

TEST OF BLUE LAW SOUGHT BY LEAGUE

Promises Baseball Game Sunday and Challenges Sabbath Body to Make Arrest

ADVERTISES FOR PLAYERS

If at least eighteen persons respond to an advertisement of the Constitutional Liberty League and are willing to play baseball in Fairmount Park Sunday, the blue law of 1794 will be tested in the highest court. This is the promise of the league, which depends upon the willingness of the Philadelphia Sabbath Association to make an arrest.

The association is willing. Its attorney, Elton J. Buckley, announced that the arrest will be made and promises that it will be by an official of the league.

"We cannot ignore that sort of a challenge," said Mr. Buckley this morning. "The arrest will be made."

An official of the league, which is a new organization, admitted that a real game between two full teams is not a certainty. He doesn't know if enough persons will show up and volunteer to play a game of town ball, or One-Old-Cat, or a representative will throw a ball and catch it himself in order to get arrested.

That's all the league wants, an arrest, and a league official is going to do his best to be arrested.

The advertisement of the league, calling for players, reads: "Base ball players, amateurs and professionals, wanted, who will play without pay to test the Blue Laws in the highest court. Games to be played 2:30 p. m., Sunday, November 2, The Dairy, in Fairmount Park. Positive guarantee none will be arrested or in any way molested. Constitutional Liberty League."

The league is a new organization, chartered in Quarter Sessions Court about two weeks ago. Members claim that its roster contains 400 names, and that the organization will take the test case to the United States Supreme Court if necessary.

JAILED FOR STEALING COAL

Boy Detected in Theft From Cars at Falls of Schuylkill

James Forbes, seventeen years old, 2401 Lippincott street, was given a thirty days' jail sentence this morning by Magistrate Price at the Twenty-second street and Hunting Park avenue police station on a charge of stealing coal from the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad.

The arrest was made by P. and R. Detective Margraff, one of a flying squad of detectives detailed to watch for the increasing thefts of coal. Margraff caught young Forbes at Cobble Row crossing, Falls of the Schuylkill, where cars filled with coal are always standing. Forbes was found to have a ton of stolen coal in his cellar.

U. S. TO SELL ARMY CANDY

50,000 Pounds Is to Be Offered at Armory in Few Days

The sugar shortage will not affect one candy sale, which will be held soon. In a few days the government will place on sale at the Third Regiment Armory 50,000 pounds of candy, packed by candy makers of national reputation, for the army.

According to Major Charles E. Jones, surplus supply officer, there will be three varieties on sale—fig, caramel and chocolate. Most of it will be packed in pound tin boxes or glass jars, and, being hermetically sealed, is in the best condition. It will cost thirty cents a pound.

Government sales will be held today at the Third Regiment Armory and at Forty-fifth street and Lancaster avenue. Five kinds of canned goods will be sold at the latter place, and at the armory shoes, household articles and canned meats will be on sale.

Fine New Merchandise to Answer the Call of Jolly Old Winter in Wanamaker's Down Stairs Store

Mid-Winter Hats of Charm and Loveliness
$3.75 $5 $8

Hundreds of hats in all the deep and glowing Winter colorings have come with November. There are all types of hats for all occasions, but the gay little affairs with a glint of metallic-cloth or ribbon are especially delightful.

At $3.75

Black and navy blue velvet hats with upturned brims, with mushroom brims or with straight brims. Some have a touch of chenille embroidery, some a swirl of ostrich or a light facing.

At $5

Round little hats with softly pleated brims of velvet, with a spray of embroidery in dull colors in the front. These are in many colors.

(Market)

At $8

What a host of charming things of panne velvet, combined with gold or silver cloth and a puff of monkey fur! Or with black crowns and upturned brims faced with crinkled velvet in rose, French blue, bisque or taupe.

Fur Hats

are ready for the first snow flurry. They have brims of sealene, molene or nutria and tops of panne velvet, grosgrain ribbon or metal brocade. Particularly smart are the hats of nutria with brown tops and a glint of gold thread.

Note—New beavers for children have just arrived.

Tomorrow Is the Great Day for Men's Overcoats

What Palm Sunday and Easter are for Spring suits, this Saturday is for overcoats. It is the great day for men to choose the coats they will wear all Winter.

You Can't Come to a Better Place Than the Gallery Store for Men, Sir to settle the matter. Here is a splendid stock of fine coats in full and plenteous assortment. Ulsters for rough weather, conservative Chesterfields, and best of all, several hundred town ulsters or ulsterettes, which are the best-liked overcoats of the season.

Every Overcoat Is Pure Wool

—not a thread of cotton is in the material, but every coat is thick with good, warm wool. Patterns are better than ever, showing rich, dark mixtures, some with the plaid backs that have been so hard to get.

Young Men's Double-Breasted Ulsterettes

are here by the score. They have belted backs, convertible collars and slash pockets. And they fit closely across the shoulders and at the waist, the way young men like them to fit.

$30 to $41.50

NOTE: Men's soft hats are special at $3.
