. Few bets have been made on the victor. Most of the money laid has been placed on the approximate score. Even money has been offered that Penn will win by three touchdowns.

The Maroon will put an exceptionally heavy team on the field and one that is well coached. Jock Sutherland, the head tutor, and Pud Seidel, the assistant, are both former star linesmen at Pitt and have taught the Eastonians the Glenn Warner system.

Sutherland refused to make any prediction as to the outcome of the game, but said that he would not be surprised to see Lafayette upset Penn.

May Surprise

"I am not saying that we will beat Penn," said Sutherland, "but this is a year of upsets and I would not be surprised if we cause one of the upsets against Penn."

The Red and Blue will be outweighed by a full six pounds and this should give Lafayette a distinct advantage. The Maroon line has five pounds on the Quaker forwards and the backs nine pounds on the Folwell offensive quartet.

Eastonians claim that Penn, despite the sturdy line built up by Doctor Wharton, will not be able to gain through their forwards. They point to the great showing of Williams and Bedner, tackles, Schwab and Wolbert, guards, and Brown, center, in the Princeton game when most of the Tiger attacks were turned back for a loss.

Williams, at left tackle, is a giant. He tips the scales at 225 pounds in his football togs and he is said to be a tower on defense.

Stetson Girls Best in Tank

Winning the first three places in the exhibition of swimming strokes, the final event of the ninth annual grammar school swimming meet for girls decided in the Philadelphia Turngemeinde pool yesterday afternoon, enabled the Stetson School to gain possession of the trophy annually awarded for proficiency between the youthful mermaids of the various schools of this city. The events, five in all, brought out an array of eighty-six swimmers.

One More Ball Game

The final baseball game of the season will be played tomorrow afternoon on the grounds of the Nativity Club, Belgrade and Ontario, when Nativity meets Hillsdale. These clubs have met four times this season and each has two victories to its credit. Tomorrow's game will decide the winner of the series. Nativity will have an all-star line-up in the field.

Auto, Motorcycle and Plane Race

The first airplane, motorcycle, automobile meet ever held in this city will be staged this afternoon at the Belmont Driving Park, near Narberth. The feature event of the meet will be a five-mile race between an automobile and airplane. During the race the airplane will fly at a height of only twenty-five feet.

Zbyszko Gets Li'l' Workout

Boston, Oct. 25.—Wladek Zbyszko, the Polish wrestler, defeated the Russian grappler, Bonski, in straight falls here last night. Bonski was substituted for Hilmer Knopp, who failed to appear. The time for the falls was 23 minutes 50 seconds and 2 minutes 30 seconds. The men wrestled under catch-as-catch-can rules.

Mrs. Herzog Gets 93

New York, Oct. 25.—Mrs. S. A. Herzog, of the Fairview Country Club, proved the star performer of the one-day tournament for women on the Arcola Country Club golf links yesterday. She scored 93 for the eighteen holes of play, which was the low gross.

Georgetown U. Invades Detroit

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 25.—Georgetown came to Detroit today to demonstrate its famous running attack to the University of Detroit. It was the southerners' first appearance here. The local eleven went into the contest minus the services of three of its gridiron stars through injuries.

League Island Plays Atlantic

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 25.—The Atlantic City High School plays the eleven of the receiving ship at League Island today. The contest was substituted for Burlington H[illegible]

Barron	right halfback	McCracken
Marlan	fullback	A. Breman

with several substitutes is the line-up

Pittsburgh, Oct. 25.—Georgia Tech's invasion of the North in question of football honors was initiated here today when the "Golden Tornado" team clashed with the University of Pittsburgh eleven at Forbes field.

The Panthers entered the struggle with several substitutes in the lineup, for a number of regulars, injured in the Syracuse game last week, were still on the hospital list.

The southerners were confident that they could win over Pittsburgh, and even up last year's defeat, when the Panthers triumphed 32 to 0.

So far this season Tech has won three games and has held all opponents scoreless, while Pittsburgh has won two and lost one.

PRINCE TO WITNESS ARMY-BOSTON GAME

Belgian Royal Party at West Point Before Grid Game. Prince Sticks

Army		Boston College
Blaik	left end	Urban
Travis	left tackle	Sheehan

Kieffer	right end	Comerford
Wilhide	quarterback	Corrigan
Schabacker	right halfback	Fitzpatrick
McQuarrie	fullback	Scanlon

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 25.—With Prince Leopold, Belgian heir apparent, as an interested spectator the Army and Boston College will meet on the gridiron here today.

The Belgian royal party is expected here early this morning and, after a review by the corps of cadets, the king and queen will immediately return to New York, Prince Leopold remaining for the game.

The Army is primed for the Bostonians and will flash everything it has today in a sincere effort to down the conquerers of Yale. All the varsity men are back for the first time in two weeks except Breidster, whose position at guard will go to Bryan. The teams are expected to line up as follows at 3 o'clock.

MICHIGAN EAGER

Wolverines Anxious to Hold Fast in Championship Race Against Ohio

Ohio		Michigan
Myers	left end	R. J. Dunn
Huffman	left tackle	(Capt.) Goetz

Solers	right tackle	G. Dunn
Flower	right end	Kye
Stinchcomb	quarterback	Soarks
Davis	left halfback	Weston
Harley (Capt.)	right halfback	Crose
William	fullback	Vick

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 25.—Ohio State and Michigan, two of the five Western Conference football teams which went into today's contests unbeaten, clashed here in what was considered by many followers the most important "Big Ten" game of the day. A defeat for either team meant virtual elimination from the conference championship race. Ohio State was battling for her first victory over the Wolverines, who have downed the Buckeyes thirteen times and been held to a tie twice in fifteen years.

Red Pitcher Grid Professor

Middlebury, Vt., Oct. 25.—Ray Fisher, pitcher for the world champion Cincinnati Reds baseball team, joined the coaching staff of the Middlebury College football team yesterday.

Tigers' 'Potential Power' Will Win, Says Edwards

William H., or "Big Bill" Edwards as he is better known, former Princeton football captain and now collector of internal revenue for the Second district of New York, was asked yesterday what he thought of Princeton's chances against Colgate.

Edwards replied that the showing of the team against Rochester last Saturday was decidedly poor, but, nevertheless, he figured that his alma mater was more than a match for the upstate eleven. Incidentally, in his remarks, Edwards said he thought Harvard was the best team on the field today.

Speaking of today's struggle he said, "Personally, I do not think Colgate can beat Princeton. I may be prejudiced, but I believe the potential power in the Princeton team, if awakened, will hold the Colgate team, but the Princeton team will [illegible]

STAR INDEPENDENT TEAMS IN BATTLE

Noted Players Meet in Holmesburg-Conshohocken Game Today

NORRISTOWN STAGES FRAY

Conshohocken		Holmesburg
Higgs	left end	Kelly
Kramer	left guard	Kurtz
Campbell	center	Morrison
Fischer	right guard	McVeigh
Endicott	right tackle	Douthart
Thomas	right end	Diamond
Cable	quarterback	Knauer
McGuehen	right halfback	Yeabsley
Eble	fullback	Scott

Norristown, Pa., Oct. 25.—One of the best semiprofessional football games of the year will be staged here this afternoon, when Holmesburg, with a flock of stars in its line-up, will meet Conshohocken in an important skirmish.

These teams have been noted rivals for many seasons and this year finds them with two well-balanced, powerful elevens. Bert Yeabsley and Johnny Scott, two backfield men who rate with the best in the game, will help Holmesburg. McKissick, the former Swarthmore captain, will direct the attack.

Bull Lowe, a former star Lafayette lineman, will be on the first line of defense. Knauer, another star backfield man, will be with Holmesburg.

Conshohocken will not be without its star cast. McGuckin, famed as a dropkicker when performing under the Villanova colors, will be at one of the halfback posts. Other backfield men will be Williams, Cable, Jones and Eble. Mackert, the former upstate star, may see service at one of the backfield posts before the end of the game.

FRANKFORD-HOBART TEAMS CLASH TODAY

Strong Independent Elevens Battle on Community Field This Afternoon

Frankford A. A.		Hobart A. A.
Nolin	left end	J. Egan
Gibbs	left tackle	L. Pierson
Wheeler	left guard	Sullivan
Simondet	center	Wright
Bainbridge	right guard	Goldman
Mellow	right tackle	Finley
Shlicar	right end	Sykes
Remmey (capt.)	quarterback	Egan (capt.)
Hill	right halfback	W. Pierson
Pickord	fullback	Brenbeder

Referee—Winters. Umpire—Purnell. Time of periods—Fifteen minutes.

Frankford A. A. and Hobart A. C. play on Community Field, Wakeling and Large streets, Frankford, this afternoon. The kickoff is scheduled for 3:15 o'clock.

Both teams will present their strongest line-up, as the game today is one of a series to decide the independent championship of eastern Pennsylvania.

The suburban eleven is favorite over the West Philadelphia aggregation, but Hobart promises to spring a surprise with some new men in the line-up. Frankford has not been scored upon this season, every game so far having been won with ease.

Captain Bob Remmey, Frankford's stellar quarterback, who has been out og the game three weeks because of two fractured ribs, will start the game.

EAST FALLS ON GRID

Y. M. A. Meets Cheltenham A. A. on Gridiron at Cheltenham

Cheltenham A. A. plays East Falls Y. M. A. at Cheltenham today.

Cheltenham		East Falls
Wilkinson	left end	Brownsworth
Myers	left tackle	Kennedy
McQuillan	left guard	Reed
Ashworth	center	Muschamp

Cullud Gen'lmen in Fight

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 25.—Kid Norfolk, of New York, and Jeff Clark, of Joplin, Mo., negroes, fought ten fairly fast rounds here last night, the decision going to Norfolk by a big margin. The New Yorker carried the fight to his man, landed the cleaner punches, and had Clark slowing up in the closing rounds.

Yale Wants Crew Coach

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 25.—An early selection of a rowing coach at Yale to succeed Mather Abbott is expected to be made by the university crew management, it was announced yesterday.

Morgan Takes High Dive

Lewiston, Me., Oct. 25.—Billy De Foe, of Providence, won his second victory in four days by knocking out Eddie Morgan, of Philadelphia, with a terrific right-hand punch to the chin in the third round. Morgan never had a chance, being out for ten minutes.

YALE GREETS TUFTS WITH PATCHED-UP TEAM

Despite Boston Black Eye, Eli Is Bold Against Little College

Yale		Tufts
Reinhardt	left end	White
Walker	left tackle	Fazioli
Acosta	left guard	Connell
Galvin	center	Prior
Galt	right guard	Reardon
Dickens	right tackle	Beachman
Allen	right end	Cahoon
Kempton	quarterback	Martin
French	left halfback	Thornton
Crane	right halfback	Mitchell
Webb	fullback	Smith

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 25.—Yale sent a patched-up team against Tufts in today's football game in the Yale bowl.

Although still smarting under the defeat they suffered at the hands of Boston College last week, the Blue was confident of winning from the Medford eleven by a good margin.

CORNELL TO TRY GRID 'COME-BACK'

But Dartmouth Is Favorite Today at Polo Grounds—Won in 1912, 24-0

TWO SCRUBS IN LINE-UP

Cornell		Dartmouth
Colvin	left end	Suttmeirer
Taylor	left tackle	Worth
Pendleton	left guard	Crisp
Horrell	center	Cunningham
Miller	right guard	Youngstrom
Sutton	right tackle	Morsby
Wilson	right end	Threshie
Shiverick	quarterback	Cornell
Davies	left halfback	Robertson
Mayer	right halfback	Eckberg
Shuler	fullback	Jordon

New York, Oct. 25.—The football teams of Cornell and Dartmouth meet at the Polo Grounds here today with combinations slightly weakened as the result of hard games a week ago.

Notwithstanding that the left side of the Dartmouth line probably will contain one or more second-string players, the Hanover eleven is a slight favorite. The two institutions have not met on the gridiron since 1912, when Dartmouth defeated Cornell, 24 to 0.

SYRACUSE FACES W. AND J. IN STADIUM

Visitors Minus Two Regulars. Thousands in the Stands to See Fracas

W. and J.		Syracuse
Carroll	left end	Brown
Stein	left tackle	Hoople
Garbisch	left guard	Alexander
Shields	center	Robertson
Straw	right guard	Gulick
Henry	right tackle	Segal
Loucks	right end	Schwarzer
Bixler	quarterback	Ackley
Eielson	left halfback	Abbott
Erickson	right halfback	Barscha
Smith	fullback	Erwig

Referee—W. C. Crowell, Swarthmore. Umpire—Thomas J. Thorp, Columbia. Head linesman—A. J. Rooney, of the Boston Traveler. Time of quarters—Fifteen minutes.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Syracuse University sent the same eleven that defeated Pitt last week into the game with Washington and Jefferson in Archbold Stadium here today. W. and J. was minus the services of two regulars, however, both Templeton and Jisa being out of the line-up. Garbisch replaces the former and Smith the latter.

The weather was threatening, but thousands were in the stands. The line-up:

Farm School vs. Lafayette Fresh

Farm School, Pa., Oct. 25.—The game with Williamson Trade School that was to be played this Saturday on the West Philadelphia High gridiron in Philadelphia has been canceled by Williamson, and the National Farm School eleven will play Lafayette Fresh here today.

Richards vs. Proal on Links

New York, Oct. 25.—As a result of the two rounds of golf match play run off yesterday, W. L. Richards, Pierre Proal, C. R. Jenkins and A. E. Ranney are the survivors from the original field, who still carry the possibility of emerging from the annual tournament as golf champions of the New York Athletic Club. This quartet resumed hostilities this morning with Richards pitted against Proal and Jennings meeting Ranney in the semifinal round. The final will be staged in the afternoon.

Vincome to Meet Ewing

These old rivals, the Ewing A. A. and Vincome teams, will line up in their annual clash at Strawbridge & Clothier grounds, Sixty-second and Walnut streets, this afternoon at 3:30.

Jamaica Kid Shaded

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 25.—According to the newspaper decisions Clay Turner had a slight margin the better of Jamaica Kid in their ten-round fight here.

Joe Leonard Better

Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Joe Leonard outpointed Young Michaels in their ten-round bout here last night.

President Baum Steps Out

San Francisco, Oct. 25.—The resignation of President Allan T. Baum, of the Pacific Coast League of Baseball Clubs, was unanimously accepted at the annual meeting of the league here yesterday.

Pal Fights Pal When Penn and Maroon Meet

Friend will fight friend when Pennsylvania and Lafayette clash on Franklin Field this afternoon, for several of the players on the teams have been buddies in other days. The opposing captains, Bert Bell, of the Quakers, and Bodie Weldon, of the Maroon, were close pals when they were in Unit No. 20, the hospital outfit that made such a splendid record in France.

Bots Bruner, the Red and Blue fullback, and Lehecka, Brown and Wolbert all played together in their schoolboy days on the Easton High School eleven.

HARVARD'S LATEST BACKFIELD STARTS

Crimson, However, Doesn't Look for Much of a Battle From Virginia

CASEY AND HORWEEN OUT

Harvard		Virginia
Ryan	left end	J. Bleeker
Sedgwick	left tackle	Blakely
Woods	left guard	Parrish
Haveneyer	center	Hawkins
Clark	right guard	Churchman
Hubbard	right tackle	McGowan
Steele	right end	Davis
Murray	quarterback	Burnett
Humphrey	left halfback	H. Rynehart
Burnham	right halfback	Russell
Hamilton	fullback	Ray

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 25.—Harvard brought out a new backfield for the football game with the University of Virginia today, injuries still keeping Casey and Ralph Hoween out of play.

As the Virginia team is much lighter than the Crimson, the Harvard coaches feel confident of the result. The probable lineup:

Rain for Chicago-Northwestern Bout

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Both teams slightly weakened by accidents, the University of Chicago and Northwestern University football elevens lined up at Stagg Field today for a contest that was to decide whether Chicago was to continue in the race for Western Conference honors. Northwestern was eliminated last week by Wisconsin. Rain began falling early today and the weather forecast was for cold weather, indicating the field and playing conditions would not be the best.

Treat 'Em Roughs for Title

When the Lincoln Giants and Guy Empey's Treat 'Em Roughs clash tomorrow afternoon in the first double-header of a six-game series for the semi-professional championship of Manhattan, local fans will see some of the best major league players of the country in action.

DOBSON OPPOSES MERCHANT ELEVEN

Industrial Teams Clash in Replay Match in American Cup First Round

DISSTON IN GAME TODAY

One of the most important soccer matches down on today's schedule is the replay match in the first round of the American Cup, between J. and J. Dobson and the Merchant Shipbuilding Corporation eleven. These teams met last Sunday at Harriman, and, after ninety minutes of play, both teams were in a deadlock of 1 goal each. The referee ordered the thirty minutes of extra time, and, after again trying to break the tie, the game was called.

The replay was ordered by the United States Football Association, and the game will be staged at the Northeast High School Field, at Twenty-ninth and Cambria streets. The Dobson eleven is a new team on the field this year, and has on its roster some of the best talent in this section.

In addition to the above game, the Industrial League, the Allied League, the Cricketers and the Germantown Boys' Club have a strenuous schedule.

Another National League match between Disston A. A., from the big sawworks, and the strong Morse Dry-dock team, from Brooklyn, N. Y., will be played on the Disston home grounds, at State road and Unruh streets, this afternoon.

Minnesota Enters Best Team

Minneapolis, Oct. 25.—The University of Minnesota, determined to remain a contender for the Western Conference championship, put its strongest eleven into the game today against Iowa.

Coach Jones believed that his fast team with open play would be able to conquer the Gophers, who were defeated last year by Iowa.

Street Run at Chester

Everything is in readiness for the big street run to be held today under the auspices of the Community Service for Chester and vicinity. Some very classy runners will participate in the run, and a number of widely-known officials will also take part.

Illinois Meets Wisconsin

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 25.—Illinois and Wisconsin teams appeared so evenly matched that few would hazard a guess as to which eleven would be put out of the running for the "Big Ten" conference championship as a result of today's game.

Navy Expects Real Test

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 25.—Navy expects its first real test of the football season today when it meets Bucknell. Coach Dobie intends to send in the same men who will start the game with Army next month.
