

COMMUNITY BODY TO ASSIST LEGION

Would Establish Neighborhood Centers Where War Veterans Could Gather

BOOST FOR SERVICE MEN

Community Service, the new outgrowth of the War Camp Community Service, has offered its assistance to the American Legion in Philadelphia in its work of organization.

It is the purpose of the Community Service to establish neighborhood centers. The executive committee, under the direction of Fred A. Moore, will cooperate with the legion and bring to the world-war veterans whatever facilities are developed throughout the city.

The national organizations of the Community Service and of the legion have been urging that these two groups in the various cities and towns should work hand in hand. It has been this spirit, fostered by the national leaders, that has resulted in the movement here to cement the relationship of these two bodies.

The Community Service has requested that a committee be designated by the county chairman of the legion in Philadelphia for the purpose of suggesting plans for carrying out a program of mutual helpfulness.

Within the week such a committee will be named. The Community Service has requested that the names of the delegates to the national convention be provided, so that the representatives at Minneapolis from this city may have the benefit of the work of the service organization in the convention city.

It is anticipated that there will be presented at the convention suggestions as to how the legion can be promoted most effectively in the country. In this connection the assistance to be rendered by the Community Service may receive consideration.

"We want to boost in the community for men in the service," is the way Director Moore described the idea of the Community Service yesterday. In the majority of wards the legion men are without adequate meeting places. The program of Community Service would provide neighborhood centers which might be utilized as meeting halls for the legion until it could provide its own quarters.

As to meeting places, some of the posts of the legion have started plans for the erection of homes, others have leased homes or halls and some have obtained the consent of the G. A. R. to hold their meetings in the G. A. R. halls.

An effort is being made by the Community Service to arrange a fitting observance of November 11, Armistice Day. In the event that arrangements can be perfected that will not necessitate a general turnout of legion members, but which may be participated in by those who can make the occasion fit in with their duties, the legion will cooperate. The failure to designate the date as a holiday has made it more difficult to plan for a great celebration because the bulk of the service men are employed during the day and are not available.

A number of individual posts will observe the day fittingly. Although only two weeks remain, a general demonstration may be organized in which the legion would participate in so far as possible.

Women Ask for Charter
Application for a charter by Philadelphia's new American Legion post, composed of nurses, has been made and will be granted, it is announced.

Six hospitals are represented in the membership of the post, as taken from the names on its charter application. They are the Franklin, Episcopal, Pennsylvania, Methodist, Friends and Stetson. Eventually virtually all other hospitals in the city will be represented on its roster, as all nurses in the city who enlisted during the war are eligible.

Officers of the post are: Post commander, Miss Anna C. Garrett; vice commander, Miss Elaine L. Miller; post adjutant, Miss Caroline K. Woltemate, and treasurer, Miss Matilda MacCracken.

After an animated discussion of a resolution adopted by the Williamsport Post, Post 204, composed of Pennsylvania Railroad employees, last night went on record as favoring compulsory military training for self-supporting men. Delegates of this post to the national convention were instructed to do all in their power to obtain the adoption of this policy.

Post 270, composed of veterans who live in the Thirty-fourth ward, will endeavor to raise funds to build a home for the organization. The campaign for funds will be launched at a smoker and entertainment tonight in Barrack Hall, 251 South Sixtieth street.

The appeal for funds will be made by Vincent A. Carroll, post commander, who will outline the project. An option for a suitable site has been obtained and it is hoped to raise $20,000 by voluntary subscriptions by January 1.

At tonight's meeting of Post No. 270 a membership campaign will also be begun.

CLOSE WAR CAMP BOOTH

Community Service Ends Information Work in Broad Street Station

The War Camp Community Service booth in the trainshed of the Broad Street Station was closed last night after having served for a year and a half as an information bureau for thousands of service men.

"More than 10,000 people were attracted by the booth in the depot shed during the last eighteen months," Mrs. Mallon said today. "We helped them out of their troubles, whether they were looking for missing relatives or train tickets, or seeking a place to eat or sleep. We had from 200 to 800 daily."

PAIR CROSS NATION TO MEET, BUT FAIL

Italian-American Doughboy Here From California to Greet Wife, Now on Way West

MISSED SEEING HER SHIP

Matta Gaspare, new-made American and doughboy war hero, rushed off today on another breathless coast-to-coast journey to get a glimpse of his wife from Italy, having failed to meet her here, after a journey from California. She had landed and was started westward when Matta, all smiles and gleaming black hair, appeared at the Gloucester immigrant station to claim her and give her a husbandly hug and kiss.

The young husband was so disappointed that he broke down and cried. His long trip from his home in Millbrae, Calif., had been in vain. Now his hope is to overtake the train bearing his wife westward. If he does not catch up with her, their meeting will be at Milbrae, from which town he started, and his trip from coast to coast and back again, a ride of more than 7000 miles, will have been useless.

Gaspare says he was married before he came to America several years ago. His wife remained in Italy while he worked to make a home for her here. He was naturalized and, when the United States entered the war, he enlisted, serving as a doughboy.

At the end of the war, he sent for his wife. Receiving word that she would arrive on the steamship Europa, he hurried to New York, and watched at the docks there for the vessel. Then he learned the Europa would dock in Philadelphia. He took the next train to this city. It was then too late. The vessel had arrived and Mrs. Gaspare had started to California.

Gaspare telegraphed to friends in Milbrae, asking them to watch for his wife and take care of her if he was unable to overtake her.

Note How the Essex

In Speed, Hill Climbing, Comfort and Reliability It Has Won 10,000 Owners

Proves Endurance

The 10,000 Essex cars already in service have been so distributed that every community now knows their distinctive performance.

Here for instance are people who have had wide motor car experience. They will tell you how they esteem the Essex. Its economy of operation and the fact that practically no attention is required to keep it in prime operation appeals to all.

As For Its Performance

If you haven't ridden in the Essex take the first opportunity to do so.

Come to us and we will give you the same kind of demonstration that has caused thousands to acknowledge Essex supremacy. Watch the way in which Essex cars perform on the road. If it is at a street crossing when traffic is signaled to go ahead, observe how quickly the Essex jumps to the lead. The only car that beats it is another Essex with a better driver.

If you are on a narrow country road where an Essex signals its intention to pass another car, you will see how easy with its acceleration it can jump to the lead.

A Pre-Holiday Word Concerning DIAMONDS

We deem it advisable to call the attention of our customers to the present situation in the Diamond market. Owing to the scarcity of skilled Diamond cutters and jewelry workmen, and the fact that only a negligible quantity has been secured from European sources of supply—prices promise to be higher than ever this season.

We advise customers anticipating the giving of Diamond Gifts to take earliest possible advantage of our present stocks, where retail prices are based on the prices we paid for them last spring—although present valuations are much higher. Many fine pieces in our stock cannot be replaced at any price—and certainly none can be replaced at the prices we now ask:

Brooches—$48.00 to $345.00
Scarf Pins—$25.00 to $170
