

WILD CAR DASHES INTO SHOP; 4 HURT

Automobile Plunges Through Window as Driver Swerves to Spare Motorcycle

STEERING GEAR BREAKS

Four persons were injured and several others endangered when an automobile, swerving to avoid colliding with a motorcycle at Broad and Christian streets, last night ran up on the sidewalk into the front of a drug store, Gustav Wilder, 4042 Kershaw street, driver of the machine, was going south on Broad street, when a motorcycle came rapidly west on Christian street. Wilder swerved sharply, the automobile and the motorcycle barely touching. Then, he says, his steering gear broke from the sudden strain. The heavy car shot up on the sidewalk, knocking down several persons and plunging through the plate glass store front.

Samuel Tall, twenty-five years old, 1822 North Taylor street, severely injured, was taken to the Methodist Hospital. He has internal injuries and probably a fractured skull.

Arthur J. Smith, 232 South Goucher street, Mrs. Julia Samuels, fifty-five years old, a negro, 2135 Christian street, and William Carver, thirty-two years old, a negro, 2233 North Woodstock street, of the motorcycle, were slightly injured.

Several persons in the drug store narrowly escaped being struck by flying glass. The front of the heavy machine was entirely in the building before it stopped. Wilder was arrested.

Five men were seriously hurt late yesterday when a University Hospital ambulance crashed into a touring car coming west on the Parkway near Twelfth street.

Those in the touring car, who were treated at the Hahnemann Hospital, were:

John O'Neil, 31 Gowen avenue, Germantown; fracture of the neck and brain contusions.

Herbert T. Hare, twenty-six years old, of 438 North Thirteenth street, shock.

W. Wellington Wood, 1435 Norris street, lecturer; severe cuts of the scalp.

Those in the ambulance were:

Bryon Myers, driver, twenty-two years old, of 2233 North Woodstock street, concussion of brain.

Dr. Edward Barrett, shock, cuts and bruises.

The driver of the touring car, William B. Linn, twenty-two years old, of 438 North Thirteenth street, was thrown out of the car, but not hurt. He will have a hearing at the Eleventh and Winter streets station today.

CHILD COLLAPSES ON LONG HIKE HOME

Picked Up Along Railroad Tracks at Buck Mountain After Running Away

POLICE SEEK PARENTS HERE

Mahanoy City authorities and the police here are trying to locate the parents of ten-year-old Helen Farrell, of this city, who collapsed fifteen miles from Ashland, while attempting to walk from that town to her home in this city.

The girl was found along the railroad at Buck mountain and taken in charge by railroad officials.

She told them she had been visiting relatives in Ashland, and becoming homesick and longing for her parents, decided to go home. Having no money, and with little idea of the distance from Ashland to Philadelphia, she started to walk along the railroad.

Reaching Buck mountain she was unable to walk farther. Tired and faint from hunger she collapsed along the tracks.

The little girl refused to tell the railroad policemen the names of her parents or of the relatives in Ashland whom she said she was visiting. She was taken to Mahanoy City, where she still refused to give her Philadelphia address.

Deaths of a Day

JAMES CRAIG

Church Leader of Northeast Was Ill Three Years

James Craig, for many years a church and Sunday school leader, and widely known in the northeastern part of the city, died yesterday at his home, 3044 East Thompson street. He was sixty-nine years old.

Mr. Craig was senior elder of the Mount Richmond Presbyterian Church. He became ill three years ago while marching with a parade of Bible classes on Broad street. He suffered a relapse ten days ago.

At his bedside when he died were his wife and six children—Mrs. Elizabeth C. Manely, William B. Craig, David Craig, John Craig, Mary L. Craig and Walter A. Craig.

Miss Mary Craig is a Presbyterian missionary to China. She returned home only a few weeks ago, after a six years' stay in the Orient. Walter A. Craig, a former Penn. football player, served overseas as a lieutenant in the 335th Field Artillery.

The funeral will be held Friday.

Philip Herwig

Philip Herwig, well known at one time as a singer, died Monday night at his home, 245 East Thompson street, of illness due to age. He was eighty-nine years old.

Mr. Herwig was born in Germany and came to this country when he was fourteen years old. A cabinetmaker by trade, and until fifteen years ago, when he retired, proprietor of a successful business, he was known throughout the city for his singing ability. He sang in grand opera here with Adeline Patti and when "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was first produced in this city sang during the performances.

He was a charter member of the Harmony Singing Society, a member of the Junger Maennerchor, the Philadelphia Rido Club and Herman Lodge, No. 125, F. and A. M.

Mr. Herwig is survived by two sons, Louis and William, and four daughters, Mrs. Mathilda Carr, and Misses Caroline, Elizabeth and Anna Herwig. His funeral will be held from his late residence at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Services will be conducted by the Rev. M. E. Lewis, of the Fifth Street Methodist Episcopal Church. Interment will be in Chelton Hills Cemetery.

Harry Coffey Roak

Harry Coffey Roak, forty-eight, secretary of the Pittsburgh Dispatch and manager of the Dispatch Philadelphia branch advertising office in the Real Estate Trust Building, died shortly before 8 o'clock yesterday morning at his home, 5041 Walnut street. He had been ill for nearly a year, but his condition did not become critical until the night before his death.

He resided in Philadelphia for the last twelve years and was the son of Alexander W. Roak, one of the founders of the Pittsburgh Dispatch. He is survived by his wife, brother Colonel Charles Alexander Roak, president and editor of the Pittsburgh Dispatch, and one sister, Mrs. Helen Roak Carroll.

The funeral will be held from the residence of his wife, 411 Bayard street, Shadyside, Pittsburgh.

Alfred J. Niles

Alfred J. Niles, fifty-two years old, an assistant city solicitor, died yesterday morning at his apartment, 2036 Chestnut street, from heart trouble.

He was the son of the late Jerome B. Niles, auditor general of Pennsylvania in 1883, and one of the foremost citizens of the state. His mother was a member of the well-known Toles family, prominent in northern Pennsylvania.

Aged Jersey Man Hit by Auto Here

William P. Madara, seventy-five years old, of Pittman, N. J., was struck by an automobile at Second and Market streets yesterday and severely injured. He was taken to the Jefferson Hospital. Samuel Baral, of North Union street, driver of the machine, was held in $500 bail to await the result of the aged man's injuries.

RUNAWAY CHILDREN FOUND

Charles W. Sharon, fourteen years old, and his sister, Elinor, ten, who ran away three weeks ago from the home of their aunt, at 339 North Felton street, were found at the farmhouse of Walter Hooper, near Valley View, Delaware county.

BOY TRIES TO BE FARMER TO CARE FOR TINY SISTER

Youngster of Fourteen and Girl of Eight, Who Flew Home Here, Found on Farm Near Media—Are Brought to City

To be a farmer and take care of his little eight-year-old sister—such is the ambition of fourteen-year-old Charles Sharon, of 339 North Felton street. The boy today said so in explaining why he and his ten-year-old sister Elinor, ran away from home on October 7.

For three weeks nothing was known of their whereabouts until William Hooper, a Media farmer, who took them and later learned, through a newspaper, that the children had run away from home. They live at the Felton street address with Mrs. Rose Sharon, an aunt.

"I don't like school," said Charles, in giving reasons why he ran away. "One day I played hockey and the teacher scolded me. I came home and packed my clothes in a suitcase. My sister asked me where I was going and I told her I was going away. She said she would go with me and we started off."

The boy said he and his sister had no definite idea where they were going. They kept walking until they reached Media. They told a man who questioned them that their aunt had been evicted from her home and died as a result of the experience. The tale brought immediate sympathy and the man informed Hooper, who took the children into his home. He sent the girl to school in Media and let the boy do light duties about the farm.

On seeing in a newspaper that two children answering the description of his charges were missing from home, Hooper got in touch with the police at City Hall. District Detective Wooster went to Media and brought the children home.

Mrs. Sharon took the boy and his sister into her home when their mother died two years ago. Since then she has cared for them, although she is obliged to work during the day. The boy and girl admitted that they were well treated at home.

TWO SEEKING JUDGESHIP

William B. Linn Joins J. H. Taulane in Campaign for Place

Candidates of two well-known attorneys, Joseph H. Taulane, assistant district attorney, and William B. Linn, for appointment to fill the vacancy in the Superior Court caused by the death of Judge J. Henry Williams, are being pushed by friends of each.

Mr. Linn's candidacy was announced today. His cause is furthered by his many friends among lawyers and judges, with whom he has a reputation as an attorney. Mr. Linn, who is a member of the Art Club, was mentioned for the appointment in Common Pleas Court, now filled by Judge McCullen.

It is believed that Governor Sprunt will fill the Superior Court vacancy early next month, when he returns from Massachusetts, where he is speaking in behalf of the Republican party's campaign.

TRIES 4 TIMES TO END LIFE

Police Station Turnkey Frustrated Vagrant's Attempt at Suicide

Four attempts at suicide by Joseph Krupp, of Brooklyn, N. Y., were frustrated at the Germantown police station this morning through the watchfulness of Turnkey John Rust.

Depressed because he was arrested for vagrancy, Krupp, according to the police, first tried to end his life by tying a belt around his neck and fastening one end of it to a bar in his cell. He was discovered as he was about to jump from a bench with the belt around his neck. Later he tried to end his life by using a pocket knife in the same way. He then tried his trousers and finally his shirt, but each time the turnkey stopped the act. Rust finally sat by Krupp's cell until he was arraigned before Magistrate Pennoch. The prisoner was sent to the House of Correction for three months.

'SKYSCRAPERS' DOOM SEEN

Zoning Expert Says That Building Height Will Be Limited

Modern skyscrapers are doomed under the zoning system, according to Leroy A. Worrell, a Philadelphia architect, who talked to the City and County Club last night on "Zoning—The Effective Remedy for Misuse of Real Property."

Mr. Worrell said most modern skyscrapers are too high. The zoning system, he explained, would limit their height, which in this city would probably be three times the width of the street upon which they faced. He also said the zoning system would prevent the encroachment of business building in purely residential districts.

ACCUSE MAIDS OF THEFT

Two Domestic Charged With Working Out Robbery Plot

Two housemaids, accused of working out a plot to rob West Philadelphia homes, were held in $1500 bail today by Magistrate Harris for further examination. They are Beulah Rubins, who is said to have also used the name of Marie Taylor, and Mattie Waters, who is accused of having used the alias of Ruth Johnson.

The two women, who are negroes, were arrested at Broad and Bainbridge streets last night by Detectives Kennedy and Collins, who assert that the women had hidden in the rooms about $2000 worth of jewelry and clothing which had been stolen from residences in West Philadelphia.

OUTST ACCUSED POLICEMAN

Upper Darby Commissioners Remove Man Under Terwilliger Charges

"Jack" Fleming, Upper Darby policeman, who attempted to arrest Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Terwilliger, Drexel Hill, on the night of Friday, October 17, was last night given a hearing by the township commissioners and dismissed from the police force.

Mr. Terwilliger testified that he was driving his automobile when a machine without lights, driven by Fleming, almost collided with him. He got out of his car and took Fleming's license number and forced him to drive to his wife's to the police station.

FUN OPENS TODAY FOR HALLOWEEN

Features of Pre-War Days to Be Resumed in Week-Long Celebration

PARTIES AT PLAYGROUNDS

Halloween is to be a real old-fashioned Halloween in Philadelphia, and there will be hundreds of fetes and feasts beginning today and continuing for a week.

All the Halloween features which delighted the children in the days before the war will be revived, including "bobbing" for apples. And, of course, there will be pumpkin Jack-o'-lanterns and masquerade costumes.

Playground Program

Elaborate Halloween programs have been prepared at the playground centers.

Children of Shot Tower Center, Front and Carpenter streets, held a party this afternoon, and tonight their parents will celebrate. Tomorrow afternoon the Busy Bees celebrate.

On the Stenton ground, Sixteenth street and Wyoming, a dance-hall will be improvised out of the temporary shelter building. The children have made many Jack-o'-lanterns and other decorations out of material furnished by the board; a phonograph will lead in the Virginia reel and there will be all kinds of seasonal games.

All the clubs and classes of Starr Garden Center, Seventh and Lombard streets, will unite in a party Saturday evening, with prizes awarded for the best masquerade costumes and original stunts. Games of all kinds will be played. The Blue Birds, Brownie Scouts and Junior Boys' Clubs will have parties Friday evening.

Ghosts Will Dance

A ghost dance about a wife's condition will be given at the Waterview Annex, Haines street, Germantown, on Friday evening. Adults will hold a neighborhood dance. The children's party will take place at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. At the center proper the Girl Scouts of Germantown will conduct a masquerade and dance this evening, and on Friday evening the Unions Club will have a similar function. On Friday afternoon the D. D. Club will entertain.

The program at Athletic Center, Twenty-sixth and Jefferson streets, is Saturday evening. Social dancing classes, fancy costume dance, tonight and tomorrow, in auditorium, with the girls' gym class in the gymnasium on Friday evening in a fancy dress party.

The married couples patronizing Happy Hollow Center, Wayne avenue, opposite Logan street, will hold their masquerade this evening. On Saturday afternoon the children will have a party and on Saturday night the adults will dance in costume.

Funfield to Celebrate

Not having a building, Funfield Center, Twenty-second street and Sedgelye avenue, will hold its Halloween celebration at Athletic Center, Tuesday, November 4.

Old-fashioned games of all kinds will be played at Sherwood Center, Fifty-sixth and Christian streets, on Friday afternoon by the children and in the evening by the adults.

Wrightsville Center, Twenty-eighth street and Passyunk avenue, will give a play, "The Moonlight Dance," Friday evening.

The celebration at McCosh Center, Seventeenth and Fitzwater streets, will take place today with the telling of Halloween stories, the parading in the afternoon, a dance of witches and fairies and a frolic of clowns in the early evening, followed by a procession of all the organizations about the playground by the adults.

Out in Tacony, at Disston Center, younger boys and girls will frolic in costume this evening. Kindergarten children have been told that on Friday morning they may attend "all dressed up funn." Many novelties are planned for the Girl Scouts for a celebration on Saturday afternoon.

WANTED FOR CHECK FRAUD

Man Arrested in Reading to Be Brought to This City

Detectives were sent to Reading today to bring back Albert Rosh, twenty-one years old, charged with embezzlement. Rosh, it is said, obtained possession of a check payable to Philadelphia hospital and cashed it, keeping the money.

He went from Philadelphia to Reading, where Detective Hater, of the Reading force, arrested him at Seventh and South streets.

A dispatch from Reading today says Rosh virtually admitted his guilt after he was arrested.

SUGAR FAMINE RELIEF SEEN

State Administrator Says Situation Will Now Improve

As the sugar shortage is at its height, and manufacturing chemists and druggists complain that it will seriously interfere with the manufacture of drugs which are in short supply, relief is promised.

John A. McCarthy, state sugar administrator, says negotiations are being continued to bring in surplus beet sugar, and, since the ending of the teamsters' strike makes deliveries possible, no one will be forced to go without sugar within a few days. The steamship Lake Agassiz arrived here yesterday with 22,500 bags of raw sugar for the Franklin Sugar Company. This, it is said, will materially alleviate the shortage.

Dance to Aid War Hero Memorial

To raise funds for the erection of a bronze memorial tablet to twenty-seven students of Temple University, who lost their lives in the war, a Halloween barn dance will be held Saturday night in the gymnasium of Temple University. The dance is being arranged by the Alumni Association and School of Commerce of Temple University.

TO Name Strike Arbitrators

Upon his return from Chicago in a few days Ernest T. Hrig, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will name three arbitrators for the Chamber of Commerce, to help settle the teamsters' strike. The arbitrators will meet with three members of the Team Owners' Association and three members of Local 670, International Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers.

CITY TOPS ROOSEVELT LIST

Memorial Fund Response is Most General in Philadelphia

Philadelphia is leading the country in the preparation of its citizens who have contributed to the Roosevelt memorial campaign. That is the statement of William Dempsey Lewis, director here of the campaign being conducted by the Roosevelt Memorial Association.

Hundreds of contributions continue to be received through the mails at the office of the association for the memorial fund. Yesterday $3000.75 was received, yesterday in answer to a letter from George Wharton Pepper. A number of other contributors have signified their intention to help.

DELAY ON MAIN LINE

Passengers Held Up Half Hour by Accident to Freight Train

Passengers along the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad were delayed half an hour this morning in reaching Philadelphia as the result of a slight accident to a freight train at Fifty-second street station.

On reaching that point shortly before 8 o'clock, the freight train, which was inbound, suddenly parted when one of the couplings pulled out. All trains following were immediately signaled, and to avoid congestion many were compelled to start nearly half an hour after schedule time. After considerable shifting about the freight train was moved to a nearby yard.

FALSE CRY HERE OF SALT SHORTAGE

Sudden Demand, Based on Rumors, Wipes Out Some Retail Stocks

AMPLE SUPPLIES IN CITY

The public is warned not to hoard salt. Baseless rumors of an impending shortage have caused a number of grocery stores trouble in keeping up their stock. Today some of them have no salt on hand.

Greeners say that if the public persists in hoarding, a real shortage will occur, owing to inability to order adequate stocks in time to assure their delivery before the present supply runs out.

Speaking of the unusual demand for salt in various sections of the city, an official of one of the leading chain store companies said:

"There is no need for people to be afraid of a salt shortage. All salt works are operating on full time, and are producing more than enough to supply the country's demands, which are not beyond normal."

"So far as Philadelphia is concerned, there is an ample supply on hand providing people refuse to hoard and silly rumors of a shortage and do not start to hoard it."

"Our own warehouses are overstocked with it at this time and we have fifteen cars, all extra capacity, in transit, carrying salt to this city. Other concerns have plenty for their needs, and have no difficulty in procuring enough to meet all demands. The only thing we fear is hoarding, the one thing which will make a shortage inevitable."
