

MANY TO ATTEND LEGION CONVENTION

Philadelphia Will Send Thirty-three Delegates to Minneapolis on November 10

BONUS TO BE DISCUSSED

Philadelphia will send thirty-three delegates to the national convention of the American Legion to be held in Minneapolis November 10, 11 and 12. The delegates will travel to the western city in a special train, leaving here November 8.

In view of the great importance of this convention interest has been intense and delegates will go from here and from all parts of the state with propositions to be placed before the body for its consideration.

The three principal questions over which the service men and women are concerned relate to the location of the national policy of the legion as it affects method of obtaining remedial legislation and the enactment of beneficial laws and the recommendations as to the suppression of bolshevism in the United States.

Bonus Favored Here

While the Pennsylvania state convention has placed itself on record through the representatives at the convention early in October, as being opposed to requests for bonuses as such, it is certain that many of the national delegates from Philadelphia and from Pennsylvania will vote in favor of the bonus. A number of posts in Philadelphia have expressed themselves by resolution as favorable to the bonus and this frame of mind is bound to assert itself in Minneapolis.

In order that the principle of home rule might prevail in the selection of delegates to the national convention the men were chosen from the congressional districts and by the vote of the delegates in the state convention from such districts. An effort was made at Harrisburg to distribute the delegates as fairly as possible among the various posts, but it was manifestly impossible to give each of the seventy-five posts representation, with only thirty delegates to be elected from the six congressional districts.

Philadelphia received three delegates-at-large in addition to the thirty district delegates—W. W. Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania Railroad post; A. Nevin Detrick, organizer of the Germantown Post No. 32 and George Wentworth Carr, the chairman of the county committee, who will lead the local delegates.

Philadelphia's Delegates

The representatives of the six congressional districts are as follows: First district—Frank W. Melvin, Post No. 70; William L. Jenkins, Post No. 90; A. R. Freelon, Post No. 97; M. A. Thornhill, (All-Navy), Post No. 137, and W. E. West, Post No. 137. Second district—H. R. Tully, Post No. 174; Carl Sachs, Post No. 188; R. E. Hogan, Post No. 186; E. H. Walberg, Post No. 146, and W. H. Creamer, Jr., Post No. 135. Third district—J. W. Study (Pennsylvania Railroad), Post No. 204; Robert L. Deig, Post No. 185; William L. Carr, Post No. 275; Robert A. Nelson, Post No. 181, and James B. Anderson, Jr., Post No. 281. Fourth district—Michael Saxe, Post No. 217; Fred B. Gretnacher, Post No. 153; Russell C. Cooney, Post No. 204; Harris W. Watkins, Post No. 259, and Benjamin Goldner, Post No. 27. Fifth district—J. J. Leonard, Post No. 98; Raymond Kramer, Post No. 178; Richard Hopkins, Post No. 205; Lester Waas, Post No. 205, and John Adams, Post No. 98. Sixth district—Thomas F. Meehan, Post No. 83; Vincent A. Carroll, Jr., Post No. 270; Lucien A. Hauslein, Post No. 41; Isidor J. Bayson, Post No. 7, and Millard D. Brown, Post No. 3.

Many of the posts are experiencing difficulty in financing their delegates to the national convention. The youth of the legion argues against large sums in the post treasury, and the trip will cost between $150 and $250, depending upon the taste of the delegate. In a congressional district, the second, a conference of all posts has been held, and it has been proposed to levy a per capita tax on the membership of the posts included in the district. Each man will be allowed $125 for the trip. A number of the delegates have volunteered to pay their own expenses, but this is considered something of an imposition on the person who goes to Minneapolis to represent the legion from his district.

SOLDIERS' MOTHERS UNITE

Form Branch Here of War Mothers of America

Mothers of soldiers who served in the great war have formed the Philadelphia branch of the War Mothers of America. It was explained today that the organization will devote its attention to problems affecting soldiers and the families of soldiers, such as the finding of business opportunities for returned service men and the settlement of the question of the permanent burial place of the soldiers who died abroad.

FIRE DAMAGES PAINT WORKS

Fireman Fighting Blaze is Severely Cut by Glass

One fireman was injured and a building of the Harrison Paint Works, Thirty-fifth street and Gray's Ferry road was badly damaged last night by fire, which for a time, threatened adjoining plants of the establishment.

The injured fireman is John Kraut, of Engine Company No. 1. He was severely cut by falling glass. The blaze caused a loss of several thousand dollars.

Cordelaine Tricolette Paulette Georgette Satin

Taffeta Charmeuse Serge Jersey Velveteen

The Silk Dresses
are in taupe, navy, black, brown and king's blue in more than a dozen styles, suitable for afternoon wearing. Of particular interest are the charmeuse dresses which show bold, embroidered designs done in self or contrasting colors on the skirts and overskirts. Others are trimmed with cascade banding and the Georgette dresses are beaded.

The Various Wool Jersey Cloths
—Cordelaine, Paulette and so forth—form a most delightful group, totally different from the styles you are used to seeing. They are in brown, navy, reindeer, Copenhagen, mahogany, black and Pekin, elaborately braided or embroidered and often combined with tricolette, which is used in panels, bands and for the linings of smart little pockets. The sleeves are a study in themselves.

The Velveteen Dresses
also show simple lines, with perhaps a touch of lace at the neck, and are in navy, Burgundy and green.

The Serge Dresses
are of a very fine quality of navy blue wool serge, cut on straight lines and braided-embroidered from hem to waistline. A perfect dress of the better type for slender young women.
